Classes

School had begun in September
 And busily all the day long
 The wisest of upper Classmen
 Were directing the 9B's all wrong.
 In spite of their maps and their schedules,
 The Freshmen were wandering the hall
 Searching for lost gymnasiums
 And classrooms that weren't there at all.
 The teachers soon piled on the extras
 To keep them all busy at home.
 In Latin, they learned conjugations
 And what amo once meant in Rome.
 In the midst of all this there was Algebra
 Where X was no longer a letter —
 Where the minus sign didn't mean minus
 And the sooner they learned it the better.
 To top all this confusion were lunch hours —
 V-W-X-Y and Z.
 It would not have been so disturbing
 But the cafeteria got lost, you see.
 After days of lateness to classes,
 The Freshman group of the hour
 Learned what it means to be told
 "Today, you get a penalty hour."
 Then, the coaches, with infinite patience,
 Started the 9th grade teams.
 Their football, basketball and swimming
 Just filled all the coaches with dreams!
 Finally a few of their numbers
 Were dubbed "Knights" by their troop.
 They were seated at the Round Table,
 And the 9th grade became part of the group.

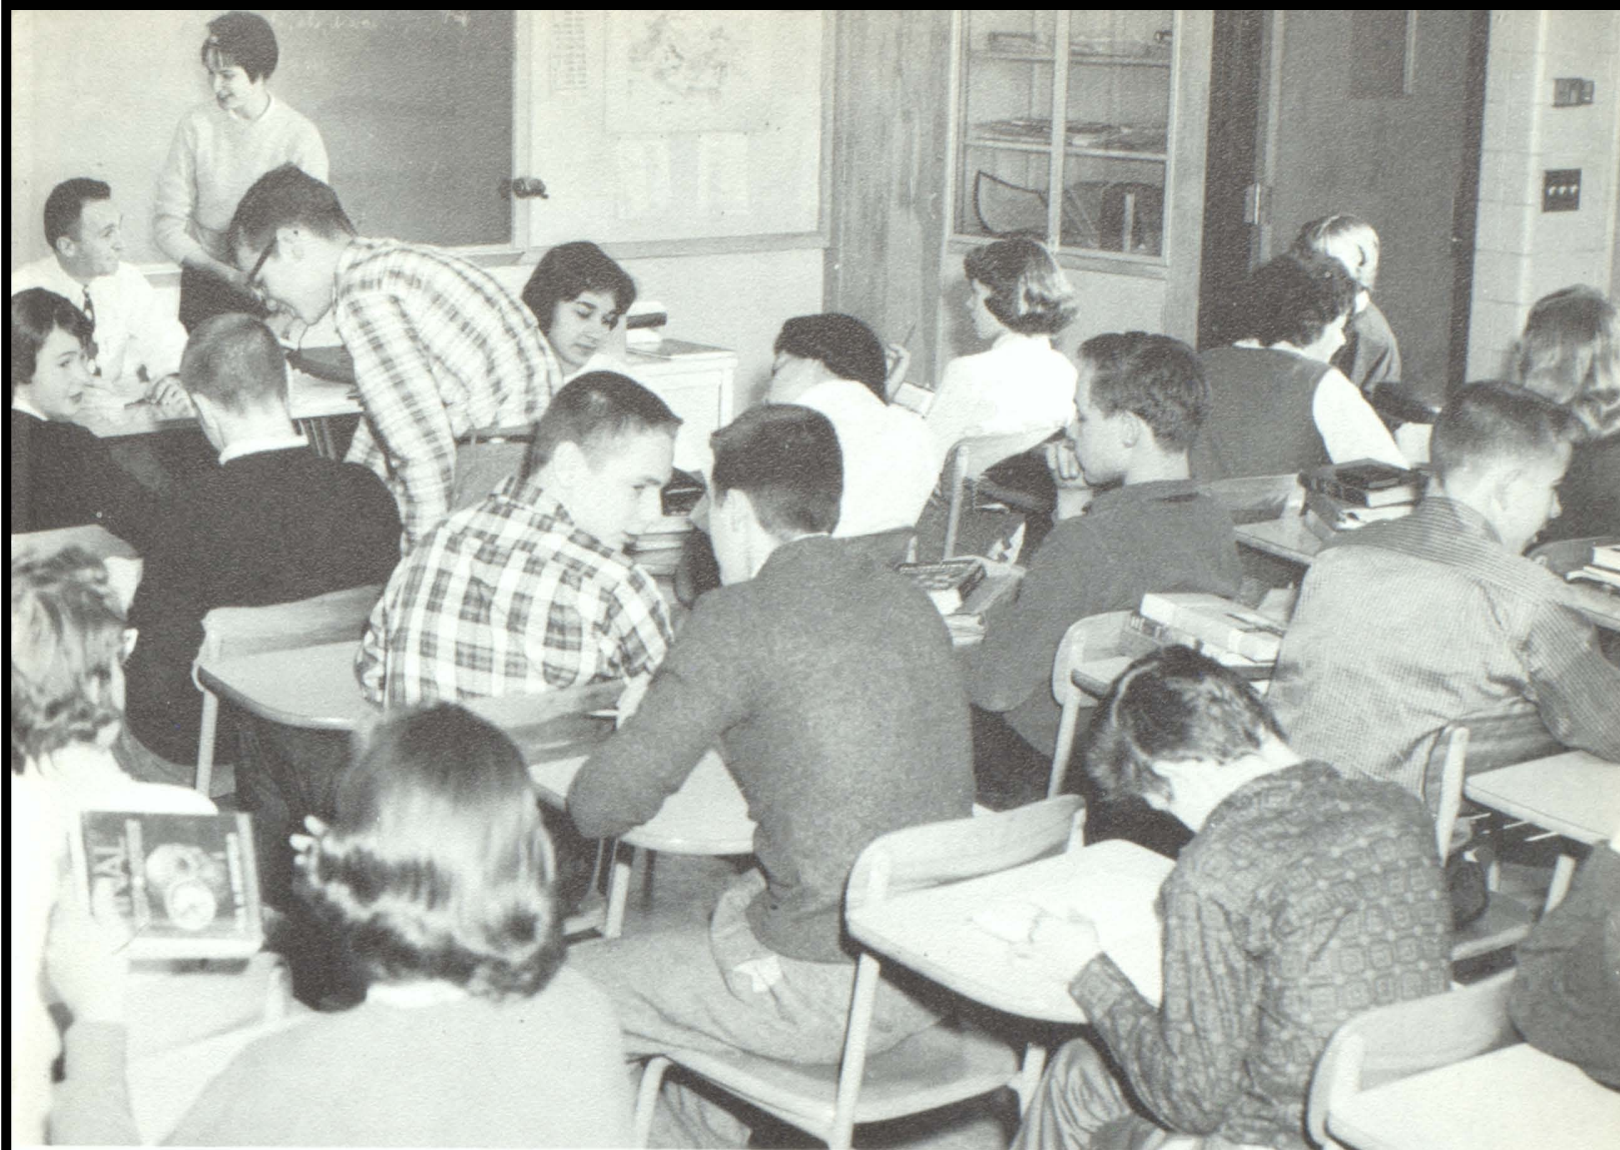

Freshmen Find Fees, Figures, Fractions,

OVERHEARD COMPLAINING to Joe Morgan was Sandra Clann: "After much deliberation and mathematical computation, it becomes apparent that my financial assets and gains have equaled my monetary output. That is to say — I'm broke."

"IF ALPENA County can do it, so can we," points out Chris Fales, as she proposes to her Civics I class that a resort area be constructed in this vicinity to combat the long drives to Alpena.

Fiction Foreign Languages, Friends, And

NEW TO Royal Oak Kimball High School, but not new to school work, is Freshman Barbara Potach. In her General Math Class division, multiplication, and other necessary math fundamentals are skillfully being mastered.

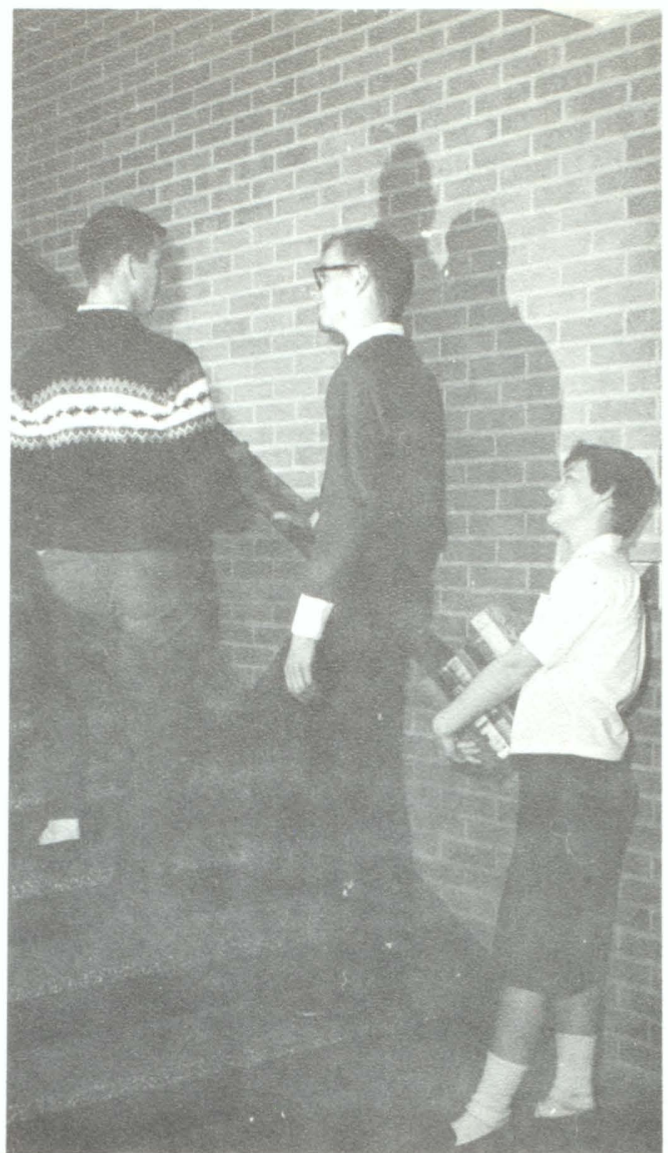

FRESHMAN ENGLISH classes seem to be going "progressive" this year. David Blakely, Sue Strom and Carol Czopor stick writing implements, due to the lack of anything better, into voodoo doll Bob Giles.

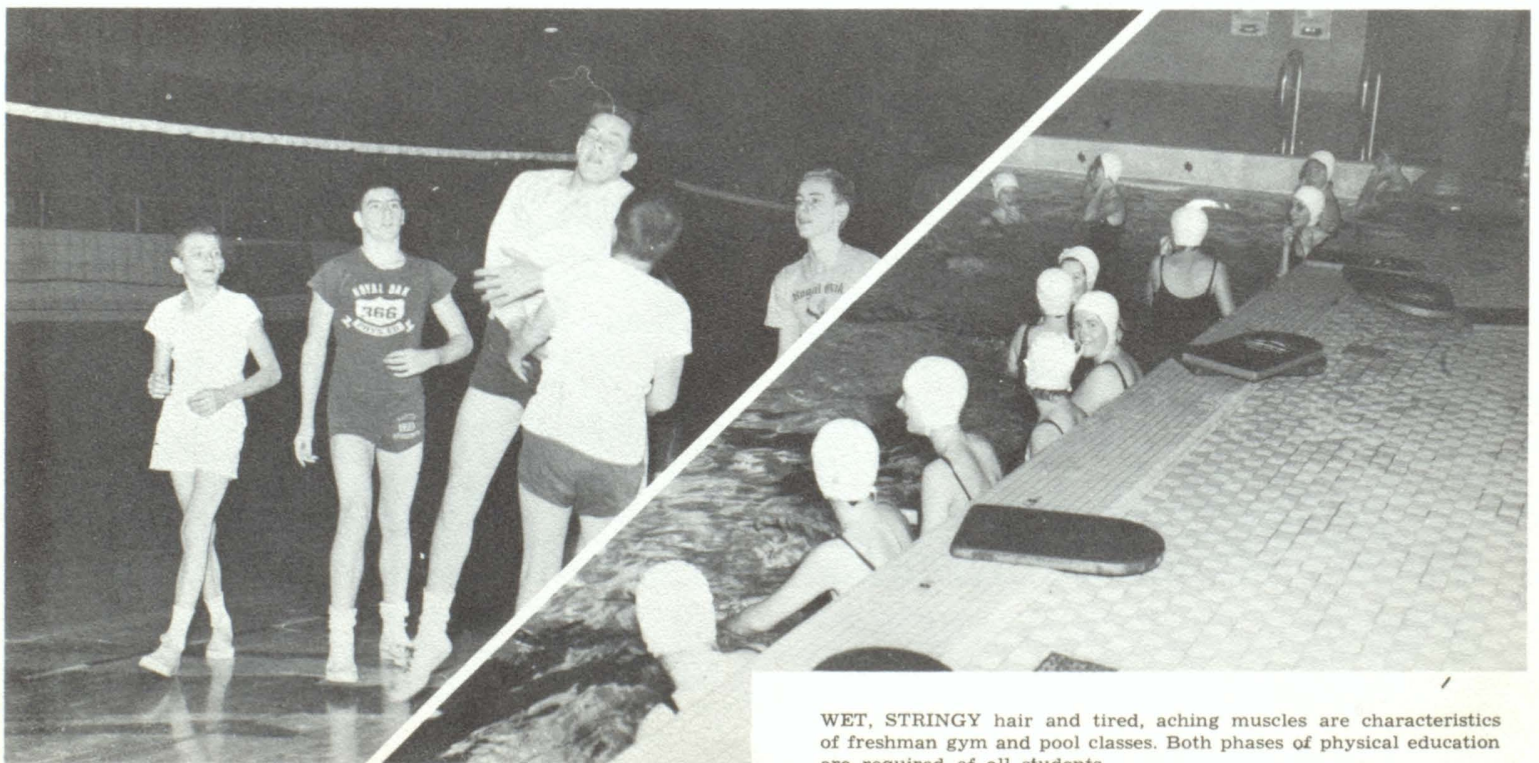

IS THIS a drill of the freshman Volunteer Fire Department? No, it is only a re-enactment of an old Christmas custom of Spain. Chuck Vopenni is about to hit the pinata with his Spanish book, and Gloria Gebell stands ready to catch the goodies.

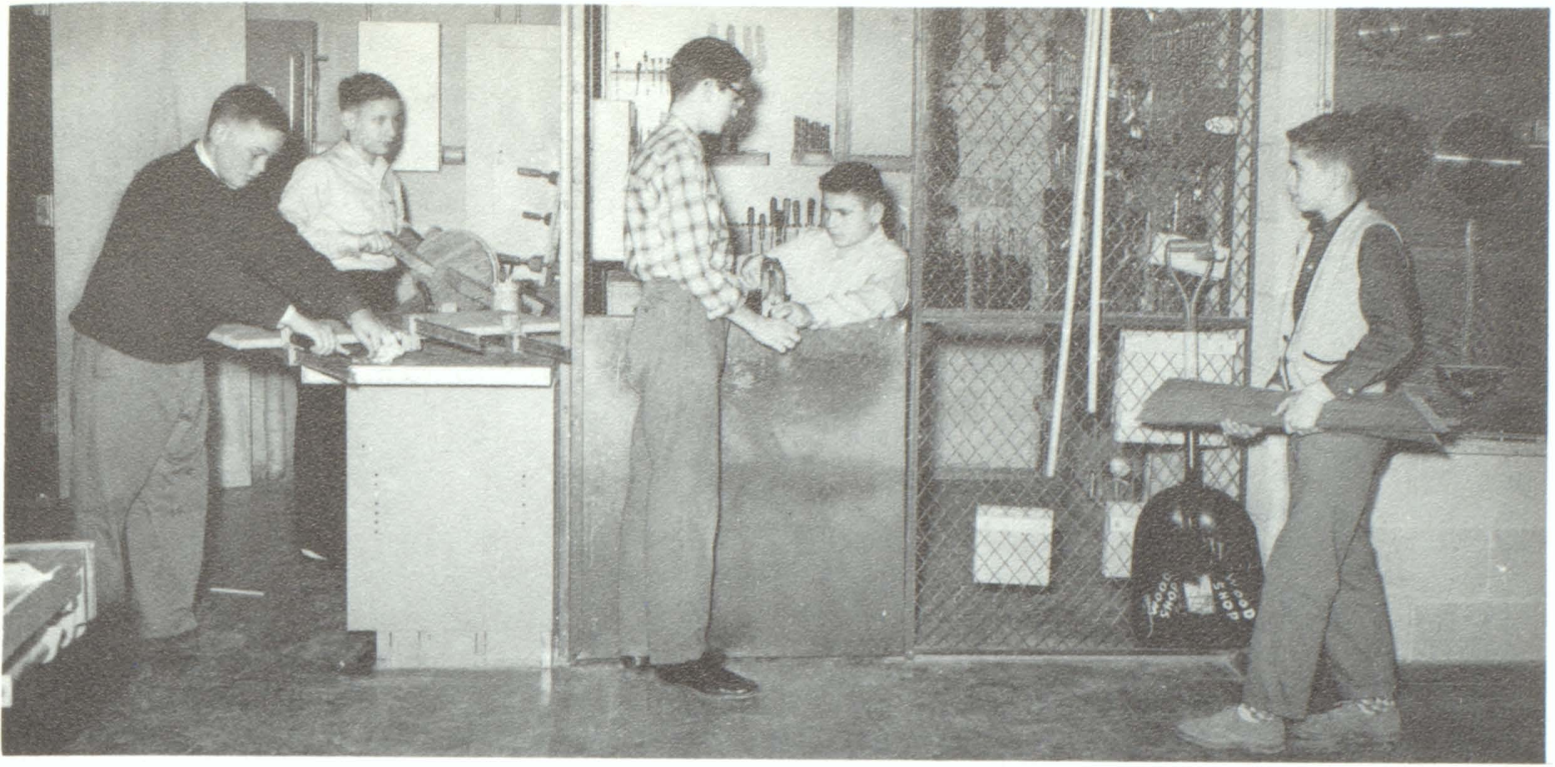

MAUREEN MACARTNEY looks up with respect at seniors Paul Anderson and Dave Brommel. Although upper classmen feel this kind of respect is due them, many freshmen disagree.

