Volume 42

1999

The mission of Kimball High School is to educate all students in the knowledge, thinking skills, and communication skills necessary for responsible participation in a changing society.

Kimball High School

1500 Lexington Blvd
Royal Oak, MI 48073

We Conquered through Spirit

As freshmen we entered Kimball and saw opportunities. We took charge, put forth our best effort and supported our school. This year Kimball students stood by our school in various ways, such as, participating in spirit week. One week a year

Kimball students dressed up according to the theme of the day: twin day, senior dress-up day, blue & gold and tacky day. When senior Andy Caponi was asked what his favorite theme was he excitedly answered, "twin day, because Rob Chapman and I like to wear our spandex and white tank tops."

Other than participating in spirit week, students participated within Kimball by joining clubs, athletics and by attending sporting events. Jenny Lawrey, senior captain of Dance Team was questioned on how she contributed to school spirit she responded "Before every home football game I decorated the field." After four years at Kimball we came, we saw, we conquered through academics, athletics and activities and made it through this time in our lives, but never did we fail to show our spirit.

After a tiring football practice seniors Adam Brewster and Chad Roberts still had energy to smile.

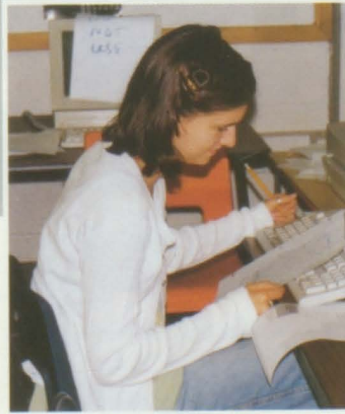

The school store was always a fun place especially for seniors Bree Sleek and Matt Demay.

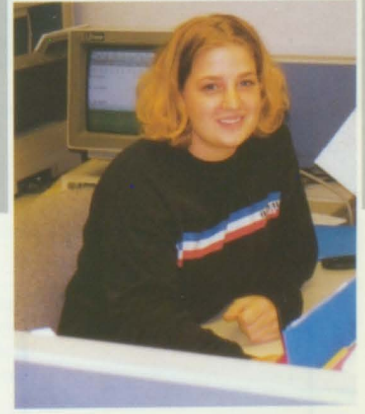

Mr. Elicker always kept Chrissy Trost busy in A.P. English.

Katie Rogan rarely sits down when working in the office.

Trisha Fantucci always smiles when working in the office.

"We set our expectations high and Kimball hasn't let us down yet, but we have to move on to bigger and better things," commented senior Abbey Rondo.

All Good Things Must Come to an End...

Veni, Vidi, Vici. We came, we saw, we conquered. As we walked into Kimball we saw what it was like to be in high school. Sophomore and Junior years we got more involved in school activities and saw that there is more to high school than just school work. Now as Seniors, we are concluding our four years at Kimball. We have conquered our own trials. As we look back at this year's Lancer we can sit back and enjoy all the fun and exciting things we have done this year. Abbey Rondo, a senior, when asked what Veni, Vidi, Vici meant to her said, "We set our expectations high and Kimball hasn't let us down yet, but we have to move on to bigger and better things. High school has been the best time of our life, but everything must come to an end. There are tons of challenges at Kimball both socially and academically, but each one of us rose to the challenge." Rondo concluded by saying, "All good things must come to an end, it's just too bad they had to end so soon." Now, we will have to look at the future ahead of us. But keep in mind all the wise words that have been taught to us in the past. "Remember yesterday, dream of tomorrow, but live for today."

All School Picnic

"I had a lot of fun at this year's All School Picnic; I can hardly wait until next year!" said Junior Kate Brennan.

Picnic Pals

Every year the student body, friends, family, and teachers join in the fun at the All School Picnic. The picnic alone is a blast. What else could you ask for? From the chipping golf game to the guess your weight game to stuffing your face with hot dogs, the picnic was an all around fun time for all the ages. Senior Joe Doman commented, "I think this year was the biggest turn out ever, and it's exciting to see all of the fans at the football game because we need the support." With booths around the courtyard, representing every club, students soon realized they had many activities to choose from. "I liked the Varsity Club Guessing Game that was a pretty cool idea," stated sophomore Katie Craft. "The whole experience was fun and exciting," said freshman Ashley Moritz. Sarah Kabacinski, an outgoing senior, was happy to share her experiences of her last All School Picnic. She said, "I was fine up until I went to the golf booth, then I just broke down, I couldn't believe this was my last one, I'll never forget it!" Sarah continued, "The one thing that I will miss the most is getting my face painted by the lovely Courtney Zielinski, she does such a good job."

Liz Carter-Penny shows her stuff by doing an excellent job painting faces.

Freshmen Kathryn Caruso and Julie Gleason get involved with the Kimball Varsity Club.

Who's got spirit?.....Brandon Ohman and the Varsity Club, that's who.

The Acapella Choir tunes up for the All School Picnic.

Meredith Simmons, along with the rest of the Drama Club, shows her talent in the song "Coffee Break."

This year's officers of Dance Company, Samantha Sage, Audrey Lance, Hilary Urick, and Katie Rogan, reveal some of their stunning moves.

Kimball's Varsity football team get themselves ready to pounce Ferndale.

"It was really fun playing on the same football team with my younger brother this year, even though it only lasted one year!" commented senior quarterback Joe Doman.

Siblings In the Hall

"Leave 5 minutes after I do, stay on the opposite side of the street and when we get to school don't even think about acknowledging me." If you think that this sounds a little harsh, it should. It's the nature of siblinghood.

Here at Kimball, although, not as evident as it should be, there are many groups of people from the same gene pool. There are the Byrdak girls, The Dolbee duel, The Gleason greets just to name a few. When these siblings were asked how they liked going to the same school, there was a wide range of responses from "It's great" to "It's my worst nightmare." When Jim and Julie Gleason were asked they both responded that "it is definitely different but fun at the same time." Julie complained that "the mandatory poundings every time I walk by Jimmy are starting to get a little old." Jenny Dolbee responded, "I love seeing my little brother in the halls. He is so cute!" John, on the other hand, said he hated it. "It's my worst nightmare; she's there all day waiting to rat on me, for something I did." When we spoke to Liz and Kristen Byrdak they both complained about the same thing, "she's always taking my clothes."

Liz and Kristen Byrdak enjoy going to school together.

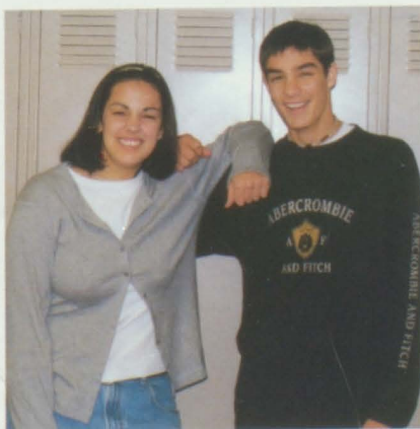

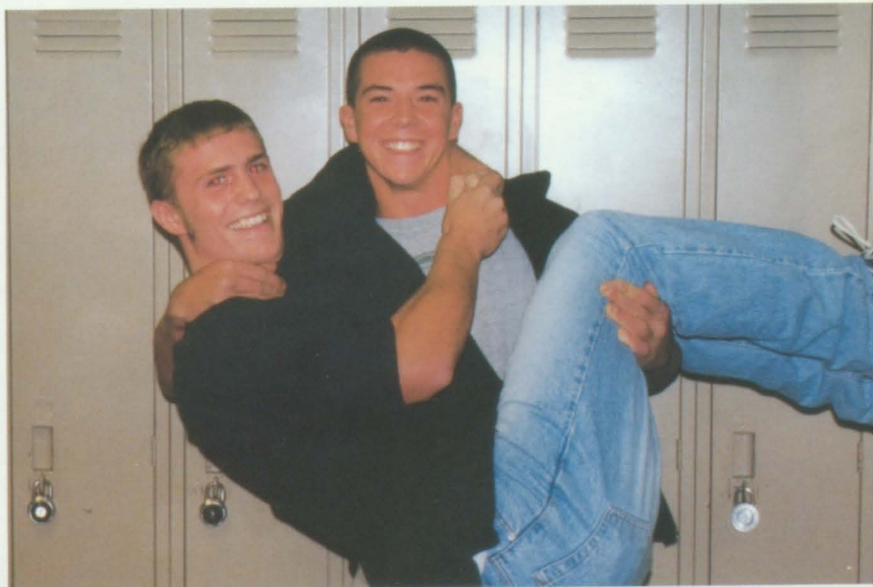

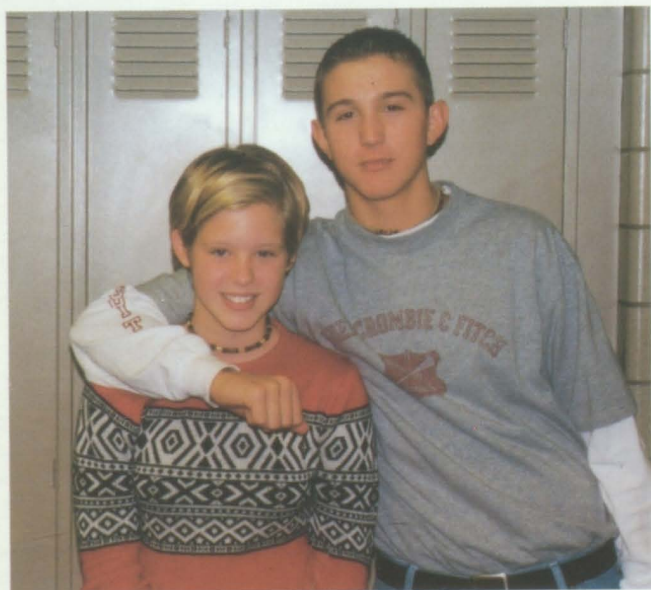

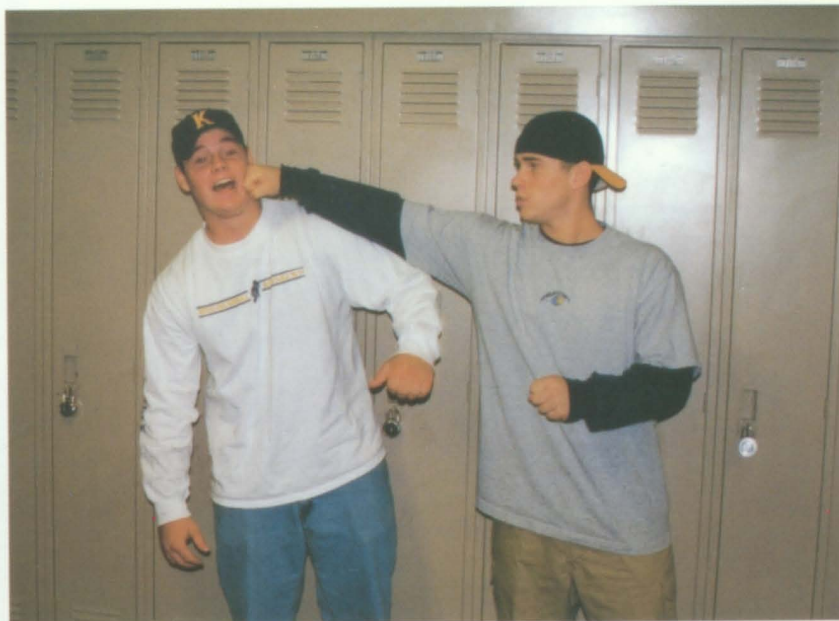

The Doman Duo, Andy and Joe: The Football Brothers.

Freshman Julie Gleason said she really loves her brother, Jimmy, even though he doesn't show it.

Basketball brothers Dan and Mike Malley, clown around in the halls.

Always having fun in the hallways, were the Brewsters, Adam and Aaron.

John Dolbee enjoyed the attention his older sister, Jenny, gave him in the halls.

The Farhats, Nancy and John enjoyed being Roundtable Representatives together.

The Beginning of The End

Before we knew it senior year was here and then over. "I am thrilled that I am finally a senior and am a little sad for it to be over," commented Katie Coon. Senior year was one of the most memorable years of the high school experience. Sending out college applications, making future plans, growing up and reflecting on the past.... it was a time when we began to say good-bye to our school, home and friends and started to embrace the rest of our lives.

When senior Jeff Cluff was asked, "what has influenced you the most," he stated, "The social bonds I have obtained through laughter, tears and triumph." Senior Bree Sleek added, "I agree. The relationships I have made have helped to mold me to who I am now."

The class of 1999 has had a wonderful experience and will never forget the years we spent here at Kimball. Life is a funny thing. For four years we have been counting the days until we were able to leave. Now, as the final hour approaches, our hearts are saddened as our trip has finally reached a halt. It was a fantastic voyage. See you at the reunions.

Oona Wieske and Liz Kruckemeyer don't let the stress of AP English keep them from smiling.

A group of seniors gathers in the hall for a quick smile before the bell rings.

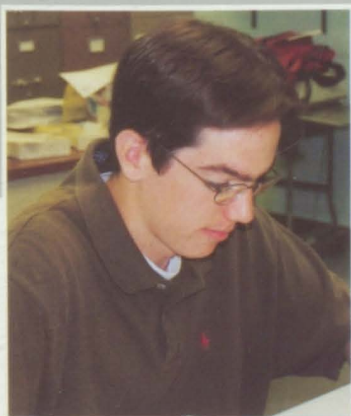

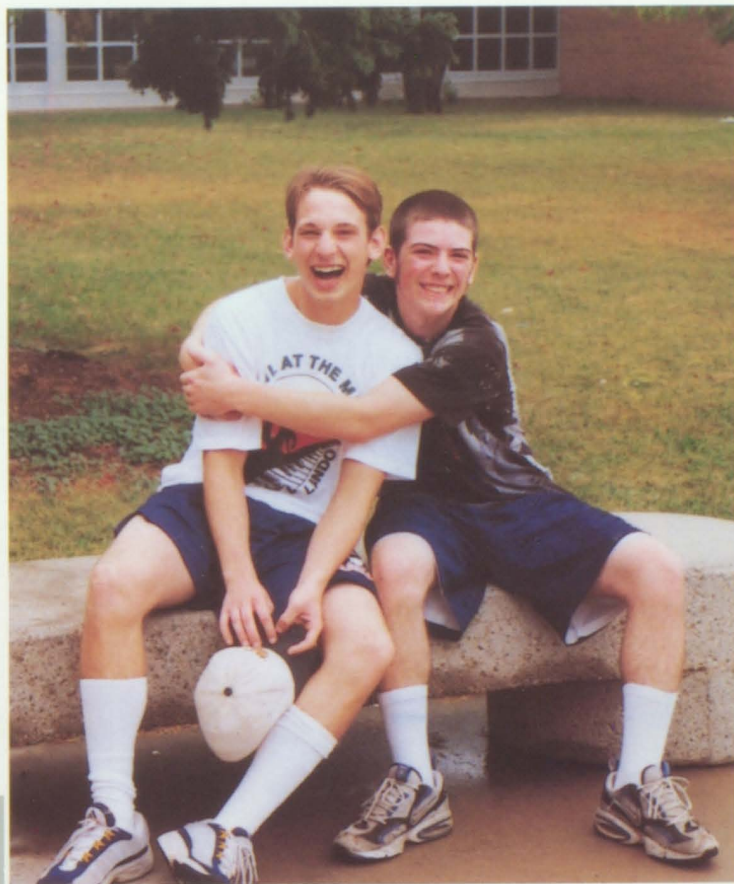

Math class is always interesting, especially for this ram-bunctious group of seniors.

