

Year in Review

Royal Oak Public Library continues to offer an impressive array of services despite major budget constraints. This year, ROPL's revenues were the lowest since 2005. In June 2012, as a cost saving measure, ROPL's hours were reduced from 60 to 56 open hours a week. The library continues to be open six days including four evenings each week.

ROPL also sought ways to enhance revenue. The semi-annual fundraising letters continue to give library supporters opportunities to donate to the library. Additionally, people made donations to the Memorial Book Collection. A huge thank you goes out to those donors! Over 600 donations totaling over $35,000 were made this year. The library also received a very generous bequest from the estate of Royal Oak elementary school teacher Jane Carpenter.

ROPL received substantial grants from the Ronald McDonald Charities of Southeastern Michigan and the National Ronald McDonald House Charities to purchase four early literacy computers for the youth area. A grant from Target funded a new book club for 5 - 8 year olds. The Friends of Royal Oak Public Library continue to provide essential support for library programs, materials, and equipment. Continued annual support for specific programs is received from the Royal Oak Kiwanis, OUR Credit Union, and the Royal Oak Neighborhood Schools. Royal Oak Public Library appreciates these partnerships!