Fun In Their First Year

WET, STRINGY hair and tired, aching muscles are characteristics of freshman gym and pool classes. Both phases of physical education are required of all students.

WHILE TIM Last is patiently waiting for the sticky glue to dry, Bob Graham demonstrates an unusual apparatus which is the practical use for a portion of a sphere, (Senior Solid Geometry students might well recognize this). However, it is only one of the basic constructions built in Wood Shop I. Returning his supplies diligently is Raymond Parent as Vern Pressel receives a plane from Ron Hibberd with which he plans to give Mr. Zientek a Yul Brynner haircut.

PICTURED ABOVE is a scene which has become familiar to many Kimball students. Perhaps Mr. MacPhee is relieving freshman Jim Carne's mind of the fact that there is no third floor, contrary to senior instructions.

RAIDING THE refrigerator of the Kimball Homemaking room is Diane Haddad. There's some chicken a little to the left. Maureen O'Conner is reaching for the Spry, which she plans to spread on the ramp to make traffic move more easily.

At Kimball

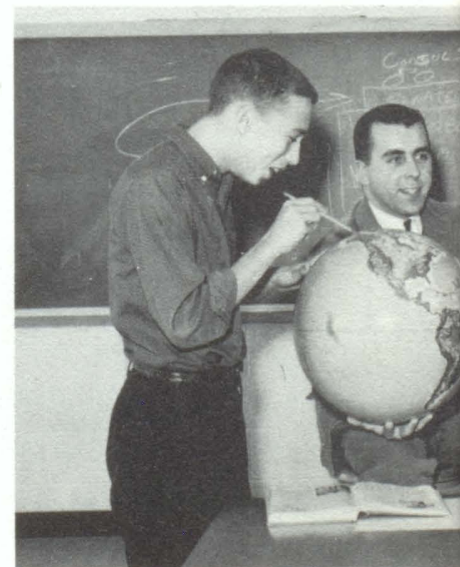

The 10th graders, tho' just growing-up Freshmen,
 Are really a group of distinction.
 They are what's left of the 9th grade
 Who were teased 'most to utter extinction.
 The boys in this class that is mentioned,
 Have grown up like mad since last June.
 They suddenly know that a girl is a girl
 And get strange effects from the moon.
 But their classrooms are just where they left them.
 The gym is still down the hall.
 This group, as a whole, has made up its mind
 That this year will be a ball,
 But the teachers still hand out the homework
 Which leads to a sad situation.
 The Sophs seem to think that this year
 Will continue on as vacation.
 Those who started in Latin
 Read that all roads lead to Rome.
 On goes the math to Geometry
 But the homework still didn't go home.
 One thing they've learned to perfection,
 Old or new, as the case may be
 Is the art of gum-chewing,
 And it drives everyone crazy, 'een me!
 The lunch hours haven't cleared up yet —
 V-W-X-Y-and Z.
 The standing in line and the waiting
 Confuse even thee and me.
 The year goes by and the classes
 Are no nearer perfection than before.
 The counselors pull their hair out
 And dream of the good days of Yore!

RICHARD CIOFARRI has selected one of the maps, which is required in Latin III, to pin up on the bulletin board. Fred Barney, while holding Mrs. Young's cat, watches Rita Schneider put up another map. Barry Nettle seems to be asking for a straight pin to hold up his particular contribution.

"GREAT CAESAR'S ghost — not more taxes," thinks Harold Wilbur, as he reports the daily proclamations to his Roman constituents, Pat Sustarich and Richard Fennue, who react with varied expressions to the news that a Caesar-like monetary collection will be taken up during their study of the great J.C.

DONNA STEINKAMP and Nancy Graver put the monthly school paper together as part of Mr. Rosen's Journalism class looks on. Getting first hand information are Anne Niitme, Rennie Bloom, Cherly Wallace, Harold Shanafield, and Art Cash.

Brave Bugs, Bylines,

CAROL PUGH may find it hard to use the board compass on her Geometry paper. It seems Mr. Melvin is having a hard time explaining it to Carol, and keeping his mind off the ripe, red apple next to him.

"KEEP YOUR eyes on the copy," thinks Sandy Crossman, as she strains to be an "A" student in Mrs. Scherer's typing I class. The question is is she really typing, or is she just in a hypnotic trance?

SANDY NARMORE, Linda Jackson, Chris Zadrozny, Germaine Moore, Gary Anderson, Dan Johnston, look on as John Shtogren and Al Schroder hold the mascots of the sophomore biology class, but not with living care. Barbara Davis, Mary Ann Karr, and Carolyn Java show the typical way women react toward mice. Gloria Lenaway is quite the opposite as she is ready to take the heart beats of the mice after their rough treatment.

SOMEDAY THE disarranged pieces of Carol Lorenz's Clothing I project will miraculously turn into a wearable blouse. From there she will tackle more advanced patterns, of skirts, dresses, learning the fundamentals of sewing for future life and occupation.

"NOW, LET'S see, does 'K' come before or after 'J'," thinks Ron Brewster, as he and Carol Snyder, Judy Graves, Ruth Hengen, and Sandy Clark work on their filing assignment.

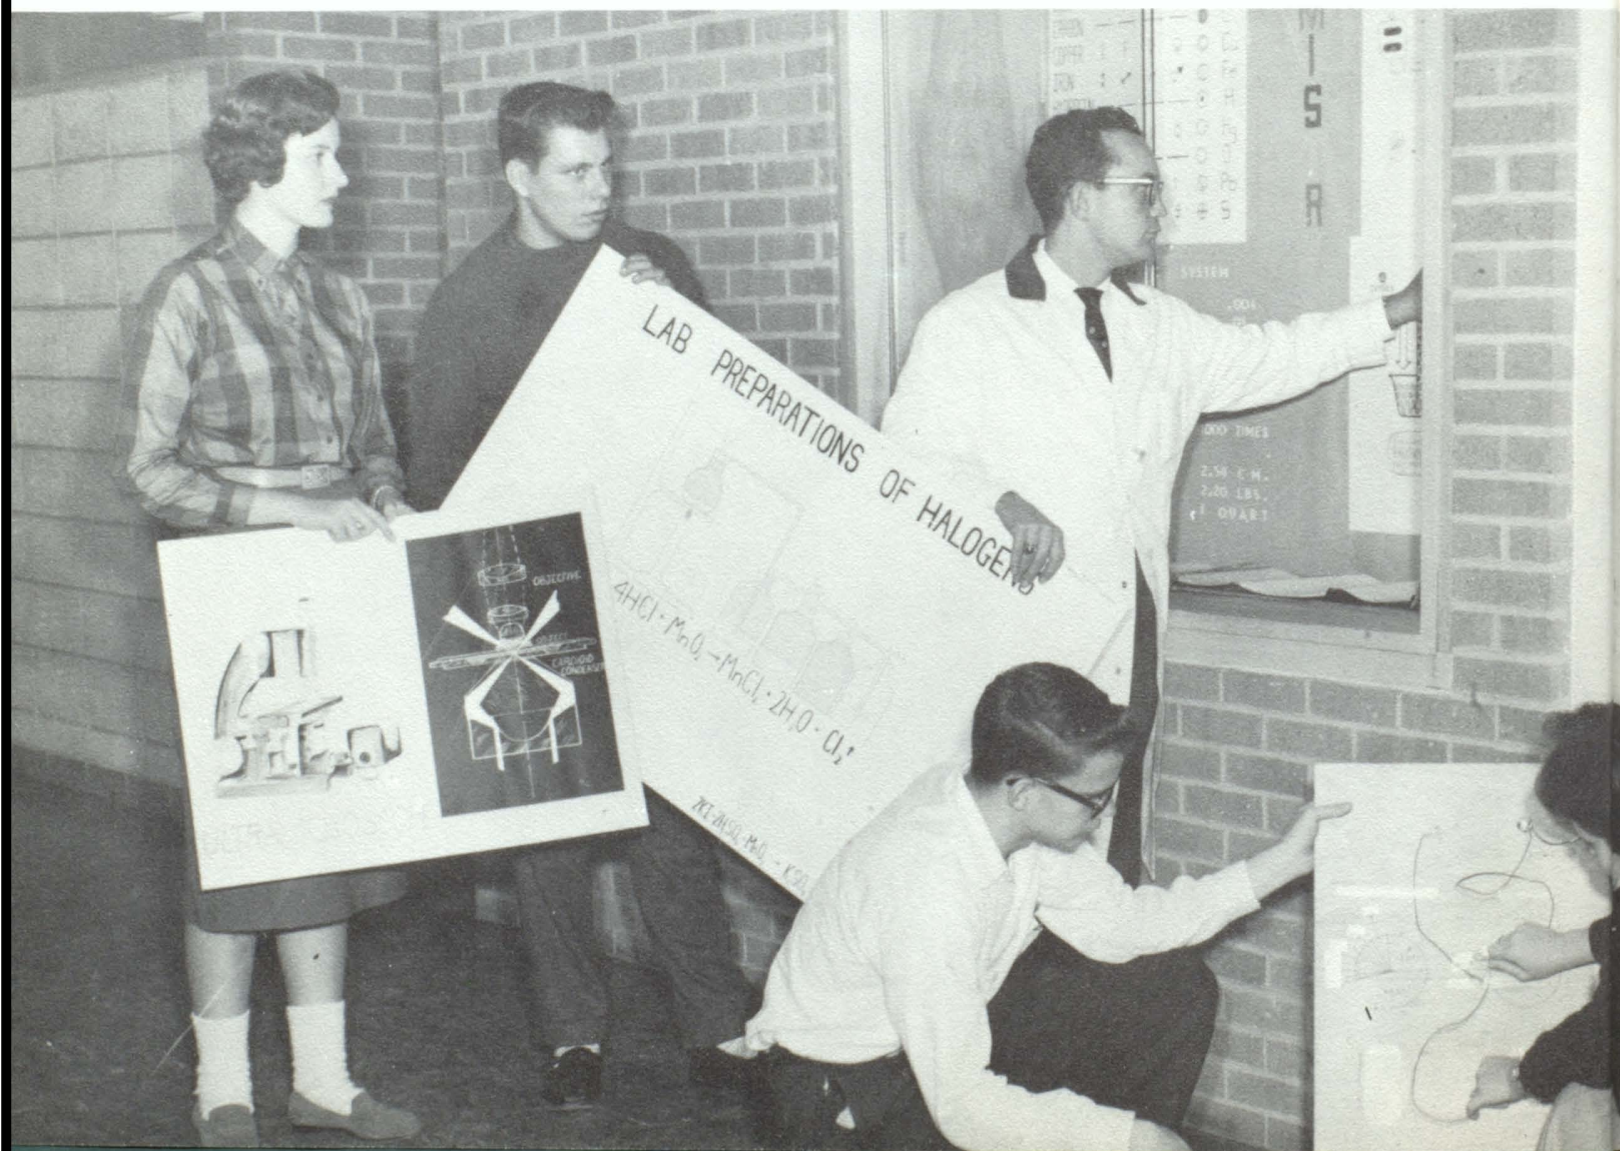

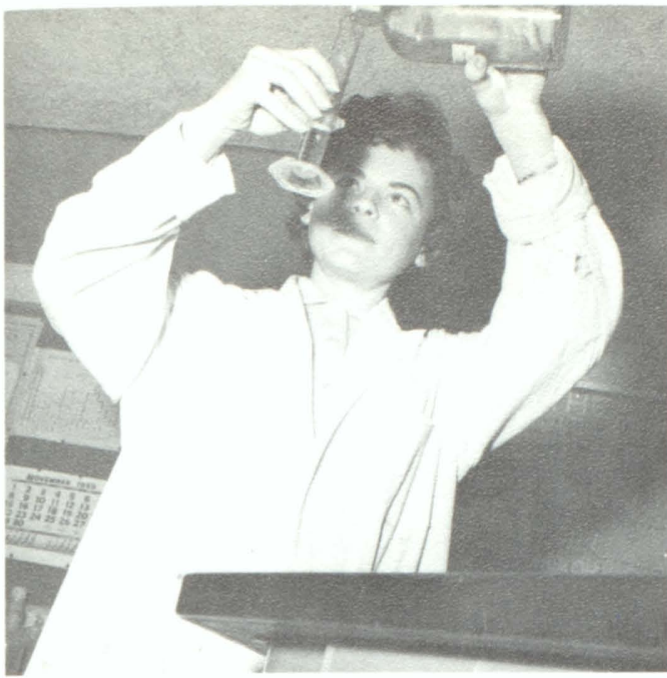

AS RICHARD Schmaltz, Cynthia Pollack and Nancy Wilson put up a bulletin board on the Civil War, they start that age-old argument of slavery. Their American History class is studying the Civil War period.

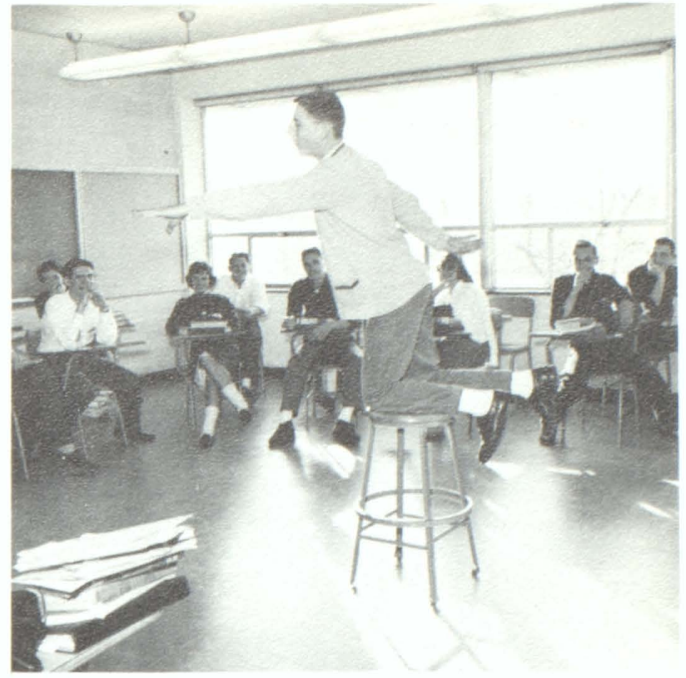

"AND THEN you line this line and number up with this line and number. Then . . ." says Bill Vandergraff, very studiously, as he demonstrates the use of the slide rule to his advanced algebra class.

Indians and Pioneers, Slide Rules and Story Problems,

"TO POUR or not to pour . . . that is the question," ponders Carolyn Clark, as she carefully attempts to fill the slender graduate, an intricate measuring device of the Chemistry lab. Accuracy and caution call for her steady hand.

OBVIOUSLY, IT'S not a bird and it can't be a plane and it's certainly not Superman. So, therefore, it must be Dave "Rodent" Gierhart, demonstrating the painstaking positions of a weathervane in his English 5 class.

Chemicals and Formulas, and Demonstration Speeches

One more year at Kimball High,
That is all there is for you.
It will go fast for one and all
With so very much to do.
The school is the same as before
With its classrooms, teachers, and fun.
The duties that you will preform
Can't be done by just anyone.
A Junior studies America,
Both historical facts and lit.
Chemistry thrills a scientist's mind —
A Junior's view is opposite.
Each girl studies typing or shorthand
To find out how fast she can go,
While down in the dark auto shop
The boys play a car radio.
The sportsmen of the Junior class
Are now on the Varsity team.
Rings were ordered by lad and lass
Whose faces are now all a-gleam.
June grew near and with spirits gay
Prom adornments were quickly made.
The Juniors smiled so happily
For the dance succeeded and paid.
All these things a Junior recalls
Approaching his final year:
Teachers and books and telephone calls,
Three years full of friends, fun, and cheer.
The class officers were chosen
And will serve for the Senior year;
Making plans for all occasions
Which will keep the class in high gear.

THE POWER of persuasion is practiced very proficiently by Barbara Davies. She is nearly hidden behind the speakers podium, as she demonstrates another phase of English 5 by pleading her purpose.

"NO TIME like the present to think about college," remarks Kathy Sharpe, Joe Wilson, and Gail Chrzanowski as they take advantage of the college room.

THE CHRISTMAS display, planned by Huey Baughan, helped everyone enter the holiday spirit. Enjoying the art department's work are Robert Taylor and Dennis Cunningham, who present a gift to "humble" David Platt.

PLATES, SILVERWARE, centerpiece, everything seems to be about ready for the Thanksgiving feast planned by Pat Dowhan Sheryl Willet, and Joyce Hurley in their cooking class.

IN THE classroom section of driver education students learn the various parts of the motor and their function. Kerry Hull, Linda Mallard and Jim LaBell are looking at a cut-away model of an engine.