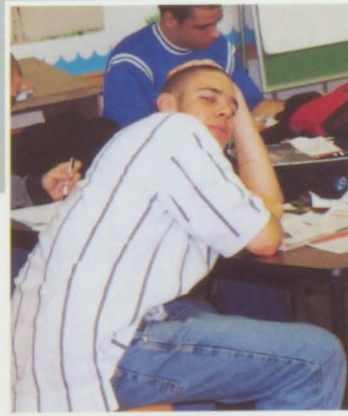

Best friends Rob Chapman and Andy Caponi always show their love for each other even in gym class.

Kimball Students Are Taking One Step At a Time

High school was in fact the prime time in our lives. Although we may not realize it, we were maturing and discovering life as we went along. The people who were in our classes may have become our friends for life. Even little things, like walking down the hall, having discussions in class or going to lunch, became treasured memories. One of Trisha Fantucci's '99 favorite times in school was sixth hour. "As a senior I have more electives and enjoy helping out in the office." As seniors anticipated their departure, juniors kept climbing to the top of the ladder. Heather Hahenberg '00 commented, "I want to get good grades so I can graduate and go on to college." Meanwhile the sophomores were trying to make the best of times! The freshmen entered a new phase of their lives, trying to figure out what it's all about. Matt Miller '02 proudly stated, "Being a freshman is hard but everyone's got to live it!" All in all, Kimball students lived day by day, slowly realizing the meaning of life, choosing the words that would guide us. to our future.

Let's Celebrate!

"Without a doubt, I would have to say that the Fourth of July is the greatest holiday. I especially love the fireworks," stated Nichole Vanderhoff.

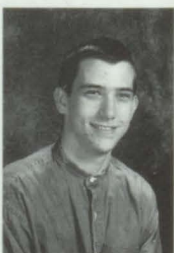

Whether it was a day of decorating trees or even a day of sending cards to loved ones, the juniors all seemed to have developed a favorite holiday.

When Melissa Janik was asked what her favorite holiday was, she instantly replied that it was Christmas. "I love Christmas because we get a long break from school and I get to spend time with my family. And I love getting presents from everyone!" However, Meghan Sheppard claimed, "I don't have a favorite holiday because every holiday was filled with memories that will stick with me for the rest of my life."

Julie Green, Kelley Lipski, and Bill Coon enjoyed sharing their memories about their favorite holidays.

Count Your Pennies

"I have been saving my money so that I can buy myself a set of really nice golf clubs. Even though I don't play I want to take up the sport," commented junior Kate Brennan.

With all the major costs that today's teenagers are facing we have to ask, how do you plan on covering these costs? Mike Ferber plans on covering his spring break charges with his paperboy money. "I've been working for 3 years with that Cancun trip in mind. Mexico, here I come!" Meghan Sheppard has higher learning in her plans. "Working at Einsteins all summer helped defray the cost of my college education." Automobile costs are something else that haunt juniors. Beth Leibold said "I'm lucky, my parents are paying for both my insurance and my gas costs."

Brittany St. James cuts coupons to save her money.

Spring Break Hopes...

"I will definitely be able to go wherever I want for spring break my senior year. I really have my mom wrapped around my finger," stated Dave Sturza.

The junior class of 2000 could always be caught in the halls day-dreaming about their spring break plans for senior year.

When asked, Toby Heap shared, "The best part of spring break is that I will feel much more mature being without adults."

Beth Leibold stated, "I really want to go on a cruise." Although a cruise would be nice, many juniors couldn't afford it. "I would love to go on a cruise if I had some money," commented Jenny Monette.

Wherever the class of 2000 plans on going for spring break their senior year, they plan on having fun.

Old Habits Die Hard!

"I have a habit of twitching my head, blinking my eyes and snorting when people make me laugh," said junior Aaron Brewster.

Within the class of 2000, many students were facing the same types of problems. Liz Byrdak cited, "my habit is biting my fingernails and I've been trying to break it since the first grade. Some juniors battled stranger tendencies. "I crack my toes and that's bad because it sometimes wakes me up in the middle of the night and I can't get back to sleep," commented Julie Green. "It's a habit that I've had for as long as I can remember." Megan Cunningham had a different way of handling her habit. She said, "I just have my friends hit me every time I say the word 'dude'."

Quirky Cars

"After my '87 Ford Taurus hit 75 mph, it would start shaking--cruising the expressway was not a favorite pastime." - Dan Steffy '00

Whether it was the dead of winter or the peak of summer, Liz Byrdak '00 found no relief in her car. "My heater and my air conditioner both didn't work, she confessed. Future passengers beware: when Liz got a lead foot the radio got louder, when she needed to brake the tunes faded.

The junior class emerged as new car owners with less than new cars. Similar stories were shared between key-holding juniors.

Dan Laughlin '00 considered Byrdak lucky, "my car radio didn't work at all!" he exclaimed.

Juniors inevitably brought character to their cars, although the majority started out with some.

Favorite Features

"My awesome kiss-up ability has gotten me through two years of high school and I only have two more to go," admitted Liz Carter-Penney.

Most of us have a favorite or best feature about ourselves. Some are too shy to admit this. Some are very proud of their special features. Here are some sophomores who were willing to speak up about themselves.

Mike Neville commented, "My favorite feature is my lack of size. I can fit in small places, like people's trunks."

"My best feature is my flexibility. Girls love when I put my foot behind my head," stated Dan Malley.

Haley McEwen said her favorite feature is her ability to talk really fast.

No Longer a Frosh

"I was just happy that I got the chance to play on both the Junior Varsity Soccer Team and the Freshman Basketball Team," commented Matt Schoch.

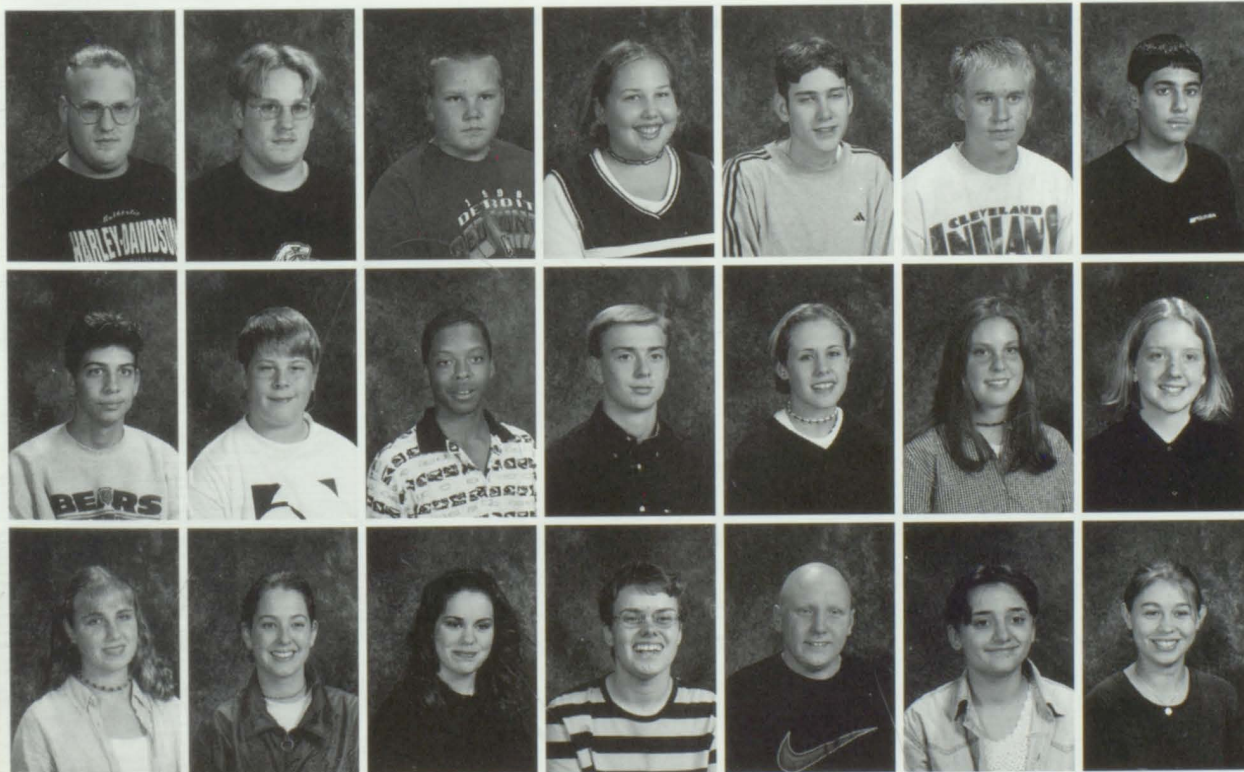

Sophomores had a big year to look forward to with serious studies and driver's ed to fill the time. What will they remember about sophomore year?

"I shot a 39 at Wabek Country Club my freshman year," commented Paul Falcon. "I love being in a big school, it is so exciting," said Eric Peltonen.

"All I wanted to do is get good grades," said Jon Spencely.

Pet Peeves

"I can't stand it when people come over to my house and throw their shoes down in a big pile," complained Nicole Nafso.

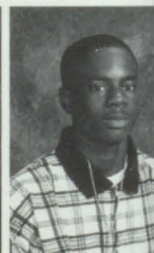

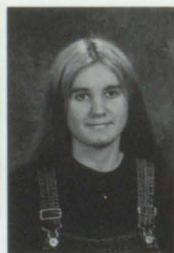

Every single one of us has that one pet peeve about people that simply drives us crazy. "I get so incredibly angry when people crack their knuckles in front of me," shouted Erica Vandenberg.

"I can't stand it when people lick their fingers after they eat," proclaimed Karly Peet. Mike Neville agreed with Karly but thinks it's worse when someone else answers his phone. "I absolutely hate it when people do that," cried Mike.

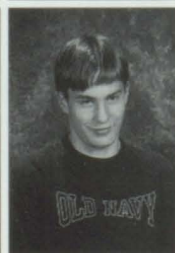

Whether it's knuckle cracking, or finger licking, everyone has some type of pet peeves they have to live with.

After School...

"Getting Involved makes time go by faster and keeps you busy. Also, get involved in more than one activity, you won't regret it!"
-Megan Sturner

If you ask any Kimball graduates what their favorite memories of high school were, they most likely are going to talk about an after school activity. Being involved in school made a high school career much more enjoyable. Whether it was sports, National Honor Society, Drama Club or SEA, students who participated had more fun. Megan Sturner, a sophomore, said Dance Club was her favorite club. Sturner was also involved in SADD, Choir, and Softball. Megan said that getting involved made "time go by faster" and "keeps you busy." All agreed getting involved was the best.

Rachel Short was involved in many activities including Womens Ensemble where she learned to read music.

Looking Back

"What a wonderful faculty is memory!-the most mysterious and inexplicable in the great riddle of life; that plastic tablet on which the Almighty registers with unerring fidelity the records of being, making it a depository of all our words, thoughts, and deeds-this faithful witness against us for good or evil."

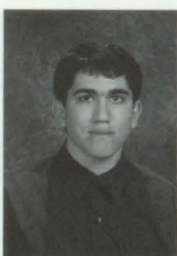

Susanna Moodie

Getting pushed around and getting lost are all memories of the past for this year's sophomores. "We heard rumors of the things that happened to freshmen, but nothing ever happened to me," said Sue DePassio. Some others weren't so lucky. Nick Moritz got lost on the first day and asked an upperclassman where his class was. "As I looked around and saw that everyone was bigger than me, I realized I was directed to the wrong class," Nick said. Despite these mishaps, Paul Falcon learned a valuable lesson his freshman year. "If you stay out of people's way, they'll stay out of yours."

Frosh Futures

"“I would like to play football in college, and the University of Michigan has an excellent football program” commented Adam Briggs.

The freshman class had high expectations for the future. When asked where they would like to attend college, the most popular response was the University of Michigan.

“I would like to play football in college, and the University of Michigan has an excellent football program,” stated Adam Briggs. Like Adam, Lyndsay Richards also hopes to go to U of M. “Playing volleyball for the University of Michigan would be a great experience.”

High Expectations

"I plan on getting better grades than my brother; that shouldn't be too hard," smirked Julie Gleason.

Before even setting foot inside the halls of Kimball, freshmen already had many goals in their minds for their high school career. Brad Watson confided "I plan on being on the Principal's List all four years." He remarked "It will be tough but as long as I budget my time and work really hard I will manage."

With sports in mind, Dan Pickman commented "I want to make J.V. soccer, basketball, and baseball." Kathryn Caruso agreed with both guys "I just want to do my best both academically and on the basketball court." If these freshmen do what they plan to, they will all achieve success!

Trapped During Lunch

"It's not fair that we have closed campus lunch. We haven't had any chances to mess anything up yet," complained David Dillon.

Tyeesha Emerson wasn't a big fan of the cafeteria food. "I liked to bring my lunch and eat inside," she recounted.

Chris Lafleur preferred munching on his curly fries outside in the courtyard when the weather was nice. Inside or out, the freshman class was confined to Kimball boundaries during lunch. Denis Kulla argued, "We're in high school too—we should have the same rights as the older kids." One more year of closed campus awaits the class of 2002; these frosh were already looking forward to lunch without a styrofoam tray. Bon appetit!

First Impressions

"Everything here is big. Kimball is humungo!" commented Brian Cook.

The first day of high school...upperclassmen...huge halls...tough classes. Kimball may seem massive at first, but the freshmen eventually adjust. Kristen DeMay was hopeful, "I thought that Kimball was a big school, with lots of people and lots of opportunities."

"When I first came to Kimball, I thought all the kids looked huge," Joe Leibold admitted. "I look at upperclassmen as the leaders of the school," Matt Rutkoske expressed. As Clint Thompson emphasized, "Only four years 'til the top" as he added "GO KIMBALL KNIGHTS!"

Following In Footsteps

"I love going to the same school as my sister, she is very nice to me when I see her in the halls, a lot nicer than she is at home," commented John Dolbee

Can you imagine having an older sibling at the same school as you? For some it is fun, for others it is just another thing to worry about.

When asked how she felt about being in school with her older sister, Kristin Byrdak commented, "It's o.k., Liz is really nice, she always gives me rides to school." Kelly Martin exclaimed, "I love going to school with my sister, she always says hi when I see her in the hallway." Ashley Moritz has different views, Ashley replied, "My older brother is always really mean to me whenever I see him."

These freshmen love having older siblings at Kimball with them.

Teachers Have Homework, Too!

