

In 1994, Eagle Scout candidate Matt Riggs lead a Boy Scout Troop 1627 project to clean out all of the debris from the wooded area of Quickstad Park that had collected over the years. In 1994, the wooded area had not been named Tenhave Woods. Included in this debris was bed springs, carpeting half buried, hundreds of pieces of broken concrete, and a lot more. It took a number of city trucks to haul away all of the refuse. Please check out below for some photos taken during the project.

Debris found in the Quickstad wooded area (now Tenhave)

Debris ready to be picked up by the city

Tenhave meadow in 1994