MR. STANGE is instructing Ron Bergman, a student from his seventh hour driver training class. One of the basic skills a student in a driver training class must learn is to handle a car. These students are applying classroom knowledge to road work.

Class Range Training Good Kimball Drivers

"Teenagers killed in accident." Headlines like this one appear in many of today's newspaper. To combat this situation the state of Michigan offers a driver training program.

Heading the staff at Kimball is Mr. Don Bray. Together with four other teachers he is responsible for the 9 training cars and over 14 hundred students that use the range each year.

After this training the student is given a certificate which enables him to receive a permit as soon as he passes a written exam at the local police station.

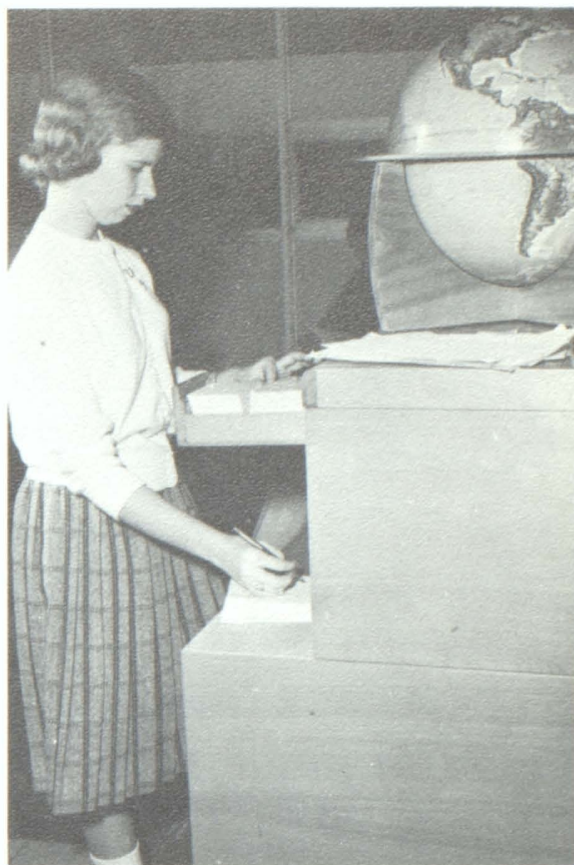

THE KIMBALL Driver Training Range gives each student a chance to make a practical application of things he learned in the classroom section. By driving on the range under the supervision of a qualified instructor, future drivers acquire good driving attitudes and develop driving skills.

ONE OF the requirements for Driver Education is a project. Here Barbara Sander and Stan Vittoz are looking at a project demonstrating the four cycles of a gasoline engine.

PLYING THE library's popular fiction section is Frank Doemer. A great variety of books are housed here, from the classic works of Fyodor Dostoyevsky to the contemporary novels of Sinclair Lewis and the modern teen-age romances of Maureen Daly.

VIVIAN PARENT is about to write down the card catalogue number of a book she wants. Every book has a number; the problem is finding it.

Library Increases Stock To Meet School's Needs

The Kimball library is a home for more than 6,500 books. Daily library attendance averages 375 students. Each day 175 books and 30 pamphlets circulate from the shelves.

This year the library staff consisted of 32 students, one full-time secretary and two full-time librarians. Mrs. Winfred Hartwig, the head librarian, is also a critic teacher for Wayne State University and during the year Kimball was assigned two student teachers from Wayne who worked in the library.

Kimball's library also contains a room which can be used by any class for research purposes, provided the students are accompanied by their teacher.

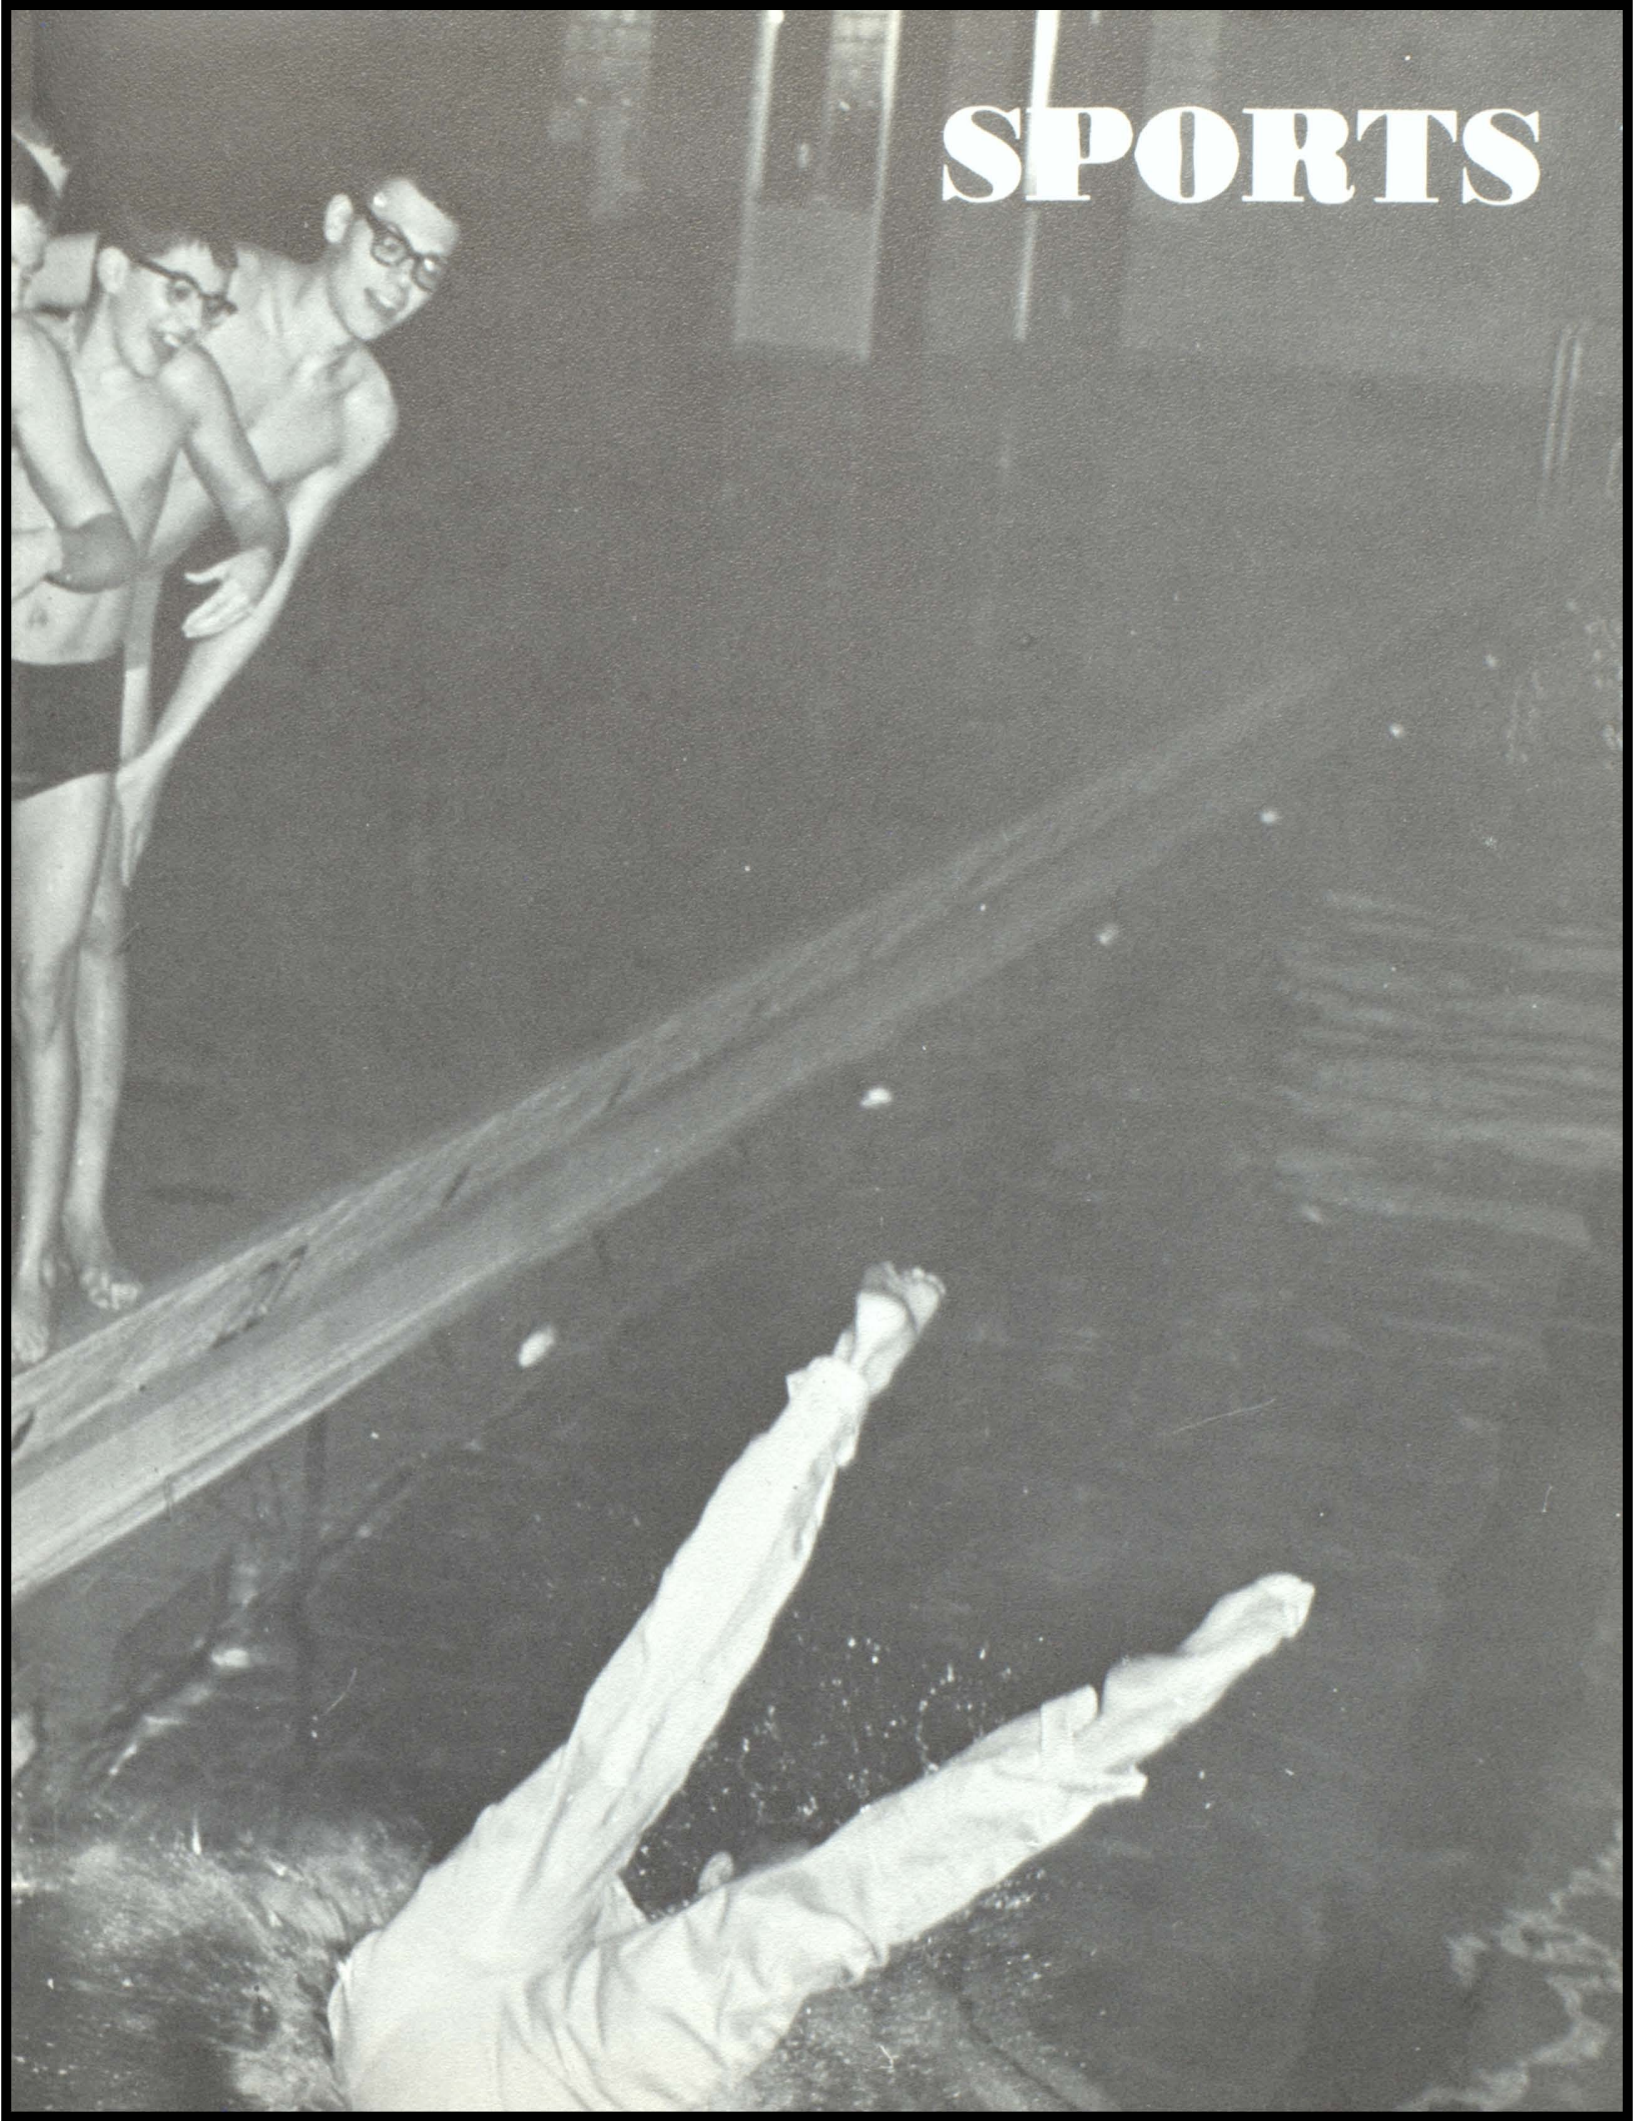

EVERYONE WISHING to take out a book must go through this ritual. Checking library cards and stamping books are Mrs. Marilyn Clark, a student teacher from Wayne and Judy Olshove, one of the members of library staff.

BARB BRONDUM might be trying to remember a complicated word her teacher used as she fingers one of the library's two-ton Webster's Unabridged Dictionaries.

SPORTS

THE CO-CAPTAINS of Kimball's football team for the 1959 season were Jerry Riutta and Larry Wasen. These graduating seniors helped spark our team to victory and will be missed next year.

COACH PIN Ryan appears to be thinking up new strategy to insure another victory for the Knights. His coaching ability helped the varsity squad to a 5-3 record. Congratulations to a fine team and a fine coach.

In Slushing Mud, The Knights End Season, 5-4;

No matter what the weather; rain, snow, wind, or mud, each Friday night spelled excitement for students as they trooped to the football field. They were rewarded when the Knights posted a 5-4 score in over-all play and tallied an Eastern Michigan League rating of 4-2, putting them in a second place tie with Birmingham.

The Knights, coached by Mr. Pin Ryan and Mr. Paul Temerian, started their season triumphantly, breaking a two-year tie streak by defeating Southfield, 26-6, showing the team's tremendous fighting spirit.

But their luck didn't hold out the next week-end with Birmingham as they suffered a disappointing defeat, 21-0. However, they bounced back by beating Mt. Clemens, 13-7, on Oct. 2. Hazel Park followed as K.H.S. rolled over them, 12-0.

The Knights were chilly victims of fast-running E.M.L. champs, Ferndale, 26-13, on Nov. 6.

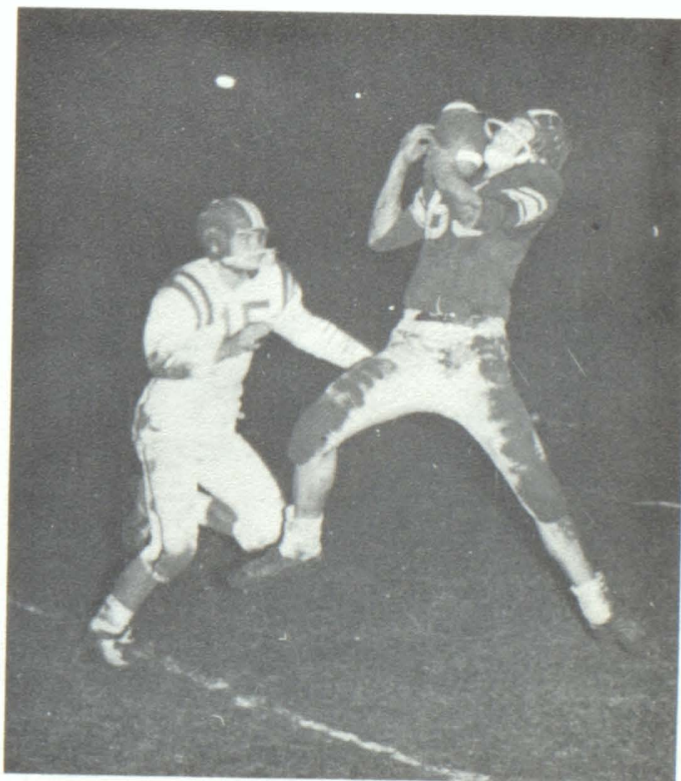

Friday, Nov. 13, the big event came: the fight with Dondero to capture the Oak Stump. Dondero

Talent and Training Lead Natators To A 14-0-0 Record

The swimming season splashed to a victorious close, with the Kimball natators capturing a perfect record of 14-0, by winning all of their dual meets. Ousted out of first by Birmingham, the Knights placed second in the EML finals.