"Teachers are not only educators, but friends as well."
-Calvin Wilson

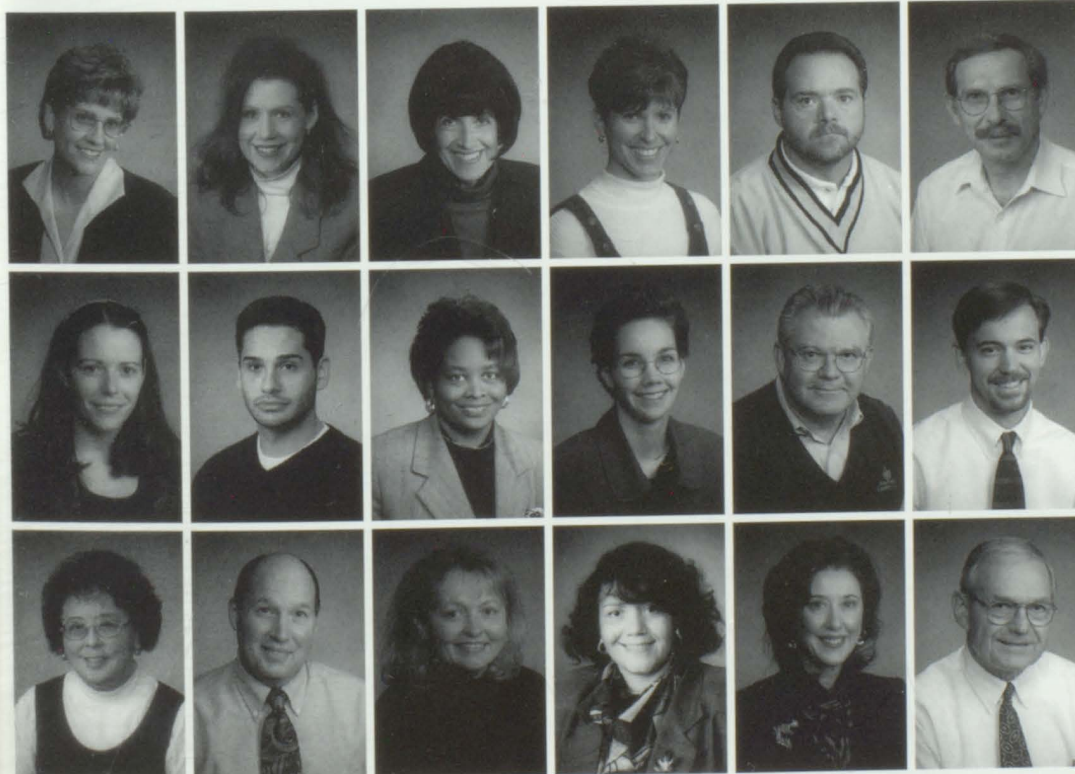

Most Kimball students do not realize how much time and effort teachers spend outside of school working to create a better classroom situation for their students.

Teachers often attend conferences, as well as correct homework and research topics, outside of school to help improve their classroom environment. Ms. Browne commented, "I've gone to two conferences for school improvement. We learned to set goals for the school as well as develop new learning strategies."

Although most students complain about homework, keep in mind that teachers also have a great amount of work at home.

New Voices

"Kimball feels like home. I love the enthusiasm and energy displayed by both students and staff."

Ms. Kampa

Other new teachers include; Ms. Kampa, Ms. Landvoy, Ms. Holman, Mrs. Knapp, Mr. Caruso, Ms. Kellogg, Mr. Dinkelmann, Mr. Przybylo, Mr. Robbins, and Ms. Melnyk.

imball High School may be becoming more and more demanding when it comes to requirements, but the effort is worth it! By increasing the number of credits students must take, we are preparing for college. As Mrs. Stedman explains, "It's in the students' best interest to exceed standard requirements, and with increasing the credits needed to graduate, Kimball High School is on the right track!"

We are very proud to have a dedicated staff, who value the importance of education. Trisha Fantucci states, "I have learned a lot from Mr. Fitzpatrick. He has a unique teaching style. In his class he doesn't just lecture, he brings history to life." This is just one of the examples showing how the teachers are preparing us for the future.

Each year our school progresses, striving for the excellence, of academics with the help of students and staff. The teachers have been role models and the students have been achievers. Kimball High School has taken huge steps in helping us achieve our goals of independence and success.

The Commanders of Kimball

Keeping our school intact and running smoothly is a big job. Mr. Neville, principal, Mrs. McClanaghan and Mr. Dexel, assistant principals, share the responsibilities of our administration. Mr. Neville commented, "We function successfully because of the student body. We have great students that is why we have great things happening."

This year's counselors include; Mr. Goulait, Mr. Spurgeon, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Keefe and Mrs. Knapp. Their role is to sort out schedules, help plan futures, or just give good advice. They never hesitate to lend a helping hand or a helping ear. Mr. Goulait remarked, "I work with the senior class. This year's senior class is a very fine group of students and I enjoy working with them."

Our attendance officer, Mr. Anderson, does a great job of keeping kids in school.

If it weren't for these dedicated people at Kimball High School, our education would not be as excellent as it is.

Pauline and Diane take a moment to compliment Ron the custodian on his wonderful work.

Keeping the Peace

Teachers and students are not the only people who make Kimball an important and productive school. Behind the scenes are the hall guards and custodians; with the help of these great people Kimball is at it's very best.

The tough team of hall guards keeps the student body in order and out of trouble. In constant connection the fierce group is armed with walkie-talkies and always seems to be around when mischief occurs or even when it's not. Members of this group include: Pauline, Mrs. Gabler, John G., Mr. Engelberts, Diane and Mr. Brownie. The group not only patrols the school halls but also sporting events and even dances.

When Pauline was asked what her favorite part of the job was she responded, "the kids are always the best part of the job and it is interesting to see how they change over the years."

"The best part of this job is and always will be the kids" said Mrs. Gabler.

Members of the custodial staff agreed also that the students make their jobs. Thanks to these great people Kimball runs smoothly.

Kimball's English Department Offers a Variety of Courses

The English Department at Kimball High School is very diverse, offering numerous courses on all levels.

This year there were a record number of students that qualified to take the AP English course. Four hours of the AP English class were offered this year, with Mrs. Wine and Mr. Elicker teaching two classes each. Seniors also had the option of taking Senior English, formerly known as Senior Seminar. "Senior English was lots of fun, mainly because it was all seniors," stated Andrea Lupi.

Another class offered for seniors is Communications. "I enjoyed taking Communications because it was a different kind of English class," stated Katie Rogan. Natalie Kerr had this to add, "It was a great class, too, especially since most of my friends were in the class."

"Communications was a lot of fun because it was a different kind of English class" commented senior Katie Rogan.

Whether you took AP English, Communications, or Senior English, Kimball was sure to have the right course for you!

Lancer: Where Time was of the Essence

Lancer '98-'99 was not for the weak-hearted. This year's staff had to deal with a brand new computer program, rapid deadlines and a high demand for excellence. Staff members unanimously agreed with junior Meghan Shepard when she said, "Once everything was completed I felt glad to have participated in yearbook."

Completion proved to be the ultimate goal in Lancer. Early on the staff was faced with computer errors and missed deadlines. Yet, the staff rose to the challenges and learned to meet the punctual demands. Senior Jimmy Gleason explained, "Time was everything in Lancer, I was constantly faced with due dates."

Co-editor Jenny Dolbee agreed, "Lancer members had to learn to work in an intense, at times hectic environment."

Co-editor Adrienne Goloda added, "Our staff stood out in teamwork, ability and effort." This year's Lancer members truly conquered their timely demands.

Extra! Extra ! Extra! The Herald Shares the News

"Herald is not just a class, it is an adventure," commented business manager Melissa Heumann. "I get to work hard and then get rewarded with an excellent Herald."

With a hard working staff of thirteen, the Herald staff puts out seven issues a school year. Led by co-editors Laura Sluss and Audra Quinn, and advisor Mrs. Bennett, the staff comes together to provide the students with the most accurate and informative newspaper around.

Not only do staff members write articles

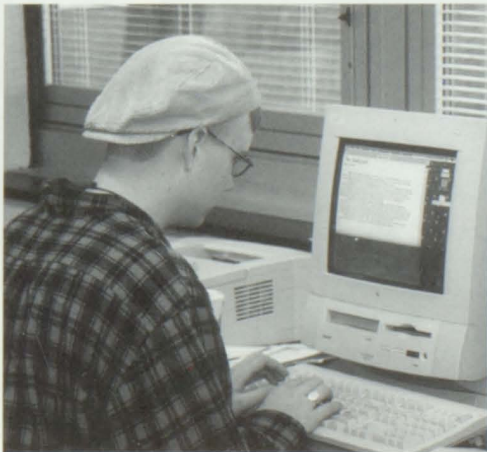

but everyone must edit others work, take pictures, crop pictures, and find businesses to place ads in the paper. Even with all of the demanding tasks, the staff works hard to make each deadline.

"I took the class to have an easy hour, but as soon as I became a part of the staff, I realized that it takes a lot to put together this newspaper," said editorial editor

Xenolith Proves a Creative Outlet for Many

Many students crave some kind of creative outlet for their writing. For some students, Xenolith is the answer. Xenolith is a creative arts magazine that is composed of many submissions by the student body. All kinds of creative entries are encouraged for the magazine, including: poetry, drawings, photography, and prose.

This year's staff has many great additions including a new advisor, Mrs. Eischeid.

"I think because of Mrs. Eischeid we are going to put out a really great magazine this year," commented junior Sarah Weathers.

The rest of the staff includes nine seniors and seven juniors.

"I enjoy Xenolith because we get a chance to develop our creative writing styles, and we're allowed to be free thinkers," explains junior Mary Giroux.

Stephanie Silk summed it all up by stating, "Xenolith is a great way to express how you feel and gives everyone a chance to show their talents."

Hablamos Espanol! Parlons Francais! Wir Sprechen Deutsch !

In such a diverse world, with so many different cultures, it is necessary that one is able to communicate with others. With all the technology, the world is getting smaller and smaller, so knowing more than one language is a big advantage. Kimball students are aware of these opportunities, that is why World Language classes are in such a demand at Kimball. Senior Michelle Kurpinski, fourth year Spanish student commented "I view my Spanish class as expanding my opportunities, and making me a well-rounded person." Jenny

Rushton agrees, "Knowing more than just English is a big advantage, especially when speaking to my family from Ecuador." Junior Erica Lister, third year French student, stated, "French has been really interesting, and I love Mrs. Fitch. Katie Derington expands about her class, "German is very hard, but I love it when we play Bingo!"

Out of all the classes offered at Kimball, World

Languages seem to be among the most popular. This is for the simple fact that students know how beneficial being aware of other cultures can be.

"My World Language class makes me a more balanced person," commented Rebecca Adams.

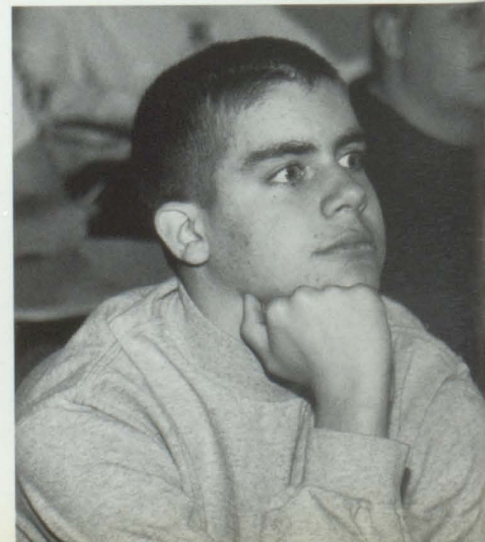

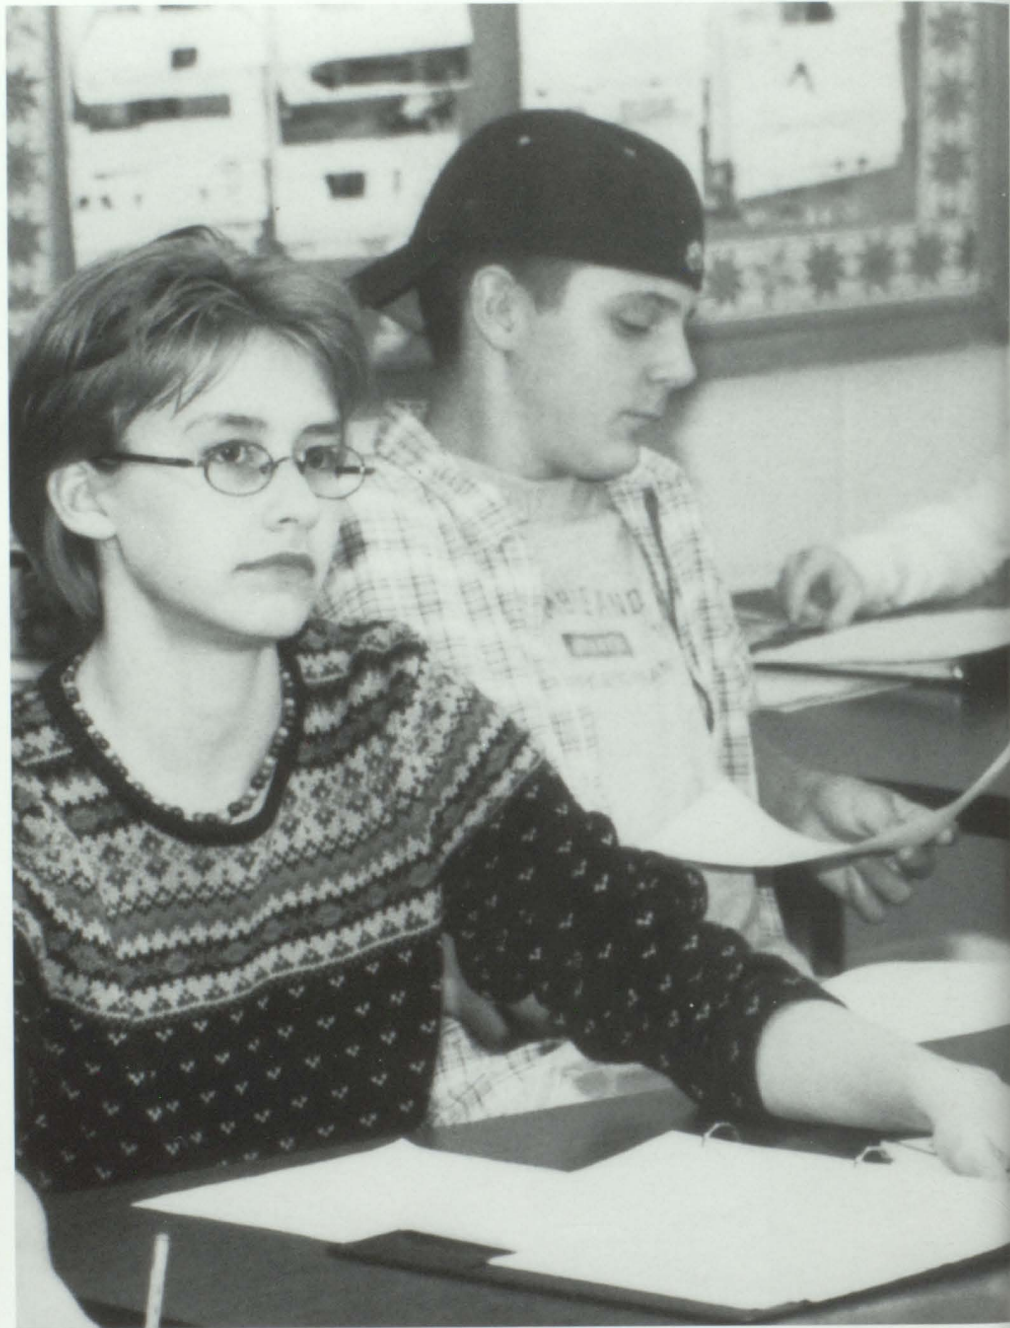

Kaye Cormier and Liz Byrdak listen to Mrs. Bowen explain Spanish culture.

Erin Riojas prepares to take notes on the factors that caused the breakup of the Soviet Union.

Mr. Greening shows the class an important document in American History.

Senior Stephanie Schaffran looks for currents events in Mr. Bowker's class.

Jon Kocsis listens with interest to one of Mrs. Owens' lectures.

