6.a Update on Survey

The contact/resource survey is still open for members to complete.

Rachel Andrews would like to see: "What are human rights issues that are important to you?" (Ranking responses type of question) (issues such as gender identity issues, LGBTQ issues, race, ect., mental health issues, youth issues, senior issues)

Brett Tillander would like to see: A broad survey that is intentionally broad.

The group unanimously expressed interest in doing the survey after the election (around December-January) and this will hopefully coincide with the time the city gets its new city manager.

Perhaps the survey could go out in the December Insight issue (its mailed out to every home) in addition to Survey Monkey and the school district resident access. We can also do QR codes in the parking lots, reach out to the Royal Oak Chamber of Commerce.

Annie Urasky: The City Commission could mention the survey during one of their meetings on the livestream. And we can have QR codes to the survey in local stores' bulletin boards.

Brett Tillander: Can reach out to John Weitz to get data on attendees for Arts Beats & Eats. Also offering a chance to win a gift certificate to a downtown in exchange for filling out a survey makes it more enticing.

*Staff will resend internal survey and a reminder to fill it out to commission members.