Barry Johnson, Ed Boothman, Al McCarty, Brooke Bearss, Jim Hamilton, Lloyd Redlin, Bud Stringer, Norm Meeks, Dave Ritchie, and Jack Valentine, qualified for the state finals, helping to take the 5th spot throughout the state.

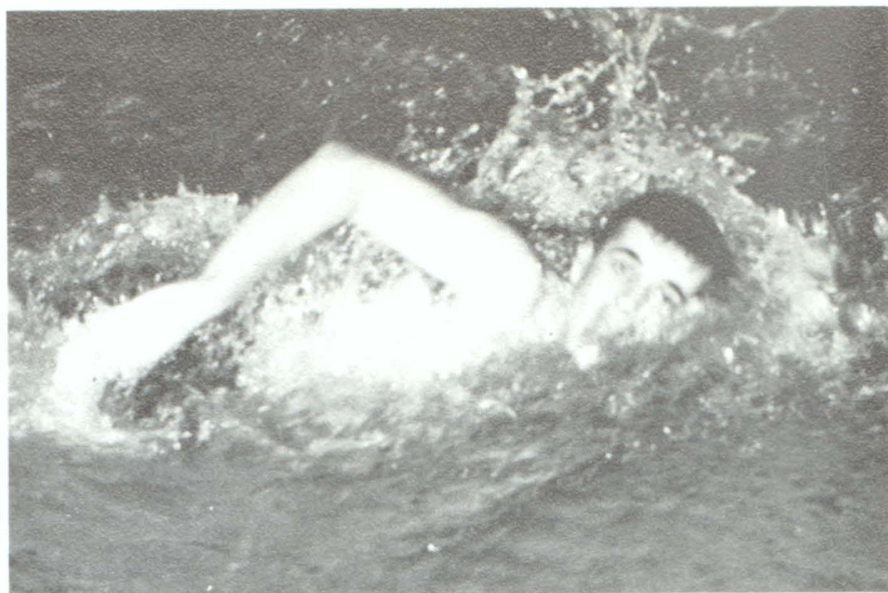

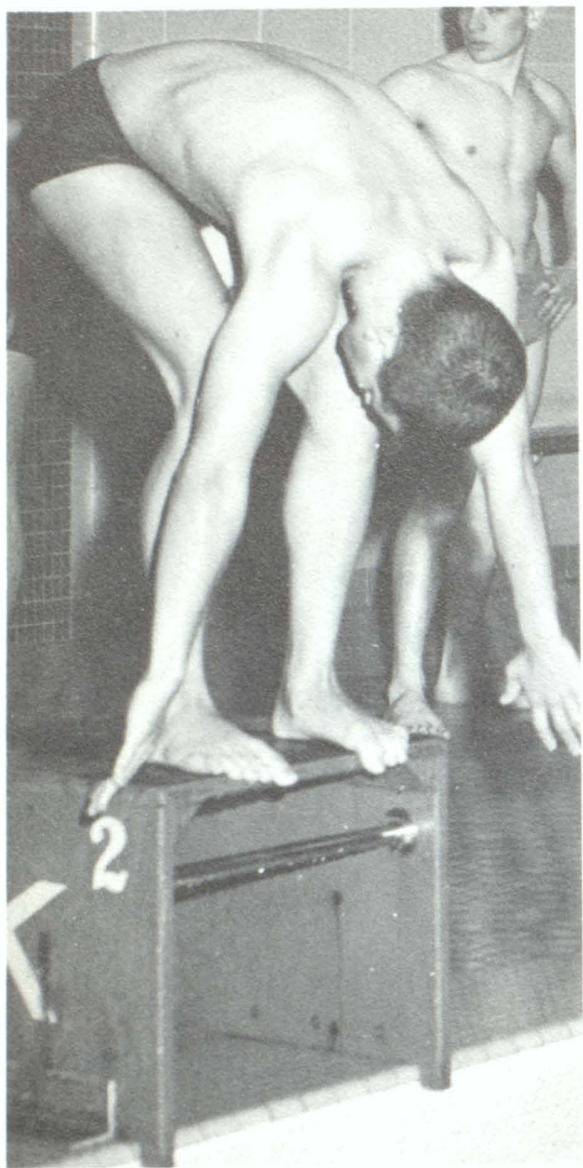

LINED UP for review are Earl Ryan, manager of the 1959-60 swimming team. Jim Hands, and Barry Johnson, co-captains of the squad. Lending their skills and leadership abilities, they were able to boast the season's triumphs to new heights.

SHOWING BROOK Bearss his encouraging timings is Dick Feters, head coach of Kimball's natators. Acclaimed by his team as "the greatest", Mr. Feters has administered his methods of teaching and coaching to whip his first team into winning form.

NO, NOT one for the money or two for the show—but the judges are ready just the same for the swimmers to make their mark. Bang, and there goes Al McCarty to the depths of the pool.

"GULP! I think I'll switch to another brand of pool water; this type of chlorine leaves an unsatisfying taste—so unfriendly to the stomach," thinks Brook Bearss, as he swims by the Lancer photographer during one of the required daily swim practices.

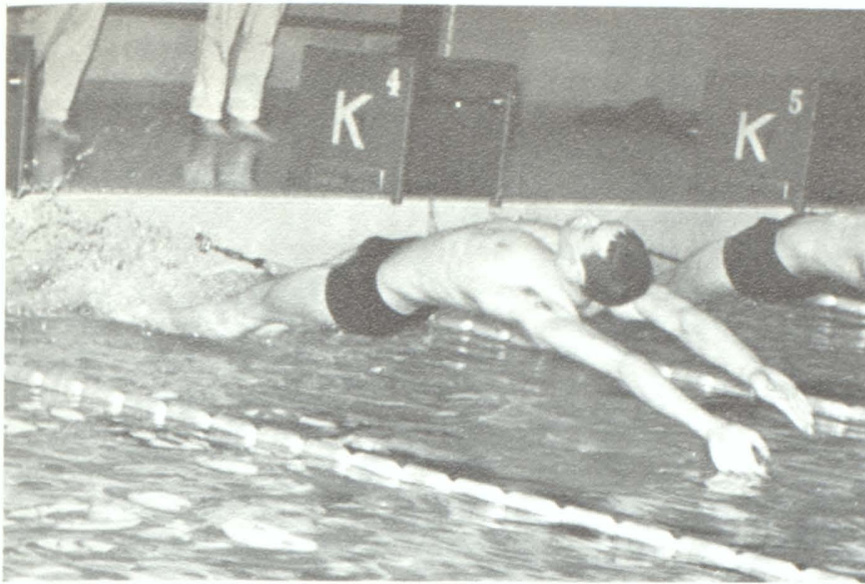

"AND I thought that they were my friends," mumbles Earl Ryan as he pulls himself out of the pool after a quick, "refreshing" dip. Being manager for two years, he occasionally gets the feeling that the team takes out their extra energy on him.

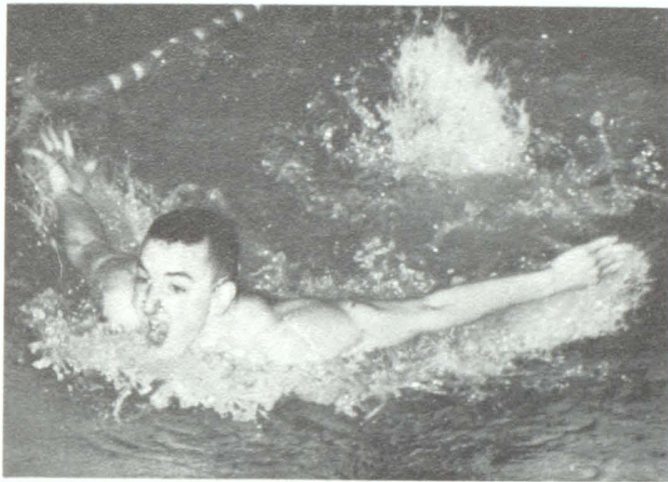

In EML Standings And Placing Second

WHO'S THAT swimming past the under water window? Why it's Barry Johnson, captain of the state-wide known Kimball swimming team, just starting off on a length of the pool after making a successful turn. (Gosh! So that's what he looks like under water!)

BUD STRINGER starts with a bang as the signal is given to begin the backstroke. His hands haven't even touched the water yet, and look where he is already! So that's what he uses those muscles for!

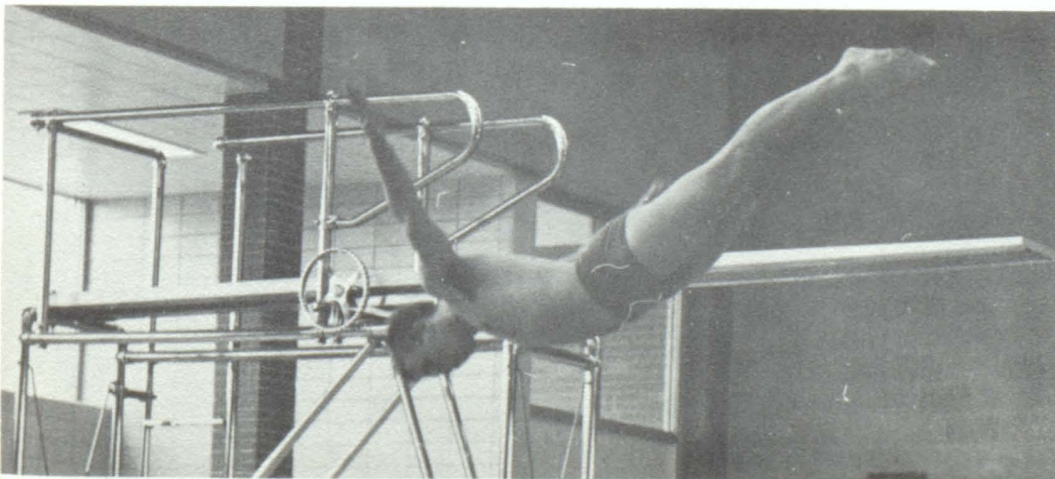

MAKING A huge splash and taking a huge breath, Dave Ritchie gives that last extra effort as he gets closer to the finish line while doing his powerful breaststroke in one of the important meets.

CHEERING THEIR team to victory, Larry Johnson and Jack Valentine enthusiastically yell advice to their teammates in the pool as the end of the race draws near.

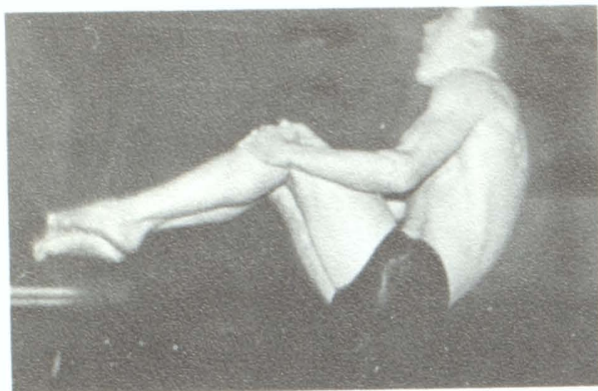

Taking Fifth Place In Statewide

Competitions

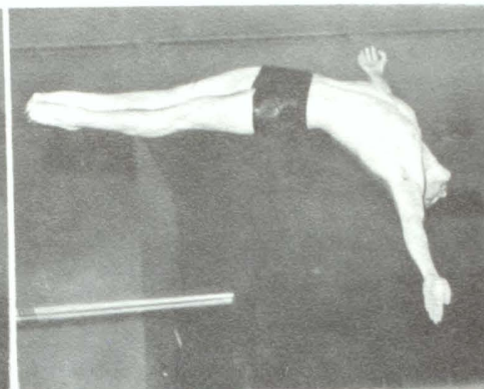

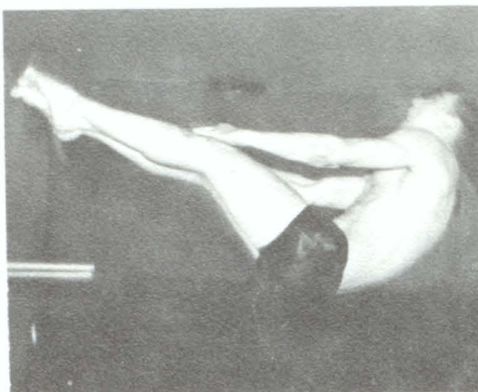

NORM MEEKS gives an example of his flying techniques as he exhibits his diving form that he uses during the meets. It almost looks as if he's going to fly right on out of that window instead of diving smoothly into the pool!

Hopefuls Train For Coming Swim Season

SHOWING HIS expert grace and form is Junior Ed Boothman, eligible for next season's swim trials, who topped Kimball's scoring power in the diving division. His second place in the EML contest, matched with his capturing of the state's second, should provide him the incentive for a better record next year.

Under the able coaching of Richard Fетters, the 1959-60 swim team finished with a record of 14-0-0 and placed fifth in the state finals. Although the team lost Barry Johnson and several other varsity seniors, it will have returning hopefuls such as: Art Cash, Dave Ritchie, Ed Boothman, and Bud Stringer. Kimballites are proud of this year's team and see that chances for next year's are very good.

THREE JUNIORS, who have shown great abilities, are Dave Ritchie, whose specialties are the Butterfly and Individual Medley, Bud Stringer, an exceptional backstroker, and Brook Bearss, who excells in Freestyle.

Basketeers Better Last Season's Record

"OUT OF my way, buddy", warns co-captain Gary Moody, as he plows his way through the defensive of his opponent's blocks.

The summer was over, and the Knights trudged back to their lessons once again. The thrills of football season came and went, and then they looked toward the basketball season.

The student body can be very proud of the continuous efforts that the Varsity basketball team has displayed this year. After many hours of hard practice, the team compiled a 3-12 record.

With the exception of one January graduate, Gary Moody, the varsity lineup remained the same throughout the season, under the guidance of Coach Sigren and the co-captains, Gary Moody and Duanne Cummings.

Even though the scores were closer and the opponents stronger, the team was able to increase their number of victories over the record of last year.

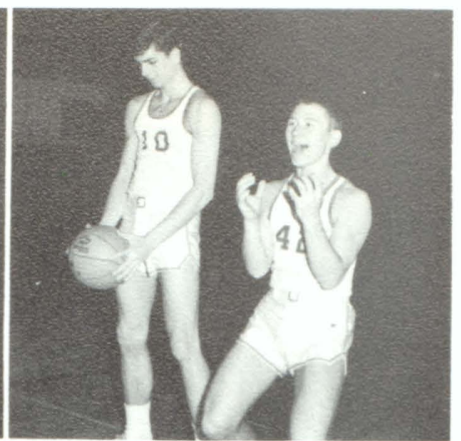

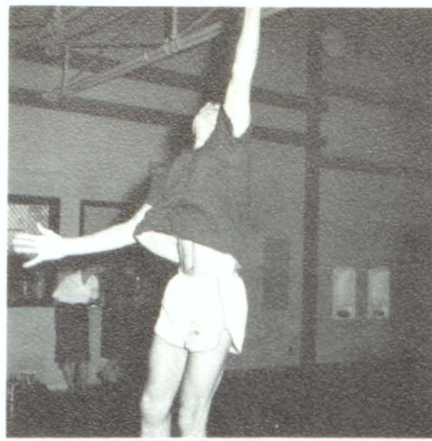

"MY MOMMY said I could have this ball, so you can't have it," motions Duanne Cummings, the basketeers other co-captain.

Row 1: Wally Gabler, Ed Place, Craig Kirby, Gary Moody, Duane Cummings, Randy Grant, Ed Lukowski. Row 2: Terry Smith, man-

EXPRESSIONS AND gestures can certainly run riot when basketball players get together for a practice session. This is exemplified by these team members, as they perfect their styles for the next game.

DURING A practice session, Mark VanHala is shown preparing to make a foul shot, aided by the intense mental concentration of Ed Place.

BILL CHILTON seems intensely determined to make that basket despite the threatening stance and looks of an East Detroit player.

Frosh

The Frosh basketball team, coached by Charles Jones, had a good season ending with a 8-6 record, with Red Wilson taking the tops in scoring with 104.

Coach Jones has picked Red Wilson, Carter Nelson, Jim Cameron, Bill Cummings, Terry Riley, and Kurt Neuman as the most likely to succeed, because what the team lacked in height, they made up in spirit.

The Junior Varsity basketball squad, under the direction of Coach Dick Zulch, came to the end of their season with a 4-11 final record. Dave Forier led the team with a top score of 103 points. The team conquered Mt. Clemens, Fitzgerald, and Hazel Park twice.

READY FOR action is the Varsity Squad, plus three: Nancy Farrell, Margaret Hurley, Kathy Rohn, Pat Rossoli, Ann Goullaud, captain, and Sue Scholle, along with fellow-supporters, Tom Custance, Bob Bityk, and friend.

JV And Varsity Cheerleaders Help Promote School Spirit

"Fight, team, fight!" and other resounding cheers are familiar sounds to the 1959-1960 cheerleading squad. During rigorous daily practice sessions with their now sponsor, Mrs. Jane Franklin, they planned pep assembly skits, cheers, and posters to advertise the games.