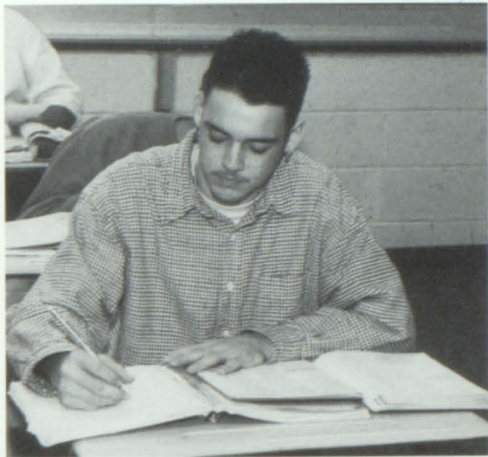

Brian Siterlet loves how Mr. Greening makes U.S. government fun.

Linda Smith listens intently to Mr. Grant's explanation of World War I- "The War to End All Wars."

Joel Nehme works on his assignments in his History class.

Welcome to the Exciting World of Social Studies

The Social Studies Department has many exciting and interesting classes to offer the students at Kimball. With teachers who love to teach, and subjects that are exciting to learn about, the department offers students classes that he or she knows will never fail to be thrilling or captivating.

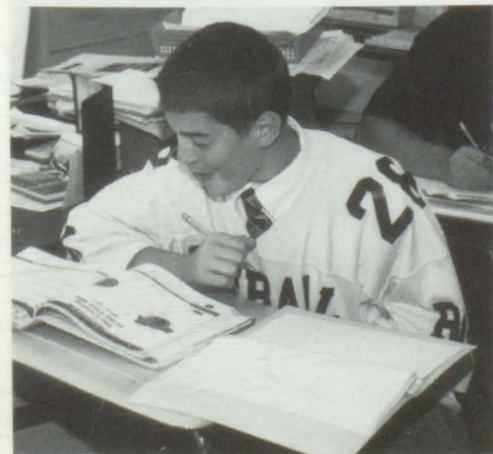

"Mr. Decker's freshman Geography class was so inspiring," stated senior Tony Pugh about his turn-on to Geography. "His exciting current events, the physical maps of European countries, and the deep lectures really can mold a person into an outstanding student." Senior Adrienne Goloda agrees. "Mrs. Owens' captivating lectures really brought out my love for history." Senior Audra Quinn added, "Mrs. Owens' brought out my thirst for history by explaining to me the different aspects of the Russian Revolution."

All in all, Kimball students are lucky to have a variety of classes to chose from with caring teachers who make them enjoyable.

"The teachers in the Social Studies department make learning fun."

Ryan Baker, Rob McDonald, and Jason Chapman wait as their teacher gives them instructions.

Don't Take the Media Center for Granted!

Can you guess how many books there are in our library? Probably not considering that there are books covering just about every topic you can think of, from famous bowlers, to autobiographies, to 17th century poets. If students need information about almost any topic, they are sure to find it here.

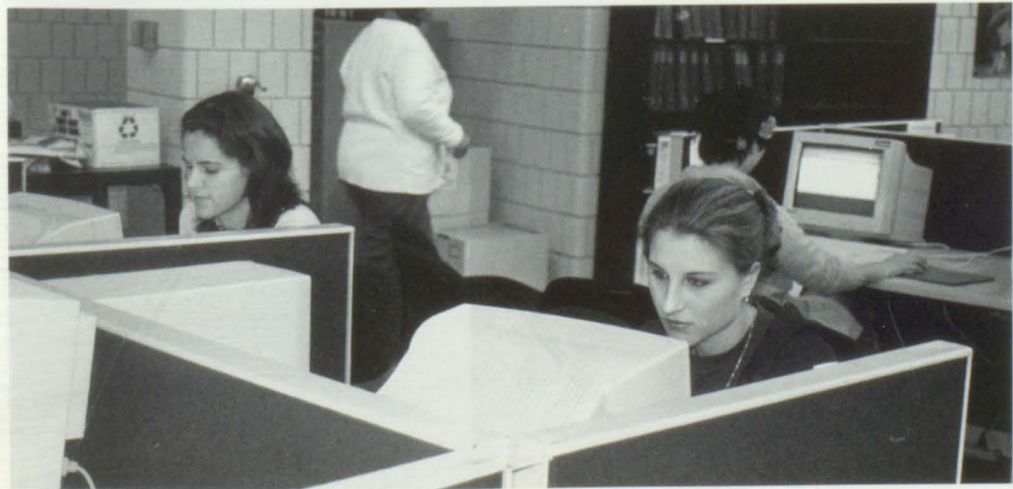

Many people overlook the fact that without the Media Center and its staff, which consists of Mrs. Sibley, Mrs. Harbert, Mrs. Pederson and many student assistants, we would be lost when it comes to our research.

The Media Center is available to help us with such things as finding colleges, looking up information on the job of our dreams, searching the web and many other technological resources that are available for our use. Student assistant Chris Emerson summed it up well, "I feel lucky to have a Media Center that offers us such great technology." We should all feel this lucky, after all without it we would be lost.

"I love the variety of books and computer programs available," commented Joe Doman.

Bre'Anne Mallon and Audrey Lance work diligently at the computers.

Welcome to the World of Science

From I.P.S. to A.P. Biology, Kimball students have many opportunities to "widen our scientific horizons." Every student had a favorite science class and a favorite teacher. Mr. Schultheiss was appreciated by many students. Jocelyn Ryan contributed "Mr. Schultheiss had a very good sense of humor and he is thorough." Anthony Thai agreed, "My favorite science teacher was Mr. Schultheiss because of his great attitude." Each teacher had his own way of teaching, and each teacher was respected by students. Chris Homrich stated "Life Science was my favorite science class. I liked learning about how animals adapt to nature." Science covers a broad variety of subjects: every student was bound to have a preferred segment of science class. Anthony Thai added, "I enjoyed doing labs because I am interested in finding results with chemicals."

There were a variety of classes and teachers to choose from which provided an academic challenge to our students at Kimball High School.

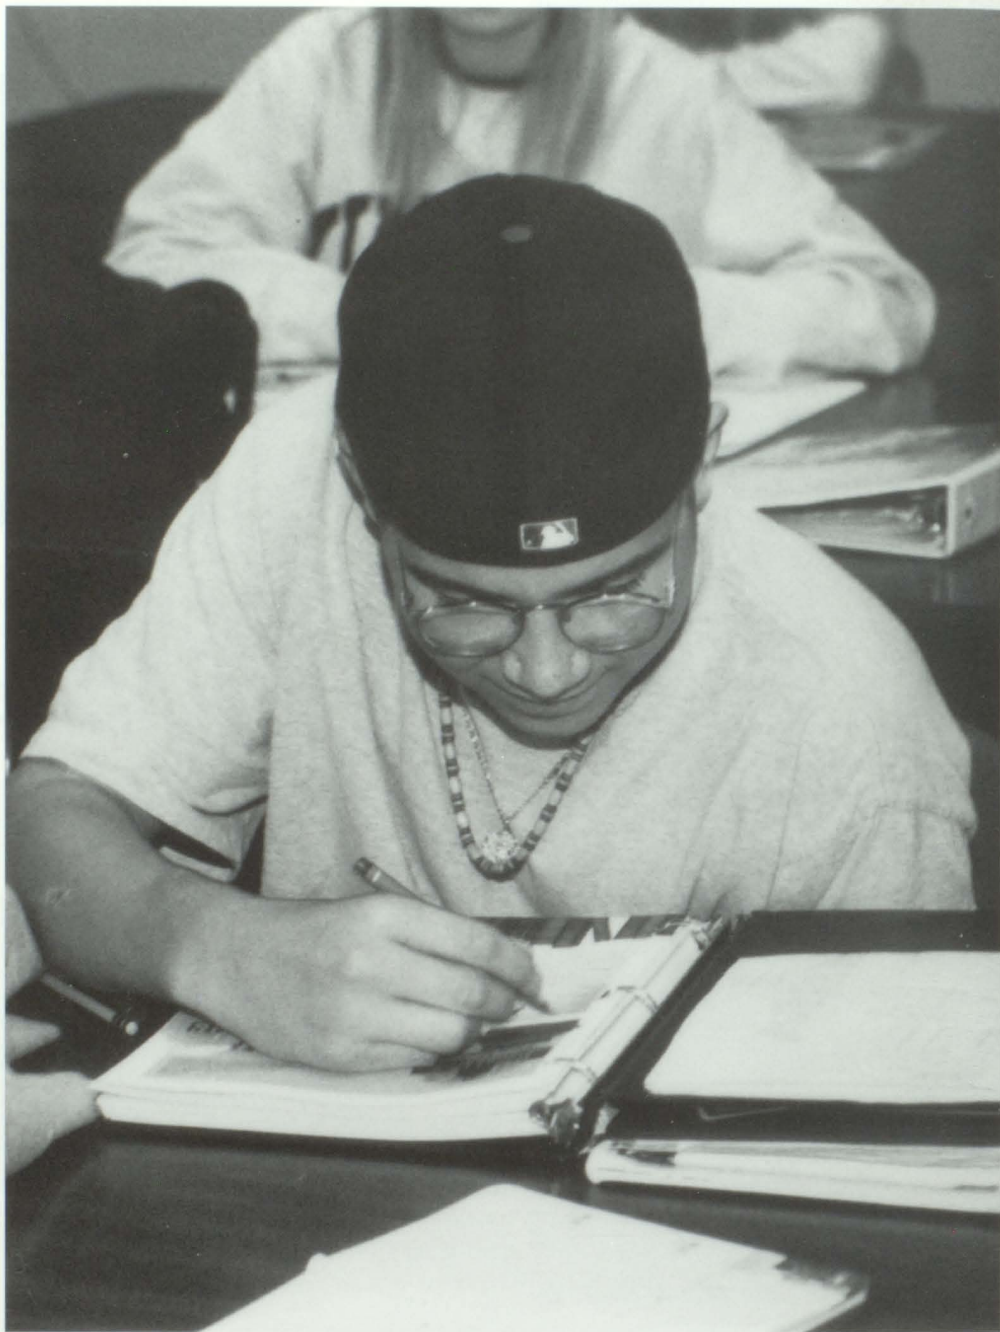

Angela Henderson reviews her Biology homework with Aubrie Teeley.

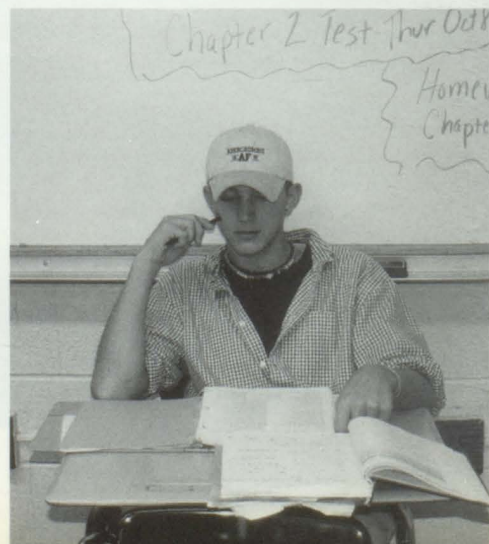

Antonio Deese puts a lot of hard work into his assignment for algebra class.

Mr. Shellenberger writes his notes on the overhead projector. He teaches algebra the "Ohio State Way."

Stefanie Nicholis and Liz Clouthier show the class and Mrs. Dropiewski their extended algebra skills.

Brandon Braxton studies hard for his algebra test.

Ms. Pinneo takes time from Department Head duties to lecture her Honors Math class on graphing lines.

Mr. Dinkelmann plans his schedule for the day.

Math, It's as Easy as 1...2...3...!

Kimball's Math Department is successful in providing students with the knowledge necessary for a promising future. "These classes not only provide important concepts for students to use in solving problems, but also teach reasoning and logic skills that can be applied to problem solving situations outside the realm of mathematics," explained Ms. Pinneo. Although math can be very challenging, it can be fun at the same time. "Math is one of my favorite classes, it is challenging and prepares me for my future," commented Matt Cain. Stephanie Schaffran agrees, she said, "Even though it can be hard at times, I still enjoy my math class." Every student is required to take four years of math courses, so the staff makes it the best learning experience possible. "I love my math class, I enjoy learning things that I will use in college, as well as in the work force," explained Steve Bouren. Math is an important part of preparation for the future, so grab your calculators, and get ready to learn!

Mrs. Dropiewski helps students with their homework.

Ms. Flynn helps her students, Renee and Rhonda English, correct their typing mistakes.

Junior Nichole Vanderhoff concentrates deeply on the format of her next project.

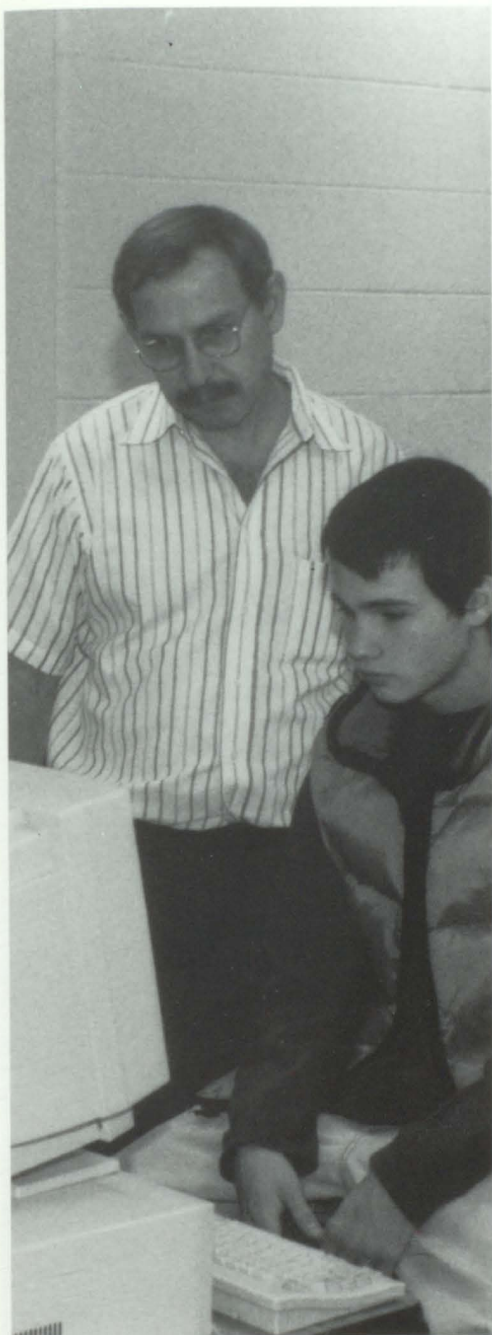

Senior Margaret Currier ponders over which letter format to use for her resume.

Lynne Schroeder types swiftly. Remember to keep your eyes on the copy!

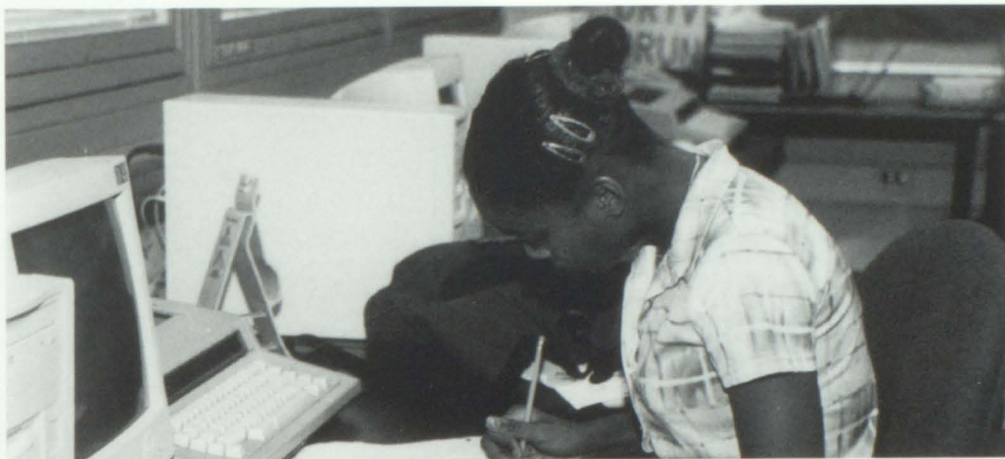

Chad Sprinkle focuses on a new computer assignment, while Mr. Przybylo looks on.