Last year the Varsity and J.V. teams worked together to sell cheer blocks, and various other items, the proceeds of which will go toward sending next year's squad to summer cheerleading camp for a week.

The Kimball cheerleaders sponsored the annual football queen contest, which was climaxed by a semi-formal dance, "Autumn Leaves", honoring the team, the queen, and her court. Chairing the affair was Varsity cheerleader Margaret Hurley.

After basketball season, the girls from both squads planned the annual series of clinics to select the 1960-1961 teams.

THESE SMILES and pleasant faces help give encouragement to the basketball team. JV Cheerleaders, Kit Trimble, Karen Walden, Margie Austin, Penny Loucks, Carolyn Swartz, captain, and Barbara Swanson are shown here after a pep assembly.

ACHES AND pains are common for these chronic exercisers Kathy Rohn, Pat Rossoli, Sue Scholle, and Nancy Farrell. As Varsity Cheerleaders, they must be in top physical condition and full of enthusiasm.

Shoes Dance As Theme For Third Annual Water Ballet

Shoes, shoes, and more shoes was the theme of the third annual water show production called Cobbler's Fantasy, staged in the Kimball pool on April 28-29. A nautically-inclined cast performed to the music of ballet shoes, old soft shoes, cowboy boots, sophisticated shoes, and a variety of other shoes.

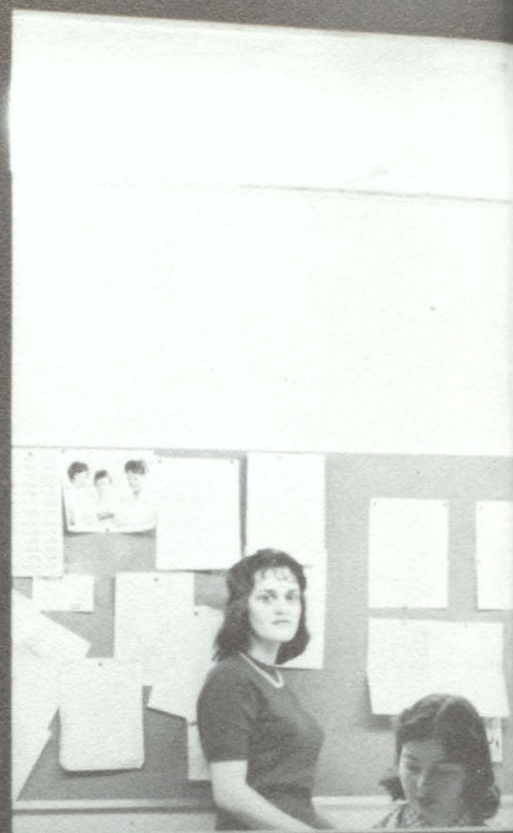

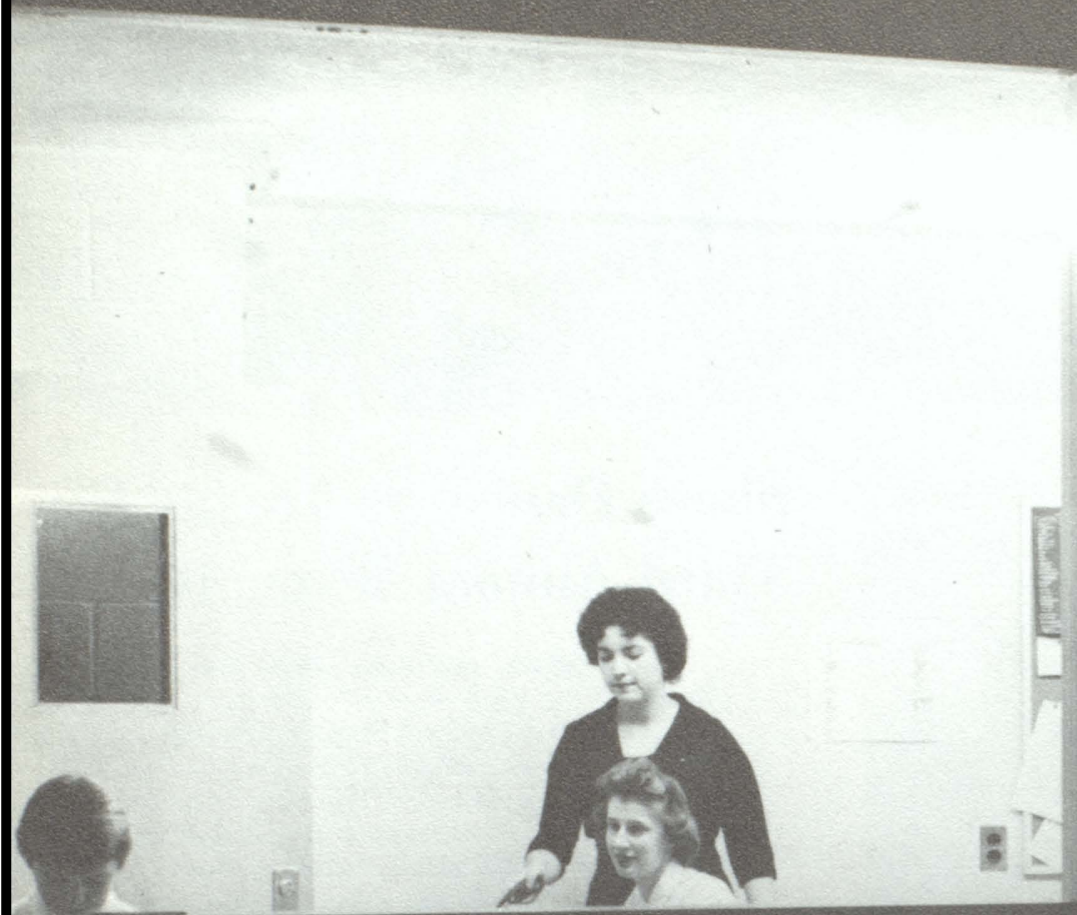

Participating in the many numbers, including duets and group numbers, were Diane Baugh, Sharon Bell, Pat Bell, Janet Bennington, Sarah Bingaman, Barbara Bron-dom, Allison Brown, Dee Ann Brown, Joanne Buck, Donna Burns, Dorothy Carruthers, Karen Dreifuss, Elaine Ellsworth, Claudia Fillion, Linda Garrison, Ricky Gilbert, Karen Gratnar, Marybeth Grimm, Lee Hayes, Joy Kuhlow, Carol Latkowski, Dorothy Locy, Mary Navarre, Sandy Nied, Sue Peters, Sue Boynton, Janet Pugh, Jill Quinlan, Carol Reinhold, Sue Shimmin, Mary Hubbard, Gale Daubenmeyer, Elaine Berryman, and Pat Debien.

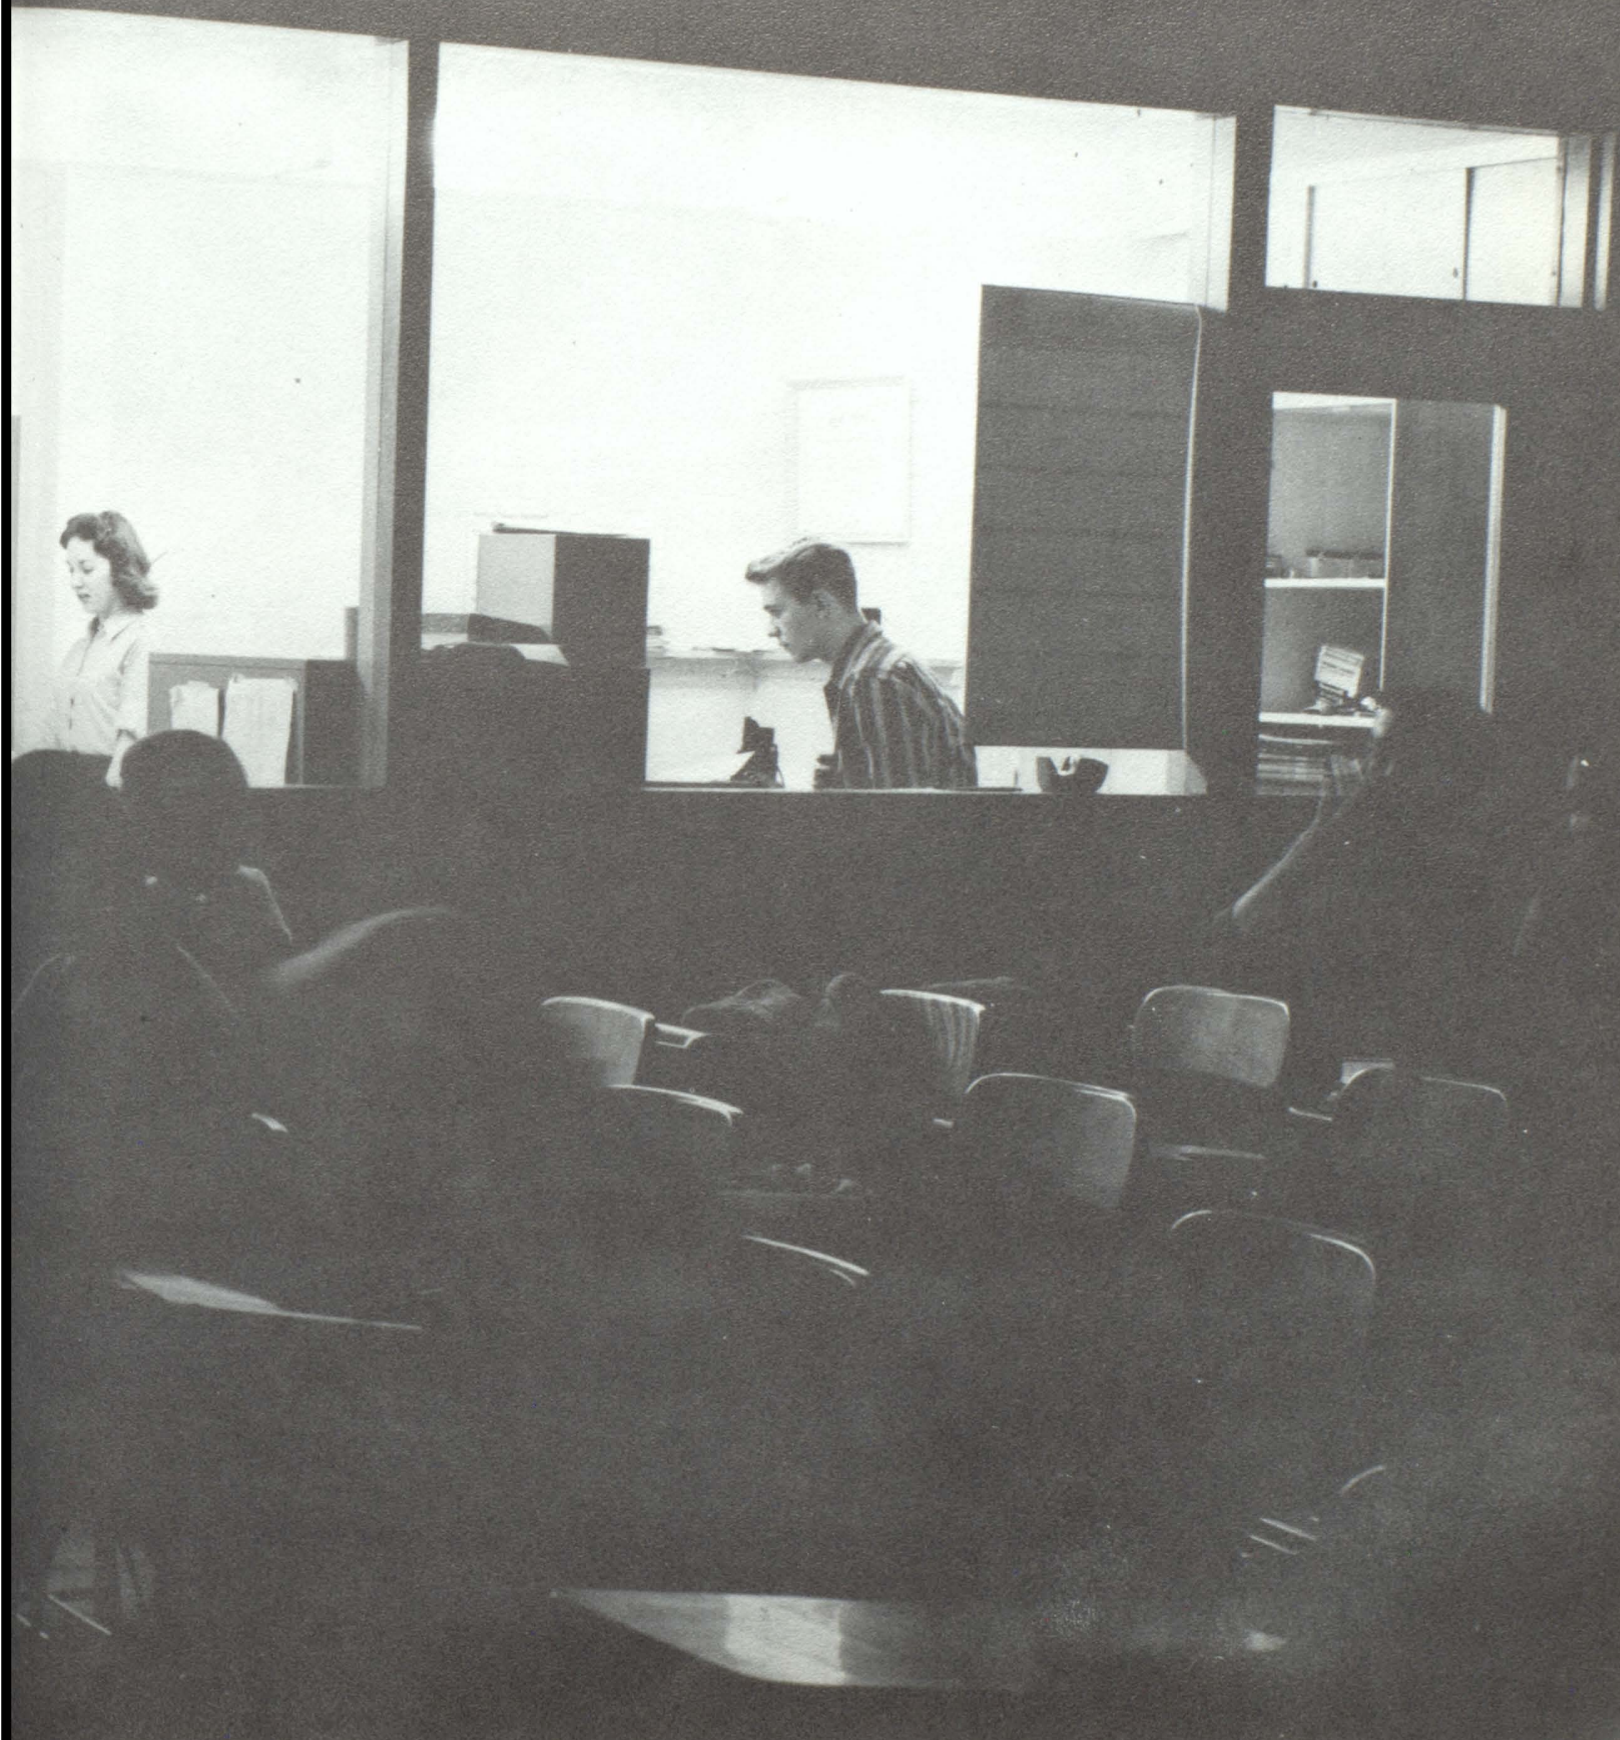

"SYNCHRONIZED SWIMMING certainly can be a chore," thinks Rickee Gilbert, as she gathers the bloomers from the previous water show. Mary Navarre and Pat Debien excitedly wait for her to come and take theirs.

"ALL TOGETHER now, One . . . Two . . . Three . . ." Its one thing to say dive together but another thing doing it. That is why the girls for this years water ballet are practicing everything, even diving into the water, for a good show.

ACTIVITIES

HANDLING THE commercial affairs of a yearbook is not an easy pushover of a job, as Dorothy Locy, Lancer's Business Manager, found out. Above she confronts Mr. Rosen with some unpaid bills.

LANCER EDITOR, Diana Broome, is designing a page for the 1960 Lancer. This is just one small part of her job. Diana must make sure that all the copy, designing, photographing, and compiling is done.

1960 Lancer Staff Adds

Each year the newly formed Lancer staffs have attempted to overcome their inexperience and awkwardness at yearbook production, in order to collaborate in making an outstanding and different annual.

This year was certainly no exception to this established precedence, as approximately 40 energetic Knights volunteered to devote their time to the sales and ad campaigns, which resulted in a record sale of 875 books.

The preliminary preparations, picture planning,

CLOWNING WITH some the last remaining reminders of the long past sales-promotion campaign are Gail Wheeler and Karen Schmidt, Editors of the January supplement.

FORMULATING IDEAS and developing them on paper is the first important step in the production of a school annual, as Karen Hammond demonstrates, as she dummys copy pages for the January seniors' section.

"HURRY UP! Help me hide these pages from all of those kids who want to see them before the Lancer's out," motions Joanne Buck to Sue Scholle, as they store the yearbook pages for safe keeping.