Danielle Tanner studies important punctuation marks. "Learning these will help me later in life."

Business Buffs

There are several different business classes here at Kimball that help prepare students for the future. Learning to type quickly and accurately, and how to use computer programs are just a few skills students may learn. Invoices, money and credit are a few things students learn in Accounting.

Kimball's own school store, the Knight's Den, is very much a business class. It is run by students in Business Professionals of America along with Mr. Freeman. They are behind the great Kimball cookies!

Sophomore Kevin Moore thinks, "Typing has made my life easier. I can type projects and reports much quicker."

Senior Angela Jeffers is thankful that she has taken a typing class. "It will help me greatly in college," she said.

Senior Mike Malley explained, "I've learned many new ways to format a simple letter that will help me in the future."

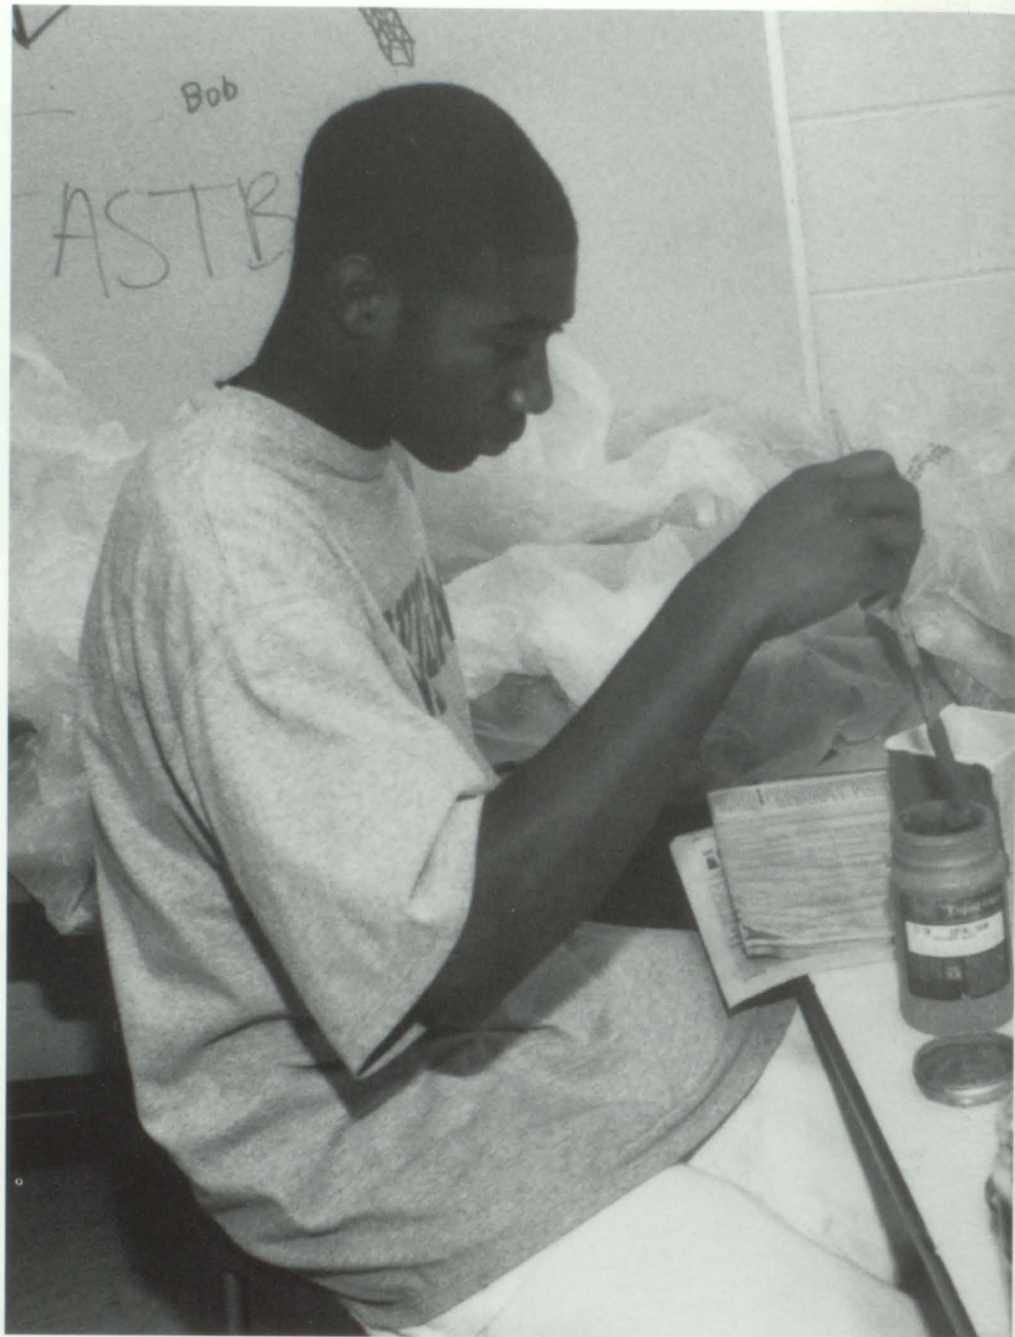

The Business Department at Kimball helps students to prepare themselves for whatever field they may enter. Having business skills can open many wonderful opportunities.

Brandon Kennedy works diligently on creating his pinch pot. It will make a nice pencil holder at college.

Stephanie Schulte and Chris Homrich have fun while sculpting their clay.

Jennifer Kruckenberg adds another layer to her coil pot; a new addition to her masterpieces.

Mr. Landry illustrates shading techniques for faces.

Kristen Graves, Nicole Prince, and Katie Coon all work hard in Mr. Landry's class.

Art Teaches Creativity at Kimball

"Through art I am able to express my inner feelings," junior Julie Green commented when asked why Art is so appealing to students. Jenny Monette, also a junior, felt that she was able to "let your mind out on paper." The art program at Kimball allows students to express their thoughts and emotions creatively.

The art teachers, Mr. Landry and Mr. Powers, help to encourage these creative attitudes among students. "Mr. Landry not only teaches us about how to create art, but about its history as well," explained Sarah Weathers, a junior in Honors Art.

Other Honors Art students enjoyed learning how to develop their artistic talents. "I have been in art for three years, now, and it just keeps getting better and better. I am now in Honors Art and love the serious, dedicated attitudes of my classmates," added junior, Nathan

Sheryl Griffin loves to make crafts in woodshop

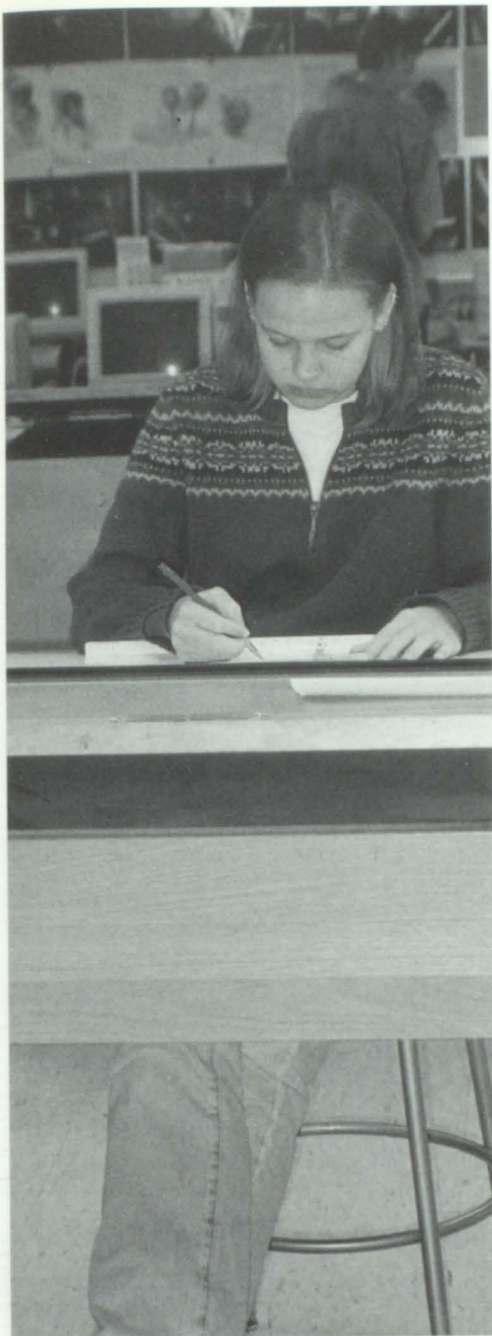

Matt Arnold works steadily in Mr. Przybylo's class.

Brett Peterson creates a toy dog in Materials Processing Class. It will make a nice gift.

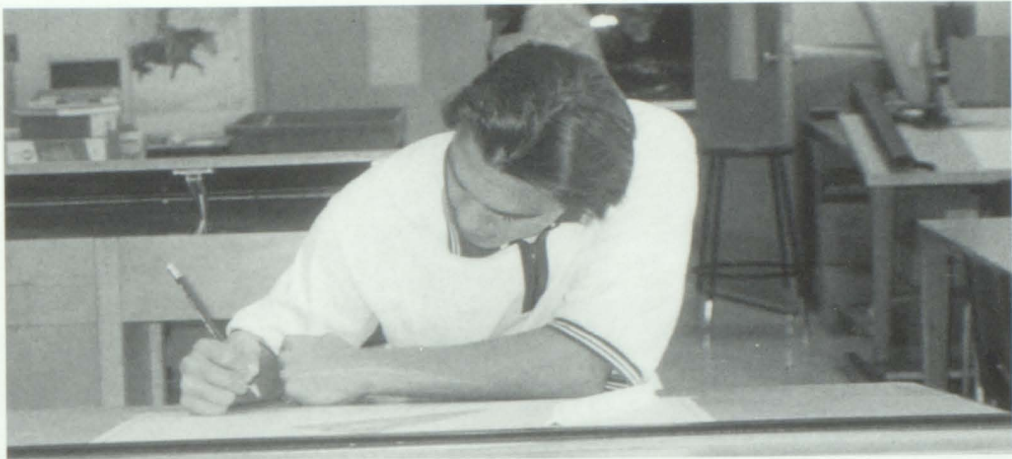

Meghan Delaney drafts her dream house in Mr. Zientek's drafting class.

Mr. Zientek's architecture drafting class wouldn't be the same without Ray Donnelly.

Kimball High School Prepares Students For The Future

Kimball offers students a variety of exploratory classes in the Practical Arts Department. These classes include: Basic Technical drafting, Architecture, Adult living, and Child Development. These unique classes allow the students to learn the material through a hands-on experience.

Ray Donnelly, one of Mr. Przybylo's students in Auto maintenance states, "Auto maintenance has been an essential part of my life, helping me to explore my career options." Donnelly hopes to find a career in engineering.

"Architecture drafting helps me to explore the creativity of my mind."
-Matt Willis

Ms. Williams' students learn all about the essentials of home economics. One of her students, Danielle Rutkoske, is learning how to be a good mom in Child development. Danielle states, "Child development prepares us for the responsibilities of raising children."

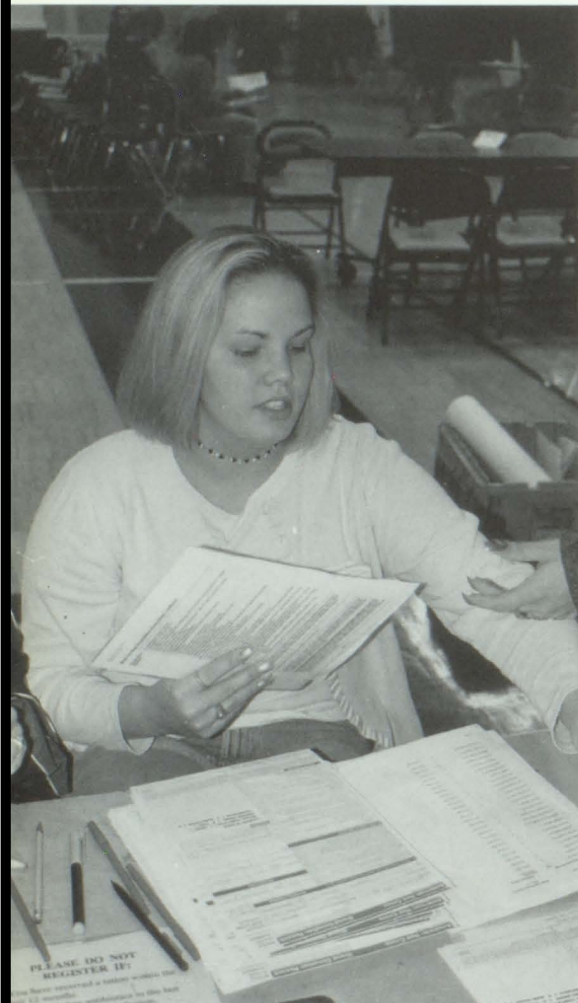

Kimball's Practical Arts Department allows the students to become educated in a specific area of study. Students can use these skills to prepare themselves for college.

Jenny Lawrey, Jackie White, and Carmen Garland cook the best meals in Ms. Williams' class.

Nicole Murray helps direct students during the blood drive held in the gym. Many pints of precious blood were given to help the Red Cross.

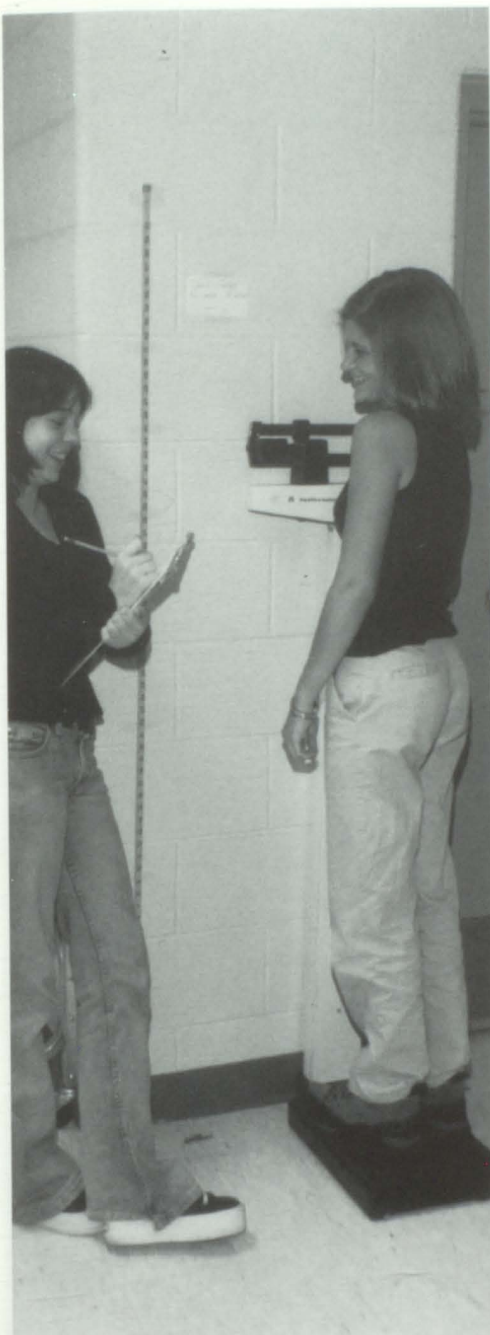

Carmen Garland takes "Annie" from Ms. Forti because it's her turn to practice CPR.

Niaah Ellis and Bre'anne Mallon learn how to get out of a wheel chair safely.

Danielle Budry learns how to use a scale correctly.

Matt DeMay gives blood during the blood drive.

Medical Skills Prepares Students For Future Careers!

"Medical Skills offered hands on experience. It helped me decide on a future career." Jenni Giffin, a senior, took medical skills because, "It helped me see what a real doctor goes through every day. Medical Skills influenced me on getting a good job in the medical field. It also taught me valuable lessons that can only be learned with hands on experience and not in a text book."

The class was taught by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Fry. Nicole Murray said, "Mrs.

Brown is a very down to earth teacher. She genuinely cares for her students and wants them to be successful. Mrs. Brown is like a big sister to all of her students and I will never forget her."

It seems as though room 304 is never at rest. Whether it is learning CPR, memorizing definitions, organizing the Blood Drive, or working in the medical field, students decide their future careers. Medical skills is an awesome class and is a course in life and death.

"Medical Skills is a fun and unique learning experience."
-Jenni Giffin

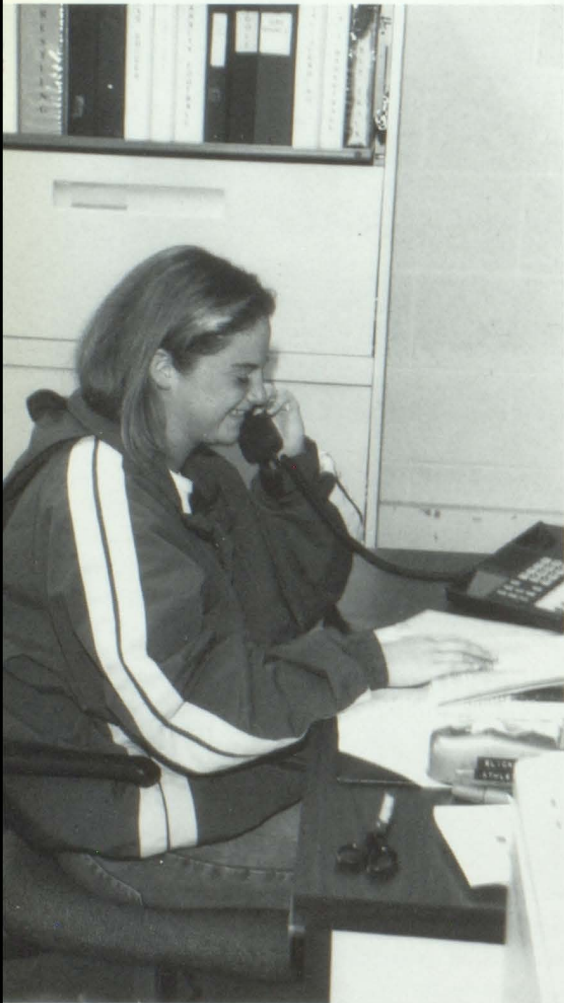

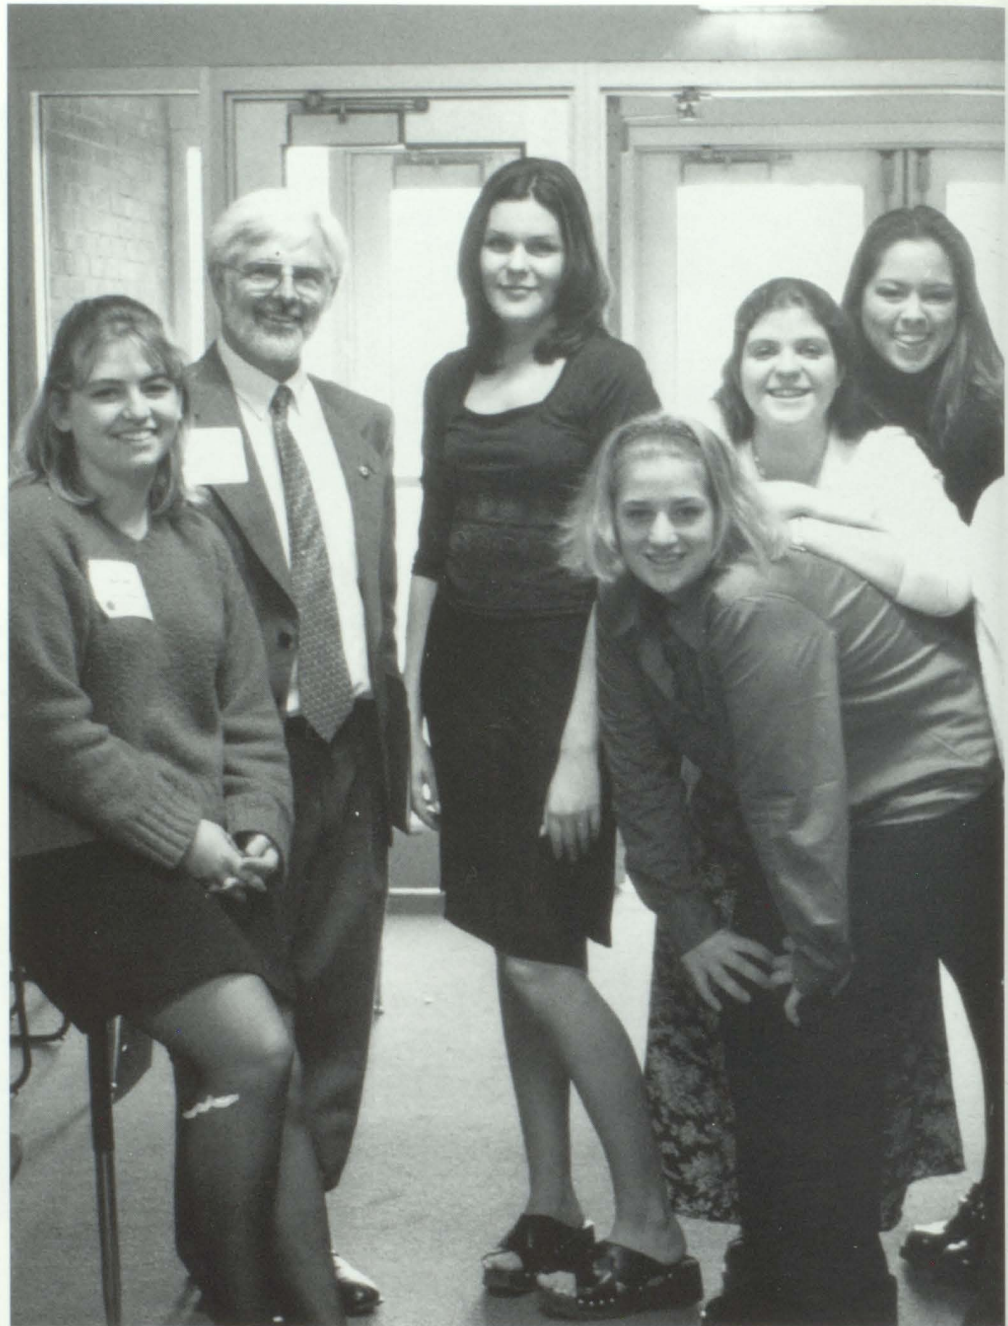

Jenny Lawrey holds "Annie" after learning CPR. bre' Anne Mallon looks on as she nervously waits for her turn.

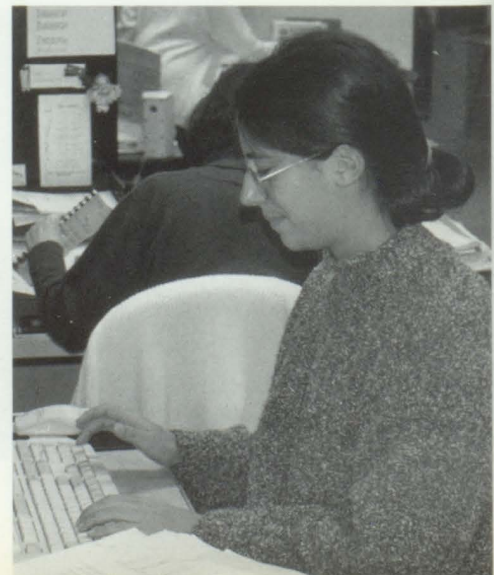

Mr. Chard, the Co-op coordinator, takes time out to smile with some students involved in Co-op.

Katie Shea loves answering the phones in the Athletic Office. She was paid for what comes naturally.

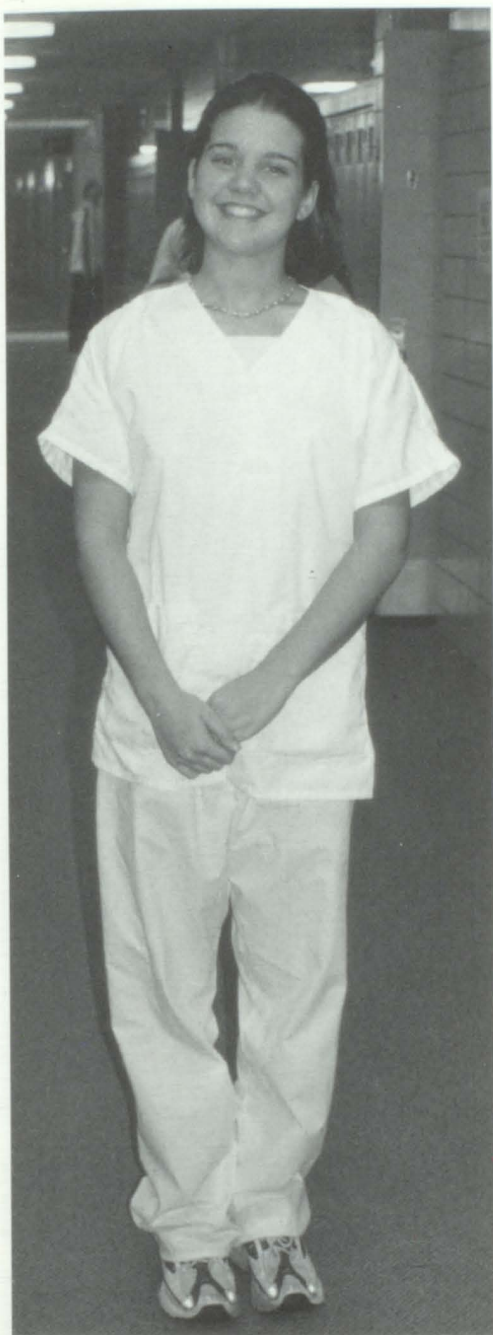

Brad Beaubien talks to an Army representative at the C.A.P. program that is put on by Co-op.

Heather Aboud enjoys her job in the Student Service Center, helping the staff and students.

Jenny Lawrey, a nurse's assistant at Beaumont, loves the experience she gets being involved in Co-op.

Mrs. Fry, the coordinator of Medical Skills Co-op, always has a smile and friendly advice for her students.

Kimball Students Participate in Co-op for Opportunity

One way to start preparing for the future is to be involved in Kimball's Co-op program. During Co-op, students learn about the career that they are interested in, while receiving credit for school. "Being involved in Co-op will show job supervisors that I can handle the challenges of everyday work," stated Beaumont Co-op student Jenny Lawrey.

"Being in Co-op has taught me a lot of responsibility, not to mention I get paid for going to school," joked Heather About.

"Being in Co-op has taught me a lot about responsibility, not to mention I get paid for going to school."
-Heather About

Students who want to participate in Co-op but do not want to leave Kimball can work for the school. "My favorite part of working in the Athletic Office is answering the phones," laughed Katie Shea.

Trisha Fantucci spends three of her six hours at Kimball working in the Main Office. "My job involves running the front desk, answering phones, typing letters, filing, etc.," said Fantucci.

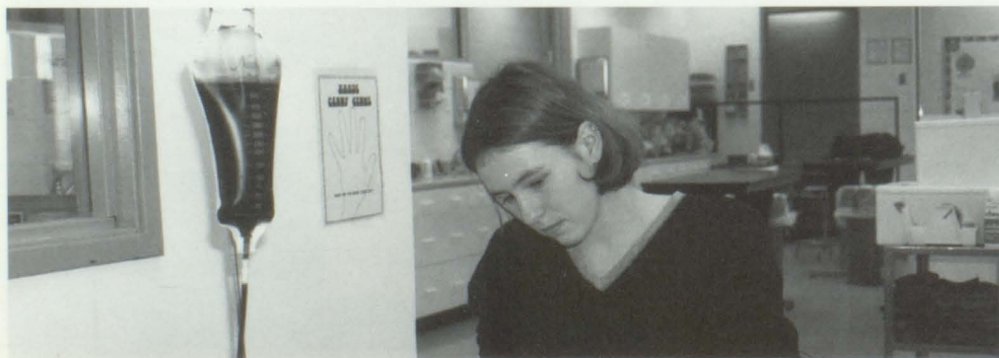

Even though Co-op is not easy, students agree that their jobs are fun and will pay off in the long run.

Co-op students Trisha Fantucci and Jodi Farmer work hard at the C.A.P program organizing student interviews.

Rania Kassab expresses her creativity through sewing. She wore her costume on Senior Dress-up Day.

Karly Chagnon attempts to administer blood from a fake arm in her nursing class.

O.T.C. allows Eli Mueller and Derek Cody a chance to learn new techniques into auto maintenance.

Ann Folian is hard at work designing future hair styles in her Beautician class.

Kimberley Cole is hard at work learning new skills from a master chef as Tracey Belland watches.

A Hands-On Experience for the Future

What is O.T.C.? The Oakland Technical Center is a school that offers Kimball students a chance to get an early start on their future careers. O.T.C. teaches many trades such as cosmetology, mechanics, and telecommunications.

O.T.C. students benefit from the satisfactory job skills provided. Jenny Sanders stated "I get a better knowledge of my career choice." Matt Hertler added "O.T.C helps to provide job placement."

When attending Oakland Technical Center, students go to Kimball classes for half a day then leave for O.T.C. Blair French was asked how he felt about this, and he exclaimed "It's a chance to meet new people and the day's over by 2:30 P.M." Eli Mueller also commented, "I appreciate the change of scenery."

Oakland Technical Center provides many opportunities in order to get students out in the work force. This helps students to succeed and focus on future goals. O.T.C. is well liked and appreciated by many Kimball students.

The Anticipation of Driver's Education Class

Ladies and gentlemen start your engines!! That was one phrase that underclassmen at Kimball couldn't wait to hear. Although the laws for acquiring a license have changed dramatically over the past couple years, fifteen year olds still can't wait to get their drivers licenses.

"I am so excited for the day when I turn sixteen, because then I will no longer have to ride my bike everywhere," stated sophomore Katie Craft. Dan Malley, however is excited, but at the same time unhappy "I will have to share a car with my brother, Mike, which will be hard because he has seniority over me." Some are lucky, however, and have nice parents who are buying them a car for their birthday. "I worked a lot over this summer and it paid off since I have enough money to help my parents get me a car," stated sophomore Jon Latella.

Whether you were lucky enough to receive a car for your 16th birthday or not, it was sure to be one of your best birthdays ever.

"I am so excited for the day when I turn 16, because I will no longer have to ride my bike everywhere," stated Katie Craft.