"EASY, NOW, Betsy," cautions Beryl Benschop, as she watches Betsy Ladue trim pictures that will appear in the book. Ready with her trusty scotch tape, Beryl is prepared to pick up the pieces if Betsy slips.

and page dummying were left up to the editorial division of the staff, which handled the main production of the 1959-60 edition. Seven months of slave driving and nose grinding reduced the working staff to about 13 members.

The addition of full colored pictures on two of the dividing pages has ushered in a new era for the Kimball publication department. Colored autograph end-pages and an all school index of names have contributed to the uniqueness and success of the 1960 Lancer.

SARAH BINGAMAN, Sandy Conley, Rasma Brilts, and Marsha Montgomery, four hard-working members of the 1960 Lancer staff, take time out from their many and varied duties to get new ideas from old yearbooks.

Round Table Strives For Better

Kimball's student governing body, the Round Table sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Michener, helps bridge the gap between the administration and the student body. Any student wishing to make a suggestion regarding a school problem may talk to his representative or place a recommendation in the suggestion box provided by the Round Table for this purpose. When the administration wants the student body's opinion, Round Table is consulted.

As a service to the community, the Round Table sponsored an annual city-wide work day for which the students joined together to perform odd jobs in the neighborhood. The money they received was enough to make it possible for a foreign exchange student to attend Kimball next year.

Candy was sold in the cafeteria to supplement the Flower Fund. This money was used to buy flowers for Kimball students and teachers who became ill during the school year.

THE BUILDING and Grounds Committee, shown here, are looking at the annual calendar to plan their schedule for the coming days. They are Kurt Neumann, Margaret Sved, Rose Marie Schell, Margaret Hurley, Marcia Wright, and Pam Buchanan. This committee promoted neatness and cleanliness around the school.

RELAXING AFTER the successful launching of their "pet project" are Frank Sellgren, Maureen McCartney, Dick Kolosa, Shirley Clayton, Sue Chappell, and Carolyn Waltz, who were the promoters and instigators of the Roundtables Work Day.

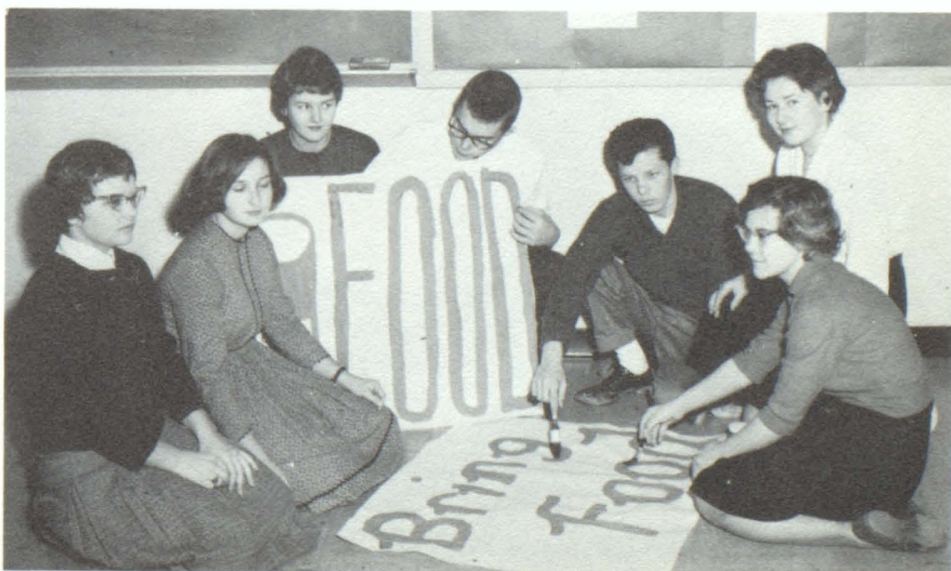

School Unity

"DON'T JUST stand there, tell them about our Workday! Why do you think we're out here?" says Ginny Campbell to Frank Sellgren as Jo Anne Hutchins, Dick Kollossa, and Pam Buchanan urge him with their encouraging smiles! The purpose of this little skit, staged at an assembly, was to promote the "Workday", sponsored by the Roundtable, in order to raise money for the A. F. S. program. Volunteering students offered their services to the community by doing jobs from leaf raking to fence painting. The money earned was put into Roundtable's A. F. S. fund to boost the prospects of sending another Kimball student abroad.

ONE OF the many ways that Roundtable raises money is by selling candy during the lunch hours. Here Kurt Neumann and Ken Brower help Linda Swayze make a decision. Most of the money obtained from the sale of candy is used in the student exchange program to enable a Kimball student to go to a foreign country.

EACH YEAR at Christmas time the Roundtable participates in a Care food drive by asking each student to contribute at least one can of food to needy families. Here making posters publicizing the drive are Linda Kramer, Pat Walden, Sara Douglas, Doug Austin, Jim Stewart, Marguerite Schaub, and Jackie Ellison.

Third Year Proves Most Successful For

"WHAT DO you mean your story is missing," protests Nancy Graver, editor-in-chief, to Casey Kennedy, as Carole Thompson and Donna Steinkamp, assistant editor, watch the execution of their fellow HERALD staffer.

"YOU JUST don't have enough fingers and toes," complains Barbara Campbell, as she attempts to compose a headline for one of the monthly issues, using Sue Luginbill's limited counting implements.

DICK CURTIS checks over the negative as he develops film in the dark room of the print shop.

One of the most successful endeavors pursued by Kimball students has been the publication of the Herald. Printed once a month, this effort contains all the news of immediate interest to its readers and also features numerous articles concerning the more humorous sides of life.

Under the guidance of Editor, Nancy Graver, and Assistant Editor, Donna Steinkamp, the members of the Herald strive diligently and untiringly to produce a publication worthy of their efforts. Not only do the staff members entirely plan the formats of the pages and write the stories, but they also paste the copy and headlines into the dummy sheets as a final step before printing.

HAROLD HANCOX is masking one of the many negatives used for the HERALD while Don Shavers instructs him.

THIS IS the working area of WOAK. Martin Edwards, at the main controls, is about to turn on a microphone, as Bob Materka and Fred Macall man the turntable and tape recorder. Bob Donaghey is at the microphone while Paul Anderson uses one of WOAK's three telephones that co-ordinates the station with the auditorium, the school, and the transmitter controls at Dondero.

WOAK, sponsored by Mr. Raymond Hawarny of Kimball and headed by Dondero's Mr. Jim Mead, is South Oakland County's only student-operated radio station (at 89.3 on your dial). In conjunction with Dondero High School, the Kimball Staff broadcasted programs — some of which were "live", some recordings, and others transcriptions. Play-by-play accounts of the football games, in which Ted Schmidt, Don Schmidt, Jack Montgomery, Bob Donaghey, and Randy Hess participated, enabled many persons to become home "spectators".

As a part of the Knightline program on Monday nights, "emceed" by Chuck Vogt, the Royal Oak City Commission meetings were broadcast. American literature and culture were vividly brought to life on a program organized and produced by Rasma Brilts and Paul Anderson. Jazz and its fascinating history was reviewed on Leslie Dalrymple's show.

Originating in the minds of Bob Donaghey and Don Schmidt, Musically Mad proved uproarious entertainment. Miss Elanious, a program by Marsy Montgomery, was presented on the air to round out the broadcasting.

MR. HAWARNY, the faculty advisor, reads a script as Jack Montgomery and Randy Hess watch and Bob Donaghey runs the controls. A cabinet, holding hundreds of forgotten 45's is in the background.

HERE MARTIN Edwards as teacher, and John Swink, who cues up a transcription, teach the new engineers in the WOAK room. Training new engineers is an important part of the WOAK activities. Shown here are the new engineers with Bob Materka (in the sweater) looking on.

"SPAGHETTI TONIGHT!" shouts Tom Gustairs (right), as he flings a pile of magnetic recording tapes. Most radio stations would be lost without this electronic marvel. Assisting Tom are Bob Donaghey and Bill Mortimore.

EACH OF these huge records, called transcriptions, has a complete fifteen minutes recorded on it. As Alice Schulte, Harold Shanafield, Brad Vance, Bill Mortimore, and Chris Fales can see, their contents vary from French classes to country music.

JOVIAL GEORGIA
Jack Montgomery is telling one of his corn-fed jokes to the radio audience as well as to Tom Cayhill, Tom Gustairs, Bob Donaghey, Paul Anderson, Randy Hesse, and Rasma Brilts.

ABOVE THE auditorium is the control booth for WOAK. Programs that are to be aired and problems that must be solved are "ironed-out" by the staff and the sponsor, Mr. Hawarny.

ROVING REPORTER Bruce Stratton, with mike in hand, has been fortunate enough to find Sharon Berry who seems to be well informed on the topic in question. The topics discussed in these informal interviews range from beatnik day to Einstein's Theory of Relativity.

41 NEW members were inducted into the Kimball chapter of the National Honor Society. C. S. L. S. stand for the four things which determine who shall be members of this club. Character is the word which represents the first letter and Scholarship the second while Leadership and Service represent the latter two. All these characteristics are blended together into each of these individuals.

NHS Takes Its Place As Active Organization

Launching the school year with a full agenda of activities, the National Honor Society took its place this year as an active and leading Chapter. Forty-one members from the junior and two senior classes were inducted into the Society, and an Alumni Christmas Tea, instigated to be an annual tradition, was given. Refreshments were sold at the Junior-Senior play and an "off-beat" after-game dance, "The Odd Ball", helped provide funds for the group's activities.

Sponsored by Mrs. Florence Hall, N.H.S. was headed by Nancy Graver, president; Lloyd Edwards, vice president; Vicki Carney, secretary; Jerry Kramer, treasurer; and Earl Ryan, historian.

COMPILING THEIR running accounts of primary resources material in their card catalogs are the Junior Varsity squad: Nancy Elliott, Linda Swayze, Bob Mitchell, and Donna Swanson.

Debate Captures Third In League Competition

Just two points out of first place, the 1959-60 Debate Squad ended its season by taking third place in the Metropolitan League. "Resolved: the Federal government should substantiate its regulation of the labor unions" was the national question debated this year.

Training was offered to the squad of about 12 in the four fields of finding primary resource material, using this collected evidence, weighing the material logically, and presenting it orally with poise and accuracy.

Next fall, Debate will be offered as a replacement for a study hall.

"The meeting will now come to order." Several times a week these same words are spoken by the presidents of Kimball's many clubs. With the large variety of clubs around Kimball you will surely be able to find one that will interest you. Whether you want to be a teacher, nurse, or librarian, run a movie projector, or study the customs of France, Spain, or Rome, Kimball has a club for you.

During the school year many clubs have sponsored various activities such as all school parties, sock-hops, and semi-formal dances. Some clubs have sponsored food drives for the needy families in the community. Still others have scholarship funds for those members who through service to the school and the club have proved themselves worthy. All clubs have a goal and it is reached through the work of its members. If you have a desire to help others, as well as yourself, a Kimball club is the answer.

STEPPING HIGH and striding precisely, the band marched its way into and through a season of new formations and intricate routines, as they entertained in bright uniforms and friendly smiles at the home football games at Cass Field.

THE BRASS section of Kimball's 1-A band is shown in deep concentration of practice . . . that is — all except for one nonconformist, Lloyd Edwards, who seems to be feverishly composing a letter or perhaps finishing his homework.

Band Rates Tops As

The band has been very active during this year. They presented two concerts for the public, one on Feb. 20, and another in May. Students were able to hear the band when they presented a student Concert on March 4.

Proof of their efforts was shown when they entered festivals on both district and state levels. At the solo and ensemble festivals on Feb. 6, and April 2, the participants received ratings in the first divisions. The whole band received a rating in the first division, when it entered the district festival on Feb. 20. They also participated in the state festival on April 30.

"I GIVE up," summits Mr. Peters, as pleads for peace during a trying rehearsal.

Orchestra Takes Second

This last year brought a new director, Mr. Yenovk Kavafian, to lead the Kimball orchestra. Mr. Kavafian also doubled as the orchestra director of Dondero's group.

The winter concert was the highlight of the season for this energetic organization. The musical affair was given in co-operation with the band on February 10.

The orchestra was made up of fifty-five students who play a variety of instruments. Nine of these musicians participated in the Solo and Ensemble Festival, at which the students were rated in numbers one through five, according to their performance. The orchestra also played in the Band and Orchestra Festival at Roseville where they received a high two for their performance, and at the January and June commencements.

"HOLD THAT note four counts," directs Mr. Kavafian, as he leads the orchestra in one of his classes.

"JUST WHO does she think she is trying to impress?," thinks Beverly Good, as she looks at Sue McCall, playing her flute. It takes a lot of practice trying to get the right tones, notes, and beats to make a song come out right.

"AND THEN the beat picks up", thinks Susan Franz. She doesn't seem to be worried about anything except music, not even the boy next to her.

ADJUSTING EACH other's robes are the officers who have led the A Cappella members through this past season: They are Al Douglas, sergeant-at-arms; Jack Valentine, president; Dorothy Locy, secretary; Jo Ciaccio, vice president; and Janice Gebell, treasurer.

A variety of vocal groups was available for students who wished to take part in them. Anyone interested in music could take part in either the Girls' or Boys' glee club.

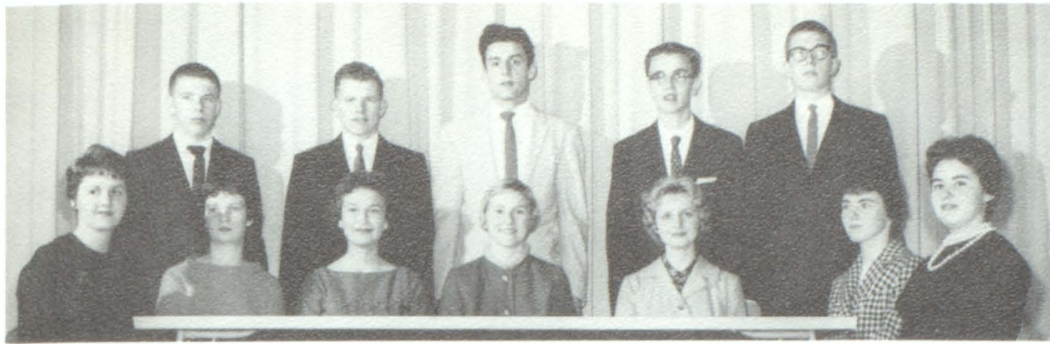

The Girls' choir was directed by Mrs. Denzil Balmer. Last year the choir sang for the members of the Oakridge Women's Club and also participated in a state-wide competition with music groups from other schools.

The largest and most selective mixed-vocal group, the A Cappella choir, under the direction of Keith Lancaster, did much to promote many school functions such as the graduation programs of Baccalaureate and the Commencement exercises.

Prior to Christmas they presented programs at a Printer's convention in the Fort Shelby Hotel, for the Starr school PTA, and another for the Starr elementary students. Singing for the reception for Mrs. Richard M. Nixon was another activity of the A Cappella members.

Entertaining at the National Honor Society Christmas Tea, a program for blind children at the Royal Oak Y.M.C.A., and a visit to the Lions' Club dinner made up the agenda of the Madrigal singers, a 16 voice group from the A Cappella Choir.

Offer Variety To Music Minded Knights

PREPARING TO sing one of their many unaccompanied vocal selections are the Madrigals Singers, Sara Douglas, Bette Rule, Liz Symon, Dorothy Locy, Janice Neininger, JoAnne Coffeen, Elaine Latkowski, Tom Warth, Chuck Bell, Paul Kurkowski, Dick Rodocker, and Doug Austin.

"GOOD HEAVENS," screams Pam Thompson. "It must be here some place." On lookout Karen Porter, if consulted, could easily tell Pam that her missing number one A Cappella choir robe will never be found amidst the 50's and 60's.

"HEY WAIT for me," hustles Judy Hughes, as Jerry Pugh strides ahead of her.

A BOUTONNIERE for a "king" and a dance with a "queen" — Mr. Hoot whirls around the dance floor with his wife.