Students Meet and Achieve Expectations

Along with German, Spanish and French, braille teaches a new language to students. Braille, a concept of reading with the hands, enables students to learn any subject. As Mrs. Stedman replies, "Braille is like learning another language." With the help of our new technology, the standard form of English can be transferred through our computers into braille. For each page of English it takes at least two pages of braille to write. Nick Gasaway challenges himself academically learning German

"If the students are bright and have determination, they can do many things."
Mrs. Stedman

with the help of braille. "I like to learn the language, it's fun!" Our school provides braille typewriters so the students are able to type their own papers or homework. These hard-working students meet every day with great spirit, ready to take on the goals and challenges offered. According to Mrs. Stedman, "If the students are bright and have determination they can do many things." When all of us can do this, there's no telling what the boundaries to our future can hold.

Students have a Blast in Physical Education

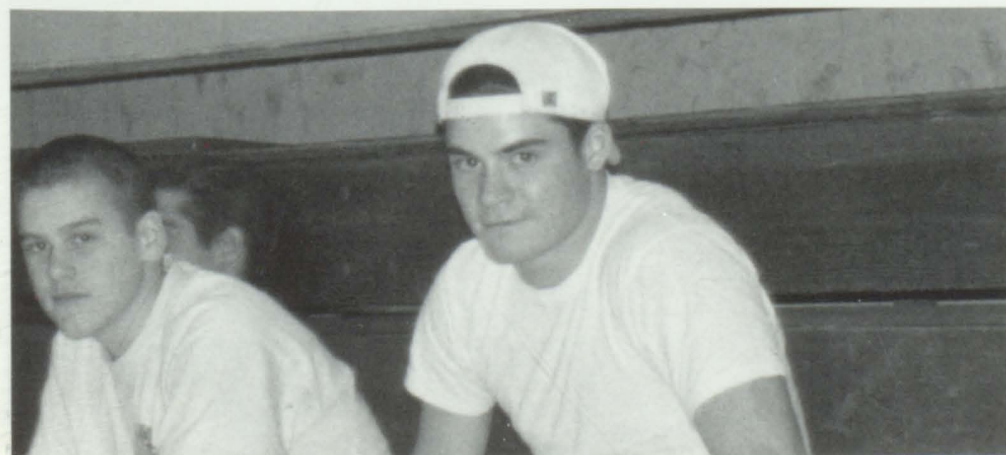

What's the best class to take in Kimball High School? According to students, it's unanimously voted to be gym class. Jessica Wilcox states, "I love gym class, it gives me a chance to goof off and have fun." Gym class offers a wide variety of sports to choose from such as baseball, basketball, tennis, hockey, volleyball, swimming and much more. According to Michael Neville, "What's even better is that a student receives credit and a grade for something they enjoy doing!" Students Brandon

Braxton and Michelle Lowe can even be assistants for gym, they said, "We love being Mr. Clouser's student assistants." No matter

"Gym class gives students a chance to challenge themselves physically."
-Brad Payne

if students want to get involved or just help out the teachers, there's always fun in gym. Of course there's always the six weeks of swimming freshmen have to go through in order to receive credit, but all in all students seem to enjoy gym. Brad Payne claims, "Gym class gives students a chance to challenge themselves physically and have fun while they're at it."

Joe Peart and Conor Dare take a break from playing basketball to discuss they're next strategy on their future play.

Kimball's Orchestra is Playing to a New Beat

Move over Detroit Symphony Orchestra because the Kimball orchestra is taking over the music world. This year's orchestra is playing harder and better sounding tunes than ever before.

The orchestra practices strenuously every day for fifty-five minutes. Outside class, students also put time into their violins and cellos at home. "I work on my bass all the time even after school," commented Melissa Janik '00.

The Kimball High School orchestra is conducted by Mr. Tolias. Mr. Tolias has been the conductor for eleven years now. "He really knows what he's talking about, and he is a really good guy at the same time," said

Phil Segal '99. The orchestra has such events as the annual Symphony Orchestra Autumn Concert, Holiday Concert, Cabaret Concert, and the Winter Concert.

"We do so much in orchestra, there is never a boring moment in this class," said Anthony Thai '99. With all the concerts and charity events, there is not much time to do anything else." It's all worth it though just listen to them perform!

It's More Than Just Music!

Year after year Kimball band never seems to let down their reliable audience. This year the 1998-99 Kimball band worked very hard and had many opportunities to share their talent through performances. Pep Band, Concert Band, Symphony Band, and Marching Band proved their excellence throughout the course of the year.

Their daily practice has helped them to achieve perfection. The well-liked and talented band instructor Mr. Conaton succeeded in making the Kimball bands great this year. "Mr. Conaton is a great mentor." Stated Damien Lewis.

Hard work has paid off for these students. When participating in the fall food drive they obtained boxes full of food and clothes. In the beginning of the year they also successfully raised money in a car wash fund-raiser.

Kimball's 1998-99 band has proved to be outstanding. They will be remembered in the years to come as one of the most talented bands. Their achievements will be hard to overcome by future bands.

The Skilled Singers of Kimball High School

One of Kimball's hardest working group of kids comes from the choir room. They do much more than just learning tunes and choreographing dances. They spend every day perfecting their vocals and preparing themselves for concerts that present their hard work and wonderful talent.

Mrs. Buffa leads this group of achievers and so far in her three years of doing so, she has done a great job. Senior Brad Ellison agrees. "She is a wonderful director and I've seen her put forth a great deal of work."

Junior Jenny McCracken stated that choir was, "really hard work but also tons of fun."

Don't think for a second that choir is a class for an easy 'A'.

Kimball's choir is filled with many skilled, and very determined singers that can really perform well.

Roundtable, our student government, organizes and runs a variety of events that take place at our school. Social events from Homecoming to the Sadie Hawkins Dance, fundraisers such as the Penny Wars and the Hurricane Mitch Relief effort, were sponsored by Roundtable.

"I loved being a part of Roundtable as a freshman because it gives me an opportunity to meet many new people, and become involved," commented Colleen Spurgeon.

This year there were five great officers who dramatically improved the student council in many ways.

President Tony Pugh shared, "I really appreciated all of the help I received with my presidential duties throughout the entire year."

The rest of the officers included Vice President, Bill Coon; Secretary, John Farhat; Treasurer, Courtney Hancock, and Parliamentarian, Katie Shea.

Junior representative Meagan Villerot explained why she enjoyed Roundtable so much. "I love how great I feel after I do something to help the community."

Let's Get Ready to RUMBLE!

“Other than Meghan Sheppard breaking my nose during a soccer game in fifth grade, sports have been a great part of my life,” chuckled sophomore Jessica Webster.

A majority of all teens play sports these days and to most, this is their way to have school spirit.

When we asked Junior Mike Ferber about the most exciting thing in football, he answered, “I love knocking down 230 pound guys with my big, muscular, 175 pound body on the varsity football field.”

Accidents are always possible and when we asked if senior Tony Pugh had ever been injured while playing baseball, he replied, “I got a huge wound from sitting on the bench too long.”

We have an extraordinary staff of coaches who are supportive and encouraging. Senior Katie Shea confessed, “I think of my coaches as my mentors, I only pray that I leave a dot on their vast map of life.”

Sports have many influences on one's life. Whether playing on the field or sitting on the bench, participating in Kimball sports is very rewarding!

Team Unity is What the Football Season is About

By: Erin Smith

This year's Varsity Football Team was not all about winning; it was about coming together as a team and having a good time. This year's team consisted of 11 seniors, 22 juniors, 4 sophomores, and the one lone freshman, Dan Evey. Led by senior captains Joe Doman, Chad Roberts, Adam Brewster, Lennon Jones, and Dave Seman, the team accomplished a lot even though they always didn't come out with a victory.

"Unfortunately there were a number of injuries that were a real setback to the team," claimed captain Lennon Jones. Injuries to quarterback Joe Doman, receiver Chad Roberts, tackle Paul Catanese and receiver Dan Evey hurt the Knights tremendously against Rochester Adams and Hazel Park. "It was the worst feeling to sit on the sidelines knowing that I couldn't do anything," stated Paul Catanese '99.

"Even though it wasn't a very successful season, we still pulled through everything and united as a team," stated senior captain Adam Brewster. "Whether it was going to National after the game or staying after practice to try and get just a little bit better, everyone became pretty close," stated Adam Lawson '99.

When asked what the most memorable game for the season was, the seniors unanimously responded, "Berkley."

"They have always been one of our biggest rivals," stated senior captain Chad Roberts. "It felt great to beat them," claimed Damon Cato '99.

For many it will be their last year stepping onto the football field. "I'll really miss all my teammates. We've all become pretty close over the years," claimed senior captain Joe Doman. "It's going to be hard to say goodbye," stated Mike Allen '99.

Wherever the seniors are headed, we wish them luck. As for the underclassmen returning next year, we wish them a successful season both on and off the field.

Success

This year's J.V. and Freshman Football Teams had a lot of fun and also came out with a successful season. It was an exciting year for the J.V. Team. They came out of the season with an outstanding record of 6-2-1.

This year's J.V. had an unbeatable season. "I can't believe we were league champs," claimed Mike Rickstad '01. "All the hard work finally paid off," said Bill Lantz '01. Even though they had to face some tough teams, the J.V.

Team pulled through and created a memory that won't be forgotten.

Although the freshmen didn't always come out with a victory, they still had a memorable experience for their first year playing Kimball football. "There is a big difference between junior high football and high school," claimed John Cato '02. "It was a fun year," said Adam Briggs '02.

Hopefully next year all of the football teams will be just as successful as J.V. was this year.

Hoopin' With Unity and a Little Superstition

By Steve Smith

The 1998 Girls' Varsity Basketball Team success this season came from togetherness. When the seniors were asked how the team has changed since they first joined they replied that they had grown closer to become a family. Audra Quinn said, "We work hard, we play hard, and we laugh hard....we have a lot more fun than we used to, and that's what it's really all about, isn't it?....before every game, we make fun of the other team in order to feel better about ourselves and bring us together." Members of the team say that the captains Trisha Fantucci and Katie Shea really brought them together. Every team needs great captains, and who better than a four-year member-let alone two? Both Trisha Fantucci and Katie Shea have accomplished something great by making the team when they were freshmen. They came full circle when they became the 1998 teams leaders.

"We work hard, we play hard, and we laugh hard."

-Audra Quinn

Although most claim that their wins came from working together, a little superstition never hurt a team, either. Some of the team's superstitions consist of sitting on the same seats on the bus, eating lots of candy that Nicole brings before every game, talking trash and Audra doing a pelvic thrust before every game. "I always bring candy for the whole team and Snackwell Chocolate-chip cookies for Katie Shea," Nicole Stein said. When asked if any superstitions have ever been broken, they all gave a harsh "No!"; the sign of a great team.

Despite preseason predictions the team did really well. They killed our crosstown rivals, Dondero, 47-21. The girls will definitely miss playing on this team. Their togetherness and superstitions carried them. It was one of the closest teams, and one of the most fun to watch and listen to, courtesy of Audra's trash talking!

Freshmen Take Over

Basketball

The nineteen ninety-eight Girls' Basketball season will be remembered as the year of the freshmen. With the JV and frosh teams composed mainly of the class of 2002, when the '01 season rolls around Kimball Basketball should dominate.

Usually in a sport, the JV team is reserved for sophomores and some Juniors who will be the varsity of the future. This year, however the entire Girls' Basketball roster was short on sophomores. This made way for freshmen to step up and take control of the sport. There was only one member of the 2001 class on the junior varsity team.

With three more years of conditioning, fundamentals, and excellent coaching by the Kimball staff, expect to see a great Kimball team in the future.

Varsity Players Talk About Goals On and Off the Field

By Jessi Webster

Most students at Kimball don't know what it's like to be a Varsity Soccer player. Many hope that the opportunity will arise later in their high school experience, and would welcome any advice they could get on how to achieve their goal. This year's 1998 Varsity Soccer Team was more than happy to share their experiences, and what they've learned since they started playing.

Alex Craft explained, "it takes a lot to be one of the best in such a competitive sport." The sophomore said, "It's a game you've got to be smart and fit to play. It's not like football where you can rest after each play, you have to keep going until it's over."

Yet even if you do keep going, that's not always enough to win. "Playing a horrible game, whether we win or lose, is the worst," stated senior Anthony Thai. Individual performance has a lot to do with making the team win. No one person wins a game; it's a team effort.

And what better way to win than to score a lot of goals? When Matt Cain, a senior, scores, he gets, "a tingly feeling, and I get all worked up, and that adrenaline rush makes me play better." Even if not in a position to score, every player was still just as important. Without a strong defense, there's never a chance to have a good offense.

"It's a game you've got to be smart and fit to play. It's not like football..."

-Alex Craft '01

Scott Schoch had great advice for anyone wanting to get ahead, and not necessarily just in soccer. The senior says, "Listen to your coaches, they give good advice, and learn to depend on others because you can't do it all by yourself."

All of what these players said could be helpful in life, not just in sports. It's attitudes like theirs that help us get ahead and make us better prepared for life after Kimball. Ask any senior, graduation will come a lot faster than you realize.

Soccer Stories

This year's JV and Freshman Soccer Teams had a lot of great stories to tell about all that happened while playing Kimball soccer during the great season.

Jon Clague, a junior, said the funniest thing that happened in a game was, "When Kevin (Peet) slipped taking a shot and fell flat on his back."

As much as the players love soccer, each had his own perception of the worst things about the sport.

Freshman Dan Pickman claimed, "Practices" were the worst part. Juniors Kevin Peet and Jason Low disagreed, saying it was, "Losing to teams that beat us badly," but that didn't happen too often.

Even though bad things happened, the guys always kept a good attitude about playing for Kimball. Freshman Rich Guilmet said, "Knowing that I'm playing for the school is the best thing about soccer."

B rand New Team, Same Old Heart

Golf is one of the most popular sports across the country for all ages. It's a leisure activity, going out and playing a relaxing game of golf. No way!! Golf is one of the most frustrating games ever. To some it's a wonderful sport, but to 99.9% of the people, it's a good walk spoiled.

The Kimball golfers are some of those few who love golf. To them it's a competitive sport and the competition is fierce.

"The team fought hard, and we went out there to win every match," said Paul Falcon '01.

Unity was the key for this year's team. With just two returning Varsity players the team had to stick together and fight harder than ever.

Coach Vince Caruso is the golf teams new coach after Mr. Nash retired this past year. "The team is young with only a few remaining golfers, but I was very happy with the outcome of the season," commented Coach Caruso.

Though not the most successful season the team has had in recent years, the golfers did work diligently and had many achievements.

In one of the league matches, Mark Taggart shot a personal best 75 on 18 holes. He placed second out of five teams. "It was a great achievement for me, I was very excited about it," said Mark Taggart '00.

All the Varsity players went all out and made good examples for the J.V. players. Showing leadership and poise are good qualities a young golfer can use.

"The best thing about this season was the fact our home course was Normandy Oaks golf course, which has increased in difficulty since the past year's renovation. is the epitomy of all golf courses," stated John Spenceley '01.

With the new challenges that the course offers, Normandy may produce the next Arnold Palmer or Tiger Woods, maybe even from our Kimball Knights team.

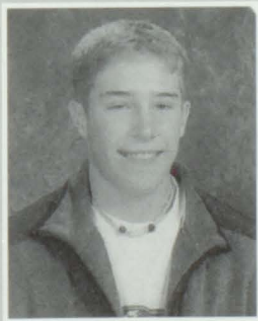

"We all worked hard, and went out there to win every match."