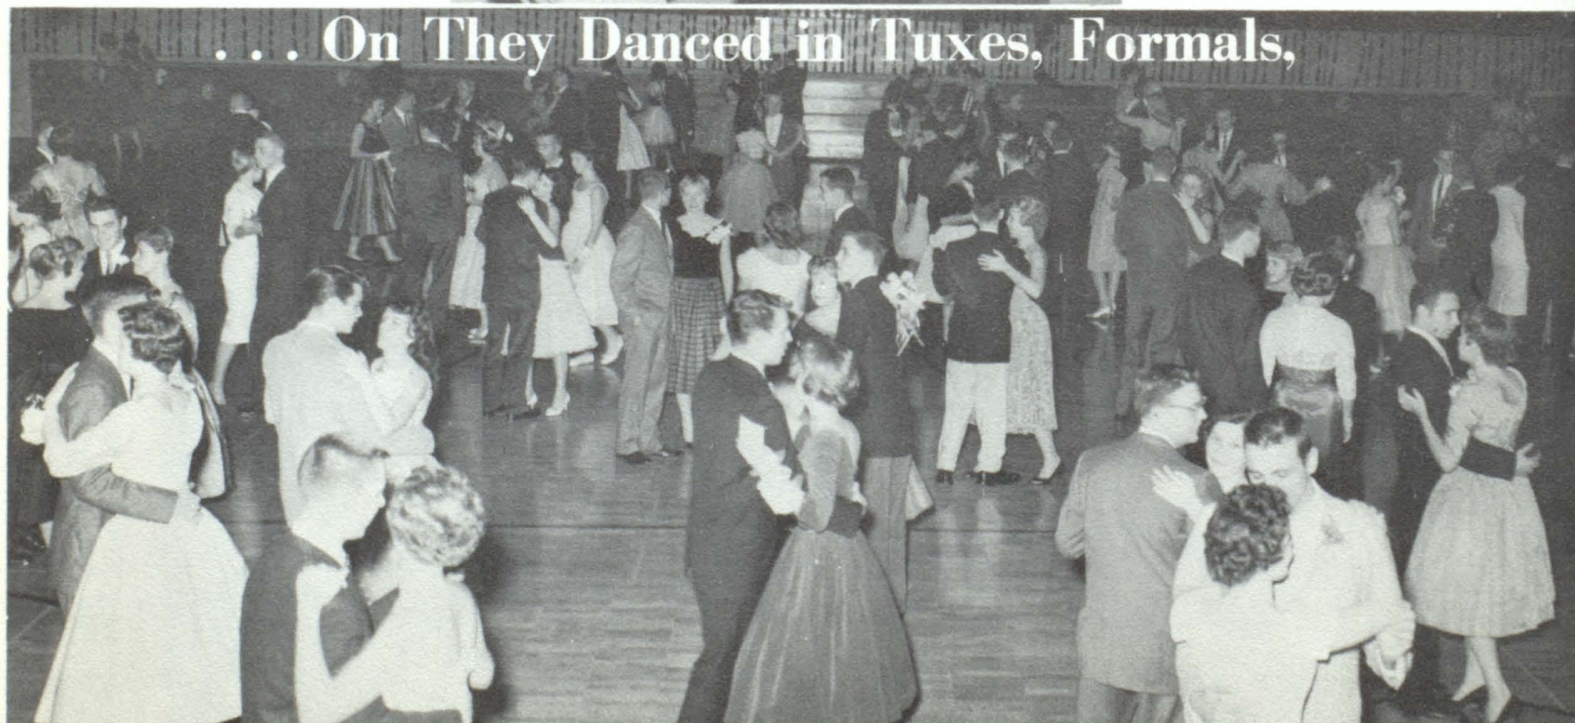

"MY, BUT its warm in there," thinks Ginny Campbell to Ed White, Barb Campbell, and Jerry Kramer.

"JUST THINK of that," says Julie Bush to Pat Folsom! Both had just learned they were among the Homecoming finalists.

DENNIS CUSTANCE, 12 A president, awkwardly adjusts the crown on the head of the delighted Queen, Pat Folsom.

... On They Danced in Tuxes, Formals,

"THESE LOOK like a nice pair — hope they fit," thinks Bill Mortimore as he grabs his choice from a wide selection of up-to-date styles in Royal Oak footwear.

LINDY GAVIN and her date, Al Walker, decide to pay the price of dirty socks and sore feet

BOB DONAGHEY and Ken Pitts spin the latest records at an after-game dance, as Art Armstrong watches avidly, wondering how all those wires, earphones and mikes work.

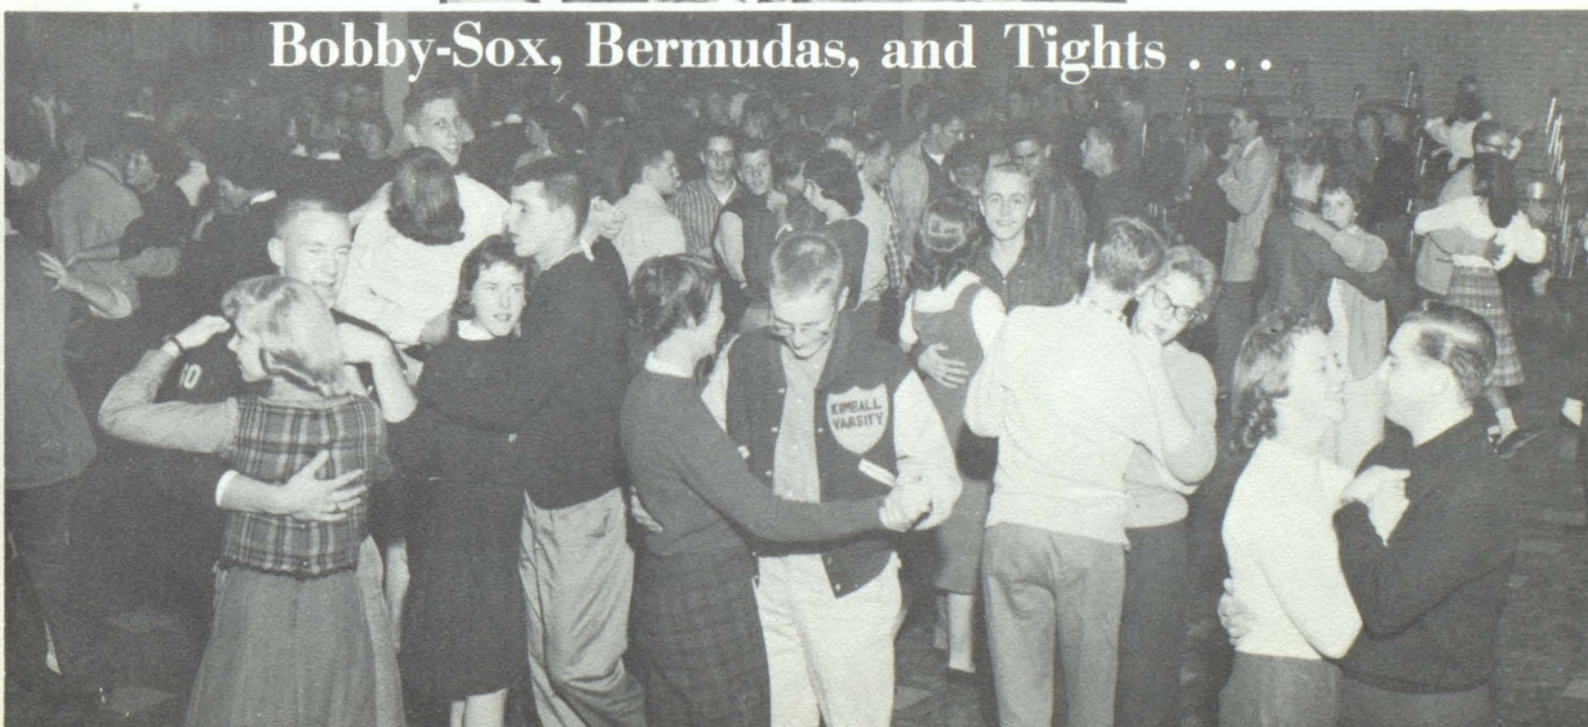

MAN DIG those cool and really hep feet, Shuffling around after the basketball meet! Looks like they once were tidy and neat; You'll find that a sock-hop just can't be beat.

THESE REAL-GONE characters typify one of the many unique scenes, which were found at the NHS "Odd-Ball." Carrying out the theme of this affair, bongos, beatniks, and various other odd attire were the order of the evening.

"... THEN YOU add just a pinch of copper nitrate to the brew," clowns Marguerite in her Chemistry class. "And what do you have — a real honest-to-goodness chemical formula."

A TRADITIONAL party, officiated by Mrs. Ellis and her classes and given in honor of Marguerite's eighteenth birthday, helped acquaint her with American customs and rituals.

"THANK YOU, very much," smiles Gelly, as she performs one of the many official duties of a newspaper staffer, by helping to sell the Herald's final product of toil and trouble for the month.

Long has the tiny country of Switzerland been noted for its beautiful scenery, its great looming mountains, and, above all, its reputation as a nation with world neutrality.

From this land, nestled in the bosom of Europe's vastness, has come a pert, warm, and intelligent ambassador of good will to the doors of Kimball. And to her, Marguerite Schaub, our foreign exchange student from Erstfeld, Switzerland, we dedicate this 1959-60 Lancer.

Gelly, as she has affectionately been nicknamed, has truly earned the applause and approbation of all Knights, for, through her unselfish participation and contributions in our activities such as the Round Table, the HERALD Staff, National Honor Society, Future Teachers, Girl Scouts, Citizenship Conference, GAA, and American Field Service Organization, we have been able to gain a deeper, more human insight into the true meaning of "brotherhood."

AMIDST THE whirl and excitement of her first American formal dance is found Marguerite, dressed in her finery, dancing at the school year's first gala affair with her knight of the evening, Larry Carps.

"HAVING THE same tenses in a paragraph is a must!" says Mr. Rosen to our pleasant foreign exchange student. She is receiving instructions on how to write an article for the HERALD on Christmas in her native land.

"... FROM THE Knights of Kimball to our favorite friend from Switzerland," explains Judie Harvey, vice president of the Roundtable, as she presents the traditional check to Gelly, enabling her to call her family for Christmas.

"SINCE YOU put it that way, I guess I really am pretty stupendous," Dick Kolosa muses, as Bonnie Buchanan lovingly gazes up at him. However, this seems to be a rather one-sided scene of tender love!

SEATED IN a typical, old-fashioned, tin-typed pose characterizing the production of "My Three Angels", is the cast of Kimball's third annual Junior-Senior Play which was presented on November 19-20. Well-deserving of applause

"What do you mean the Salvation Army has the stage for Saturday night? We're supposed to go on at 8 o'clock!" Two days before the time of the scheduled performance, this type of cry was heard by Miss Marcia Kleinman, production-director of Spewack's "My Three Angels", this year's annual Junior-Senior play. But "the show must go on" and it did, (one day earlier) on November 19 and 20.

Presented before two record-breaking crowds, the show delighted the audiences with its unusual scenery,

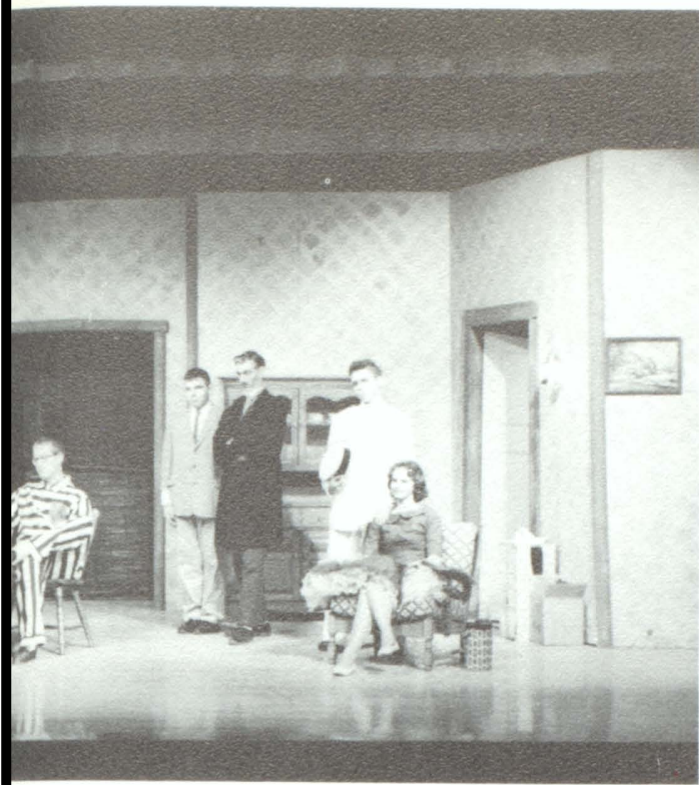

"ALL RIGHT, Bonnie. Rehearsal's on, so please don't take your nap now," urge the "Three Angels".

"IT'S NOT for me, of course . . . if that's the only bottle you have, I'll take it."

"OH WELL! You didn't need that eye anyhow," explains Candy Cieder, as she soothes Bob Baker.

colorful costumes, and sparkling humor.

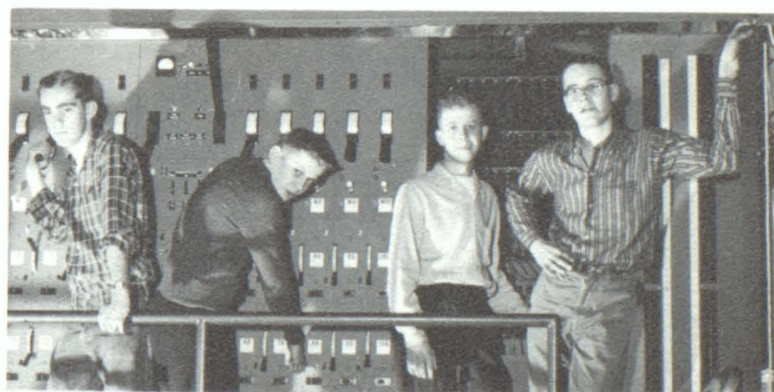

Under the student-directorship of Jim Dyer, the much-applauded cast included Bonnie Buchanan, Barb Perrino, Bob Baker, playing the Ducotel family; and Dave Platt, John Smoke-vitch and Chuck Vogt, portraying the "Three Angels." Jim Black enacted a cunning businessman; Dick Kolosa, played his nephew; while Judy Hoffman and Mark Van Hala were cast in supporting roles.

THE STAGE crew relaxes for a moment after working diligently on the Junior-Senior Play.

CHUCK VOGT rescues Bonnie Buchanan after a fainting spell, while John Smokevitch consoles Barbara Perrino.

January Commencement

1. Mr. Rosen is presenting Karen Schmidt with an award for outstanding work in journalism.
2. Nancy Hibbard is receiving a shorthand award from Miss Hamilton.
3. Mr. Robinson is presenting Marcia Vandebush with an award for her participation in the co-op program.
4. Dave Roberts is receiving a special award for his printing ability from Mr. Pray.
5. Karen Schmidt, Jerry Riutta, Karen Neumann, and Jerry Kramer, members of National Honor Society are being congratulated by Mr. Hoot.
6. Among other members of the National Honor Society from the 12 A class are Karen Hammond and Dennis Custance.
7. Jerry Kramer is shown receiving a science award from Mr. Stoolmiller.
8. Jerilyn Beaudin is being presented with an award for her achievement in typing.
9. An award for participation in the co-op program is being received by Kathy Rockentine.
10. Gail Wheeler is receiving a journalism award for working on the Lancer.

In January the fifty-eight members of the last mid-year class graduated. Their last month was a very busy one. Upon returning from Christmas Vacation, they realized that there were only three weeks of high school remaining for them.

Commencement activities began with the Convocation program. Almost one third of the class received awards for recognition of service or achievement. Speeches were given by Chuck Braun, the Valedictorian, and Jerry Kramer, the Salutatorian.

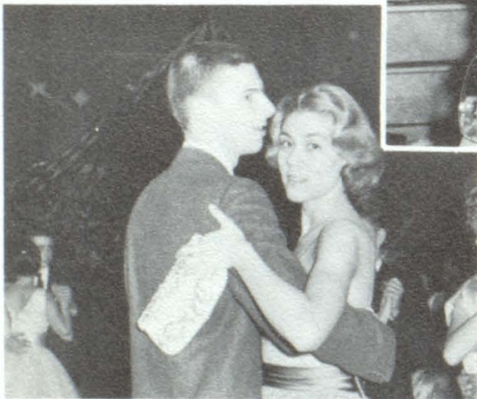

Baccalaureate, an inspirational religious service, was held the following Sunday.

On the night of commencement exercises speeches were made, the class presented, and diplomas were given out.

SENIOR RECEPTION

THE SENIOR Reception marked the beginning of the many activities which preceded Commencement. Parents and students joined together in order to become better acquainted, and parents also had the opportunity to meet the counselor, the principal, and the senior advisor. Refreshments were furnished by the June graduating class and served by the June officers. The officers of the January graduating class were introduced. Everyone received an activities schedule for the remainder of their stay at Kimball. The evening proved to be a very enjoyable one for all who attended.

Final Year of High School Builds

RECEIVING THE gavel of authority, which is traditionally passed from one class presiding officer to another, is Ted Schmidt, June chief executive, who accepts the symbol of office from Dennis Custance, retiring president.

"YOU GO down the green hall and turn right onto the orange. It will be the fourth door on your right," says Sue Chappell. Sara Douglas seems to approve of the directions being given to these bewildered parents. Members of FTA, Round Table, and Hi-Y helped make "Meet the Teacher Night" a success.

"BUT HOW are we going to tell if they're good enough to serve, unless we test to make sure?" ask Nancy Graver, Pam Scherer, Barb Rule, Dorothy Carruthers, Melissa Messier, Linda Kramer, and Judy Gale. These Future Teachers seem to be pleased with their "duties."

IT'S A proud moment in the FTA initiation ceremony for these teachers to be, as they have their membership corsages pinned on them by Gail Wheeler. Let's hope all these girls will make fine teachers.

Lasting Memories For June Graduates

SO THIS is the way you do your English 8, Janice Hamal and Roger Geiger? Well, if Mr. Rosen wasn't taking this picture, he'd surely have something to say about your study habits.

The last year, that "Big Senior Year", is now coming to a close for the June grads. All of the activities and happenings throughout the year are fading to memories — never to be forgotten. That fall PTA Open House, where you directed lost parents to lost rooms, and the FTA initiation that inspired you to enter Education will ever be remembered.

"DON'T TRIP now," mumbles Carole Sander to Linda Gebhart as they lead the Lancer sales parade during a pep assembly. This publicity aided the Lancer Staff in reaching their quota of 875 yearbooks.

CADET TEACHER Janice Gebell is extremely pleased with the response she is receiving from students in a first grade in Kimball's elementary section. As a member of Future Teacher's Club, Janice has an opportunity to spend one week of each semester in a school

Great Were the Days

"TWENTY CENTS for that green thing?" asks Karen Porter. Pat Putnam patiently explains that "that green thing" is an avocado.

A "FAITHFUL" hall patrol, Gloria Gonda, is helping Sue Scholle cut out paper dolls for her scrapbook.

"THAT SURE was a big bite," says Elaine Latkowski to Leslie Dalrymple while the others chuckle in agreement.

Of Crazy Campaigns,

sponsored teaching program. From this she gains a better understanding of the field of education. This experience will be of great value in helping her to choose a career.

ONE MIRROR just isn't enough when three hardy seniors, Pat Putnam, Rickee Gilbert, and Barry Johnson get together to make necessary repairs and adjustments.

Lightning Lunch Hours

"BUT I can't brush after EVERY meal!" exclaims hungry senior Dorothy Locy.

And Trial Teaching

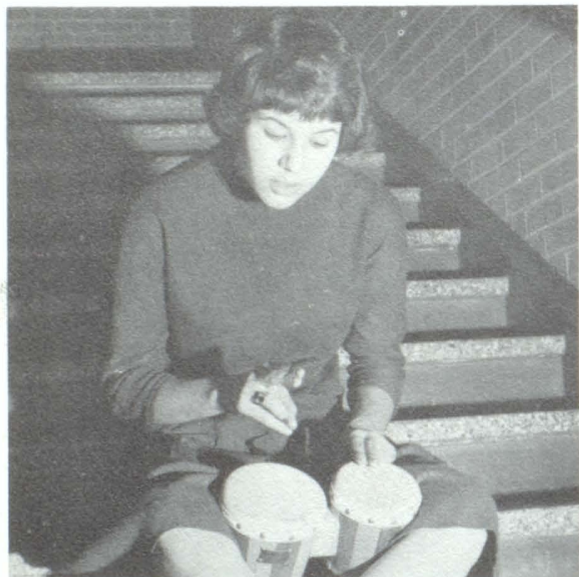

PREPARING TO escort the graduating January seniors down the aisle to their commencement were Margaret Hurley and Dorothy Locy, dressed in their matching class color dresses.

"MAN, ARE you making me sick!" groans Skip Armstrong, as he watches Ed Place caress his grapefruit.

"I KNOW it breaks your heart, but hand it over anyway," exclaims Rasma Britts to Senior Pin purchasers, Lloyd Edwards and Wally Dean, who do their share to fill the senior cash-box.

"HEY PAM!" Get off the stairs with those-bongos — you're blocking traffic. Beatnik Day brought out an array of green eye shadow, straight hair, and as with Pam Haddad, bongos.

"OH, DON'T tell me she did," glows Lindy Gavin, as Mellisa Hockings thinks, "Will wonders never cease." Gossiping, primping, and very little homework were among the things accomplished in the senior homeroom.

"ALASKA OR Bust," winks Iris Cracknell to her gold-digging prospector buddy, Leslie Dalrymple, as they prepare for a skit in Advanced Speech class. With their trusty map, they will surely have no trouble arriving there.

OLD SLOPPY sweatshirts, combined with worn levis; black tights and green eyeshadow; and neat suits and sharp dresses characterized the official Senior Slob, Beatnik, and Dress-up days which plagued the opening days of classes. Lunch hours, continually spent stationed outside of the cafeteria for the purpose of selling one thing or another, were common to many seniorites.

In Classes Or Out--Fun Was

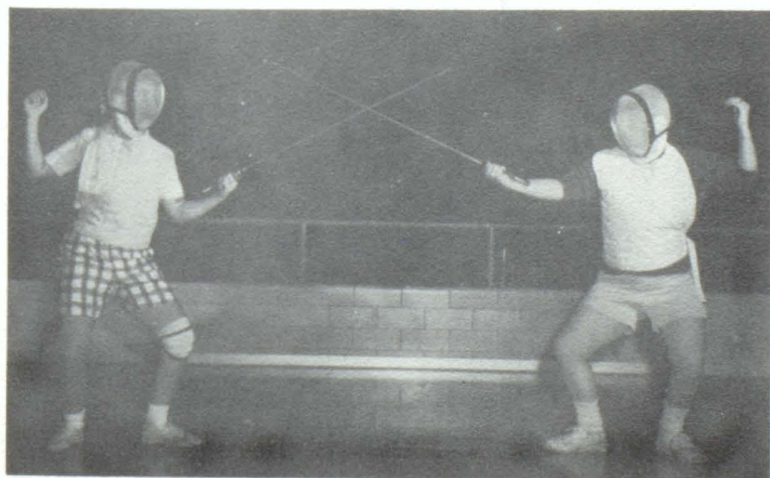

COOL, CASUAL, and strictly in the styles, in their uncommonly attractive sweatshirts, neatly creased pants and tidily pressed shirts, are these avid participants of the official Senior Slob Day: Ron Sparrow, Barry Johnson, Dave Ross, Dave Williams, and Bill Spreen.

STEVE OTTATI seems to be spurring on Diane Stewart, Dick Pollard, and Paul Anderson who are completing projects for their art and crafts class, which has been affectionately nicknamed "Mud Pie II".

And then there were those unusual courses and the inspiring class projects, which stamped the senior mind with a new academic awareness. November elections found the seniors of Mrs. Ellis' government classes working feverishly to promote the local candidates. Odd jewelry and even more eccentric clay models were products of the Crafts classes, while turkeys roasted in the advanced Food classes.

The Word Of Busy Seniors

AS YOU pass the girls' gym you may hear the cry "En Garde", which no doubt would come from the girls who are taking fencing. Although usually connected with the manly arts of chivalry, most girls enjoy it also.

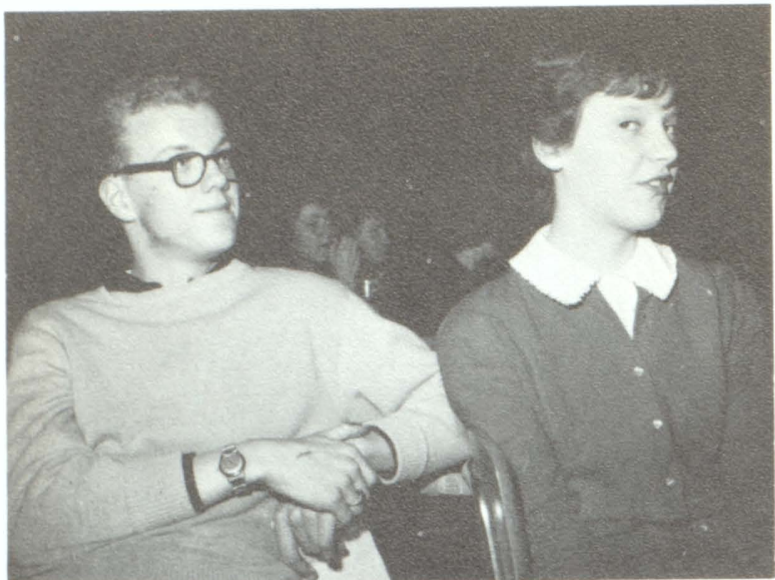

CHUCK ROSENBERG and Howard Vanderbeck are skeptical about their new "trig" teacher. He seems to resemble a famous senior student, whose picture has been featured on the cover of a well-known newspaper.

"UMMM, THAT smells good," thinks Joanne Kaufman while Kay Clave and Carol Lammi baste the turkey. Many Kimball students would have enjoyed seeing this turkey on their Thanksgiving table.

MAYOR WILLIAM Hayward is pointing out the various voting districts in Royal Oak to one of Kimball's government classes. As future citizens, these students will find this information necessary.

"(PANT! PANT!) Do you really think he is looking at me? questions Ann Goullaud, as she casually glances at Paul Anderson.

"AND THEN he said I had a basketball nose . . . because it was dribbling all over the floor," sniffs Barbara Campbell.

"GEE, I wish Lloyd would let me play cards . . . guess he doesn't consider me as one of the boys," dreams Donna De-Witt.

"AH, AND now for 'the pause that refreshes,'" thinks Phyllis Swayze. She is enjoying one of the many pleasures of a senior party.

A YEAR LIKE

"HOLD STILL now, Lyndie," commands Judy Gale. "Here, all you need is just a touch of lipstick . . . whoops!"

MANY AND varied are the problems of a yearbook editor. Chewing a pencil sometimes helps, eh, Diana?

NONE OTHER

"O.K. YOU asked for it, Miss Gavin," threatens Judy, as she plunges (with lipstick in hand) toward her victim.

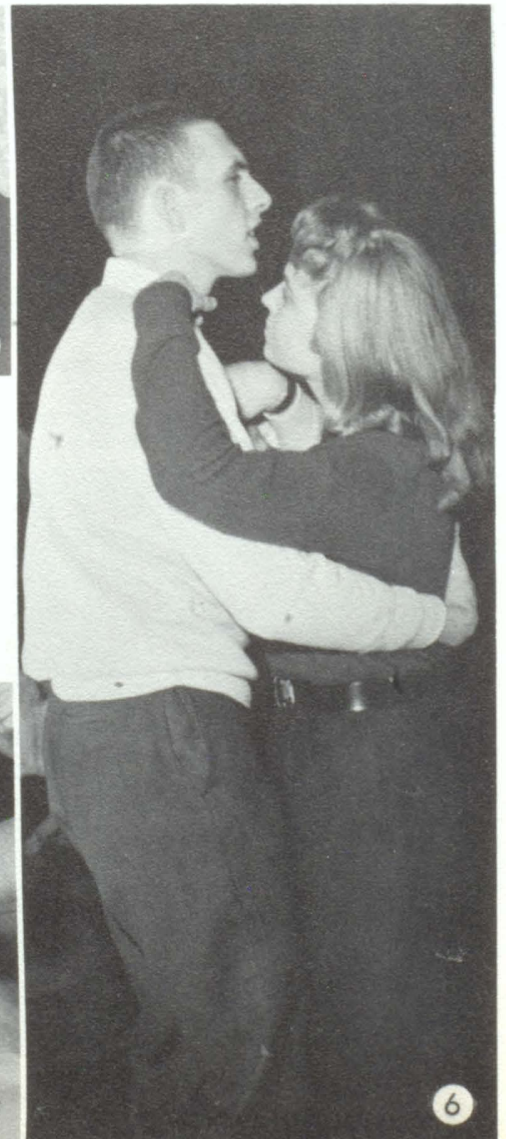

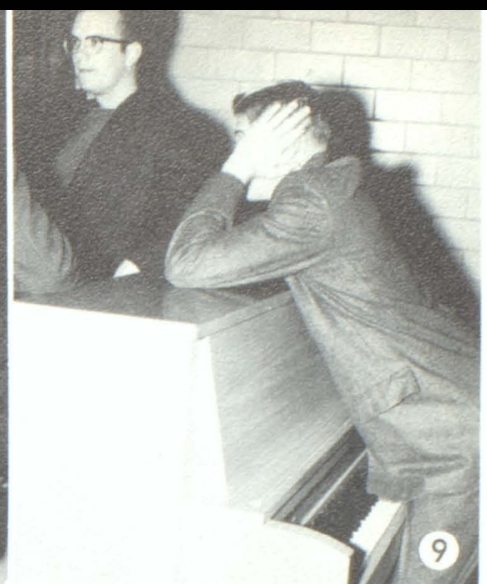

TELEVISION COMMERICALS certainly have an effect these days. Lee Francis is taking time out to make her eyes "Maybel-line" beautiful.

"HIS NUMBER must be here someplace," thinks Judy Harvey, making a last desperate attempt for a date for the Varsity Drag.

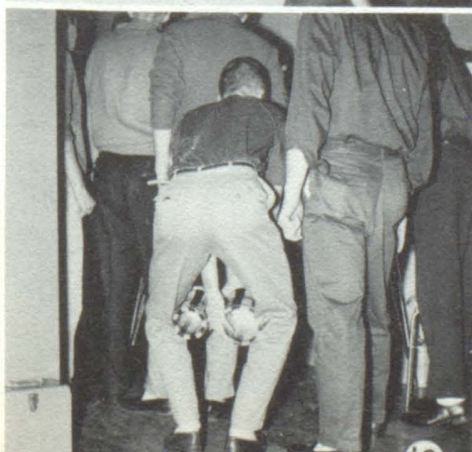

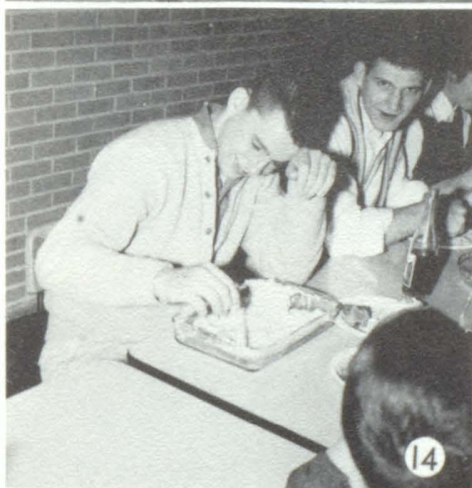

ONE PHYSICS 2 class is inconveniently scheduled for seventh hour. Frank Sellgren's expression seems to plead: Won't this period ever end?

1. A dance with a queen — Kimball's second official Football Queen.
2. Careful there, Margaret. Don't snatch any of those cookies.
3. Man, like it's not the Tantrum . . . but it'll do!
4. Ah, you minuet so well, Gary.
5. It's sure taking them a long time to finish my portrait.
6. One more crack like that, and I'll bite your neck!
7. Ouch! Would you please dance on your own feet — not mine.
8. I just dropped an eyelash in the fudge.
9. I guess John is about to sing.
10. Double, double, toil and trouble.
11. Wooley Segap to the rescue.
12. Good to the very last drop.
13. A-A-A-A-A-H ! ! !
14. Hurry up Forier, I get 'er next.
15. Back to back, and belly to belly . . .

DOES ANYONE have a lamp handy? The electricity from Sarah Bingaman's hair might light it up. Jo Ciaccio waits to try another hair-do on her experimental subject.

ENJOYING A life of ease in the lap of luxury is Gil Ogden with fellow seniors, Nancy Graver and Vicki Carney.

"MAN, DO you look different with my glasses off," drawls Pat Rossoll to her beat-nik buddy Jerry Riutta. This couple attended the N. H. S. "Odd-Ball" and found particular interest in the Art Show.

"HMMMM! He IS cute! thinks Marg Schaub, Kimball's nicest exchange student. A little unaccustomed at first, it is now evident that she has quickly caught on to our American ways.

ABOVE ALL, senior boys like to relax and have a good time. Home-room provides an excellent opportunity.

GOOD LOOKING senior legs provide the locomotion for this fiery dragon who snarls a warning to all acorns.

"HELLO, OPERATOR? We seem to have some sort of a faulty connection here," muses Paul Anderson. "It's not that I really mind, but I would like that dime back."

SOLEMNLY DISPLAYING their unusually lovely moth-eaten creations called "ties" are Lloyd Edwards, Gary Barton, and John Leggat.

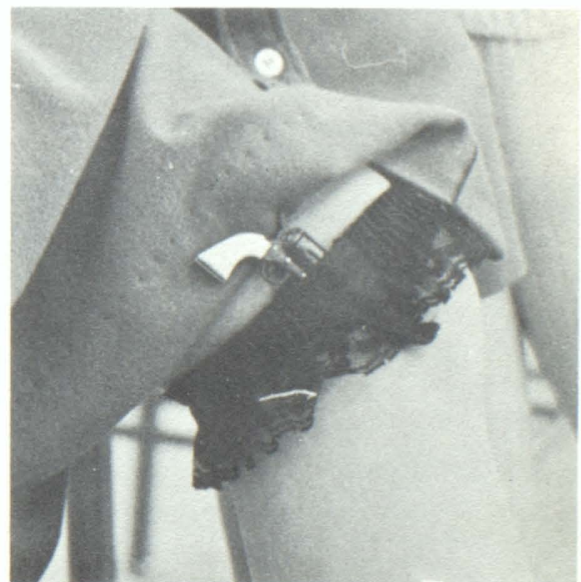

S H E N N A N I G A N S

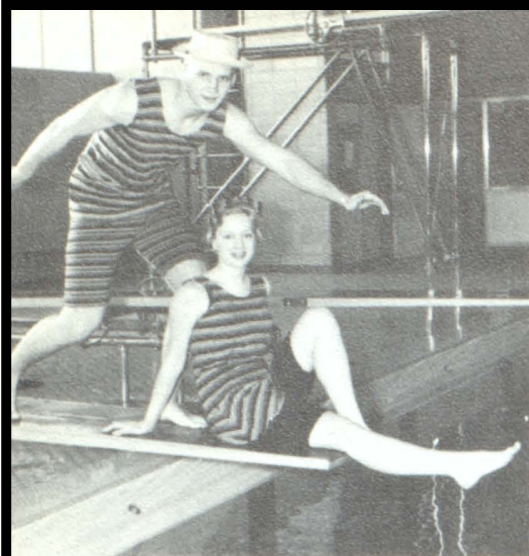

"HEY, WALLY! Would you please tell Vicki that she is sitting on my . . ." whispers Jim Hamilton to Wally Dean, as Vicki Carney reads her poetry, unconcerned.

"OHHHHH — like way out," moans Linda Gebhart, as she literally withers to the sound of the real gone music of the "Expressos" at the NHS Odd Ball.

It's no secret

That picking the right kind of job after graduation is mighty important.

And the right one, you'll agree, is the one that gives you the most of what you want in a job—interesting work, good wages, vacations with pay, friendly associates, security and a chance for promotion.

So, if you're graduating this year and are looking for a really worthwhile job, why not drop in soon at our employment office? It's at