Hard Work Pays Off In Lots of Team Spirit

By Melissa Janik

This year's Girls' Tennis Team knew how to work hard, play hard, and above all else, how to have fun. The fourteen member team overcame many tough opponents this season to finish third in the league with Berkley. Lead by two strong senior captains, Heather Aboud and Sam Sage, the team had a majority of the players from last year. Composed of five seniors, six juniors, two sophomores, and of course, a single freshman, this group of girls showed their talent during the three months that the team was together.

By having the core of the team return this year, the season was destined to be a good one right from the start. The team knew that to win there must be a lot of hard work put in, but that having fun should be an important factor during the entire season. As the youngest member of the team, Tara Wilson '02 simply said, "I had a lot of fun this season." April Gavin '00, agrees. "It was fun playing with my friends and I had a lot of fun being doubles partners with Abbey." The two captains were responsible for this institution of team spirit. "Our team hugs before every match were extremely important to us," stated Sage.

The team's schedule this year was tough, but the team took this challenge in hand and always stepped up to play their best. "The best feeling in the world was when Melissa and I beat Berkley AND Clarkston to win the league!" declared second doubles player Michelle Kurpinski '99. Amy Lampinen '01 received teasing from the team when she played every match of the season in only two sets.

"Everyone worked really hard this season and had a lot of fun!"

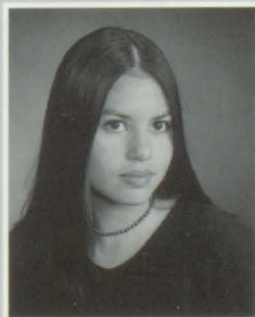

-Kate Brennan

The girls never quit, even when the going got tough. Attitudes were kept in line, and the rackets kept on swinging. Nobody ever backed down when playing against a tough opponent. They knew how to work hard, play hard, and most of all, have fun. This is what the true meaning of team spirit is all about.

Strength and Endurance is Needed to Succeed in Cross Country

by Laura Sluss

Although some people have the idea that cross country is not a sport, any person on the Boys' Cross Country team can tell you that it is more than just running. Anyone on the team will tell you that cross country is a fun sport, but it is also a demanding and strenuous sport.

This year the team's head coach was Mr. Barnett and the assistant coach was Mr. Castle.

The captains for the season were John Binder '00 and Jason Conn '00. Both were great runners and helped influence the team. "Both Jason and John set a good example for all the team members in both running and in personal skills," commented third year member Taylor Aue.

With the discipline put on by cross country, members must keep in tip-top condition and must follow a rigorous practice schedule. "I enjoy running in both cross country and track. I joined the team so I could train in the off season for track, but I found that I like this sport just as much as I do track," said Senior Steve Smith.

With this season everyone worked hard to prepare for meets and to improve their own times. "My goal for the season was to do well in all the meets, and to work up to be able to run 10 miles after the end of the season," added Matt Rutkoske.

Although the sport may seem to be an individual sport, it is easy to overlook the importance of the team aspects of the game. Runners do not just worry about their own times, but they also have to encourage their teammates so that not only the entire team will succeed but the efforts and strength by other teammates can boost a person up.

The greatest advise for anyone thinking of joining cross country and wanting to know what it takes to succeed, is best said by Jason Conn. "Try hard, give it everything you have, and do not under estimate yourself."

Cross Country Ritual Lead to Team Goals and a Great Season

by Laura Sluss

This year's Girls' Cross Country team worked hard during the season. Each member strived to do her best, but everyone had her own way of preparing for each meet.

The coaches of the 1998-99 team were Mr. Ewell and Mr. Schellenberger. "Both coaches encourage us and help us get ready for the meets. My favorite encouragement was when

Mr. Schellenberger ran with us at the practices," commented senior captain Sarah Kabacinski.

While the coaches helped move the team along, the team captains were certainly involved in the outcome of the season. "Our two captains, Sarah Kabacinski and Bre'Anne Mallon, are super motivators. They take the time to help and support the other team members, and they try hard to make the practices fun," praised Beth Levy.

With the help of the captains and coaches the team worked hard to achieve a team goal.

But a few players had other means of trying to do well at the meets. "I eat the right foods and try not to think about the meet, but on game days I always make sure to drink out of a cup backwards," laughed Bre'Anne Mallon. Other members also have unique rituals. "I make sure to eat a banana and spaghetti on meet days, but the only way I can truly do well is if I sing in the bathroom while I change into my uniform," joked Kabacinski.

Members of the team are not only superstitious and have rituals but they also know that they have to work hard to achieve their goals. "My advice for myself and the team is to never give up

"Never give up, because the harder you work the better you will be."

---

-Sarah Kabacinski

- no matter how hard it seems. Because the harder you work, the better you will get," said Kabacinski.

While the team may have different ways to pump up for meets, it always counts to use positive thinking and teamwork to truly achieve the team goals of working hard while having fun.

Fearless Runners

What's So Great About Swimming?

By Jessi Webster

Chlorine in your eyes, freezing cold water, early morning practices, swim caps, and other people seeing you in a bathing suit. So where is the good part about swimming?

Despite all the bad parts, which are in every sport, there were many reasons why swimming (or diving) with Kimball's 1998 team was a great experience for everyone involved.

Freshman Ashley Moritz said, "It was the people that you met. It was a good way to know seniors and upperclassmen. That way, I knew more of them, so I wasn't so nervous around all the older kids."

Almost everybody agreed, the best part about being a Kimball swim/dive team member was knowing the people involved. Another common reason so many girls liked swimming and diving was that it kept your body fit. Katie Sheridan, senior, commented, "It gets you in good shape, and it helps you build self-confidence."

Adrienne Cerino swam not only to stay in shape, but just because she likes to do it. "It's a lot of fun to do because the people around you make it fun," said the freshman.

The swim team had a lot of great times, but they also had to work really hard. For four seniors, their determination really paid off. The 200 medley relay team, consisting of Jamie Geisler, Christina Lam, Erin Lucarotti, and Andrea Lupi, qualified for the State Meet at Eastern Michigan University on November 20, 1998. They each swam their best times and broke their personal records. That's a huge achievement, and they should all be proud of their accomplishments.

The Swim and Dive Teams had a wonderful year. Not just because of what they were doing, but also because of who they were with. Many friendships were made, and memories shared, and that's what makes Kimball sports all worthwhile.

O ne Question: Who's Next?

The Kimball Knights Basketball is "back from the dead" after the dreadful season last year. The team has improved dramatically since the past two years. "We are more mature now, and we know when to step it up during the game," commented captain Joe Phillips '99.

That maturity is what kept the Knights alive all season for the league title. "We held strong and played tough and it worked out against the league competition," said Ryan Doyle '00.

The captains Mike Malley '99 and Joe Phillips '99 led the team in the right direction with their leadership and experience. "This year was great because everyone on our team got along well, and we were very successful," explained captain Mike Malley.

Most of the team credits the long practice sessions during the season, including a few five hour marathon practices, to the success of the team. Even the practice during the Superbowl helped the team out in some key games. But instead of complaining about those moments they rose above it and took pride in their hard work and dedication. "Other teams didn't practice on Sundays or during the Superbowl and it showed when they faced the Kimball Knights," explained Coach Galbenski.

"We won because all of the team stuck together, and because I'm the best four man in the league," commented Justin Weeks '99. "The devotion of the team is why we are so successful."

These qualities of the Knights are what makes good teams great. The Knights brought back the great basketball tradition Kimball used to have. All of the players are friends and got along together.

This year's Boys Basketball Team gave Royal Oak Kimball the recognition and pride its been longing for.

He Shoots He Scores!

The demanding five month basketball schedule provided a chance for the players to meet new people and have fun. Not only did the Freshman and Junior Varsity Basketball players have fun, they established winning records in the process.

"We really united as a team throughout the season," stated Anthony Tomasi, a member of the Freshman Basketball Team. Anthony continued, "The games became a lot more fun once the wins started racking up."

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team had fun also, on and off the court. "The preseason training started a long season that began and ended with a lot of new friends," commented sophomore Dan Malley.

Sportsmanship, determination, and a love for the game, made this season unforgettable for the Boys Freshman and Junior Varsity Basketball players. A season that will be followed by a few more years of excellent basketball games in the KHS gym.

Cheerleading is a Real Sport, Too!

By Jessi Webster

Cheerleading is a sport that's probably more strenuous than any other; ask any Kimball Cheerleader. It's far more than smiling, yelling, and jumping around. Flexibility, discipline, and school spirit aren't enough to have a cheerleading team as great as Kimball's. It took a lot of strength and many practices to make the team really good.

Being a cheerleader also took a lot of dedication to be in the sport year-round, but these girls didn't mind going to the long practices a bit. "We became pretty buff by the end of the season," said sophomore Kristine Crook. Cheerleaders are a lot stronger than they look.

Kimball's 1998-1999 Cheerleaders started their season in the summer with a great beginning to a great year. They placed first at the University of Michigan summer camp the girls all went to together. Becoming the best in the state isn't easy, though. It took the team a lot of precision and teamwork to get that far.

According to sophomore Rebecca Frohriep, teamwork, "is all about the spot!" If the girls didn't work together and trust their teammates to support them, none of the cheerleaders' awesome lifts would look as great as they did.

While a lot of people say cheerleading isn't a "real" sport, and don't give the team all the credit they deserve, the thirteen KHS cheerleaders loved what they were doing for a bunch of different reasons.

Senior captain Sheryl McDonough said, "I loved going to all the games and cheering the guys on, no matter how the game ended."

Captain Lara Baccus, a junior, said she's a cheerleader because, "It's a good way to show your school pride and get involved."

When asked about cheerleading, freshman Maria Neverovich said it the best. "It's all about fun!" That's the way all Kimball sports should be.

Dance Team Discovers the Key to Success

By Meghan Sheppard

"Although we were only in our second year, I felt that we were at a level where we could compete with the best teams around," exclaimed Jeri McGhee.

In only their second year, the Lady Knights Dance Team wowed the crowds at football games, and pumped up fans at the Varsity Basketball games. The twelve Lady Knights led by their captains Jenny Lawrey, Beth Leibold, and Jenny McCracken, also established themselves at a number of competitions as well as at the U of M Dance Camp.

"This season we went into camp knowing what to expect, so we did a lot better," stated junior captain Beth Leibold.

Jenny McCracken added, "As a second year team we not only improved our technique level, but bonded more as a squad rather than individual dancers."

This proved to be the key to the Lady Knights' success. Spectators would never be able to tell that this squad ranged from freshman to senior dancers. These dancers came together to form one varsity team that made it obvious they were having fun whether they were dancing or not.

But coming together as a team required a little extra effort from the few lucky freshmen that made the team. Jenny Lawrey commented, "Every year it is the seniors' job to have the freshmen go through an initiation process." This could include a variety of things, but mainly it's simply having fun together to become better friends, which then creates a closer team.

"I was petrified my freshman year after I heard about initiation rituals. Luckily, it turned out to be a blast that involved only a little embarrassment," confessed sophomore Jessie Bolis.

The Lady Knights worked extremely hard this year at becoming a stronger, more precise team, and while doing this they realized one thing. In order to accomplish their goals as dancers, they had to come together as friends first. After they figured that out, nothing could hold them back.

Little Brother Takes Over

With the well known Chuck Jones stepping down as Athletic Director it left the spot open. Greg Castle took over the position, we can now hear him giving the speeches at the sports awards, leaving a coaching spot up for grabs on the wrestling team. Who better to fill in than his little brother Ben Castle?

When asked if Greg Castle missed coaching he replied, "Yes I do, I miss it greatly."

Ben Castle filled in well. A smooth transition was important to a successful wrestling season at Kimball.

When asked about differences in coaching senior captain Lucas Booth exclaimed, "They are two different people, but they both ran the team well."

How important is the team in an individual sport such as wrestling? All members agree that it is extremely important.

Team members rely on the wisdom and experience of other members. Without their input others would have a tough time becoming proficient. The coaches can not be with every member to teach them strategy at every time.

Being with a team also creates a camaraderie that propels each individual to do their his best. An athlete will work harder in practice and meets if he must compete with members of his own team for a spot

Having team mates around cheering you on is very important to an individuals performance as well. Members feel as though they don't want to let each other down; that is very much the case because every point is important in a meet. This togetherness is an essential part of a team's progress, even if it is an individual sport.

A smooth transition between coaches and great teamwork were very important to the wrestling team's success in the year of 1999. Our wrestlers have had a great season.

earning and Growing Together

by Jessi Webster

Volleyball is a fun sport for anyone, but for the girls on Kimball's 1998-1999 Varsity Volleyball team, it's a way of life. These athletes go through strenuous practices day after day to show the school that they are really the best.

Senior Audra Quinn said, "The best thing about the team this year is the team unity." With everybody working hard and working together, a lot more can be achieved.

While the team didn't have the greatest season, they still had a good time. Sports at Kimball aren't about winning a game, they are about being winning people. "We had a lot of younger players with inexperience and many of the people on the team haven't played with each other so it took us a while to get used to each other," said senior Maria Falcon. We all learned how to get along with others in tough situations," added junior Meghan Sheppard.

Not only did the team members learn a lot about how to deal with others, they also learned a lot about themselves. "Playing volleyball has helped me realize I can't have my way all the time. I learned to work with others," junior Becky Kress said. Ball-hogging and not working together could really hurt the whole team. "You can't do it all alone, that's why you have teammates," stated senior

Chrissy Trost. "Because of our struggle in division one, we placed great importance on team unity. Everyone had to be able to not only pick themselves up but to also be able to pick others up as well," added junior Michelle Lowe, "There was no one out there but us and we were the ones who had to lead and perform well."

Hillary Urick believed that was the best part of Varsity Volleyball. The senior stated, "The people on the team are what makes it so special, it seemed as though everyone was friends both on and off the court."

Volleyball Fun

There are many reasons why the members of Kimball's JV and Freshman Volleyball Teams play volleyball.

Freshman captain Holi Patrick said, "I enjoy it because it is fun to play." Whereas, Sophomore Jessi Webster loves playing volleyball because she "likes being with her teammates."

As the players know though, volleyball isn't always fun and games. It also takes a lot of hard work. Freshman Kristin DeMay "likes the challenge and the level of competition." Sophomore Jackie Schulte likes the results of her hard work. "I may not like to run but it keeps me in shape," she says.

All in all, the girls on both teams know what it takes to have fun and work hard.

Hockey is the Best Sport In The World

By Leanne Mangold

When the clock struck 5:00 a.m. most of us were still snuggled tight in our beds dreaming. However, for Kimball's Hockey Team, it was a whole new ball game. Toby Heap, junior, explained, "The most difficult part of the season was waking up at 5:00 a.m. to get to the rink by 5:30 a.m." It may have been a pain to wake up this early, however, the team agreed that all these early practices definitely paid off.

There was also a great sense of unity with the team. John Farhat explained, "I was happy with how well the season turned out considering all the rookies who joined this year." A lot of new players joined the team but the pros were there to lead the way.

Team work was essential when playing hockey and the players proved to have awesome team work skills. When watching the team on the ice it was quite satisfying to see how well they worked together. They called every pass and made sure everyone had a chance to score a goal.

The team was also known for its awesome defensive skills. "It was real hard to make a goal pass Brandon Casanta," exclaimed Kyle Szarek.

"We're not about all work and no play," jokingly explained Brandon Casanta, assistant senior captain. When the team was off the ice you may have found them out together having a party or joking around. Jeff Cluff explained, "The best part of the team was that we were all a bunch of good friends." Coach Fox knew that the boys needed time to unwind after a high impact game and therefore, he encouraged the boys to a night out in town.

The Blades proved they had great team unity in every hockey game

The Blade's formed a great team unity. "It's not whether you win or lose the game, it's how you play the game," seemed to be the team's motto. The Blade's played every hockey game with great passion and with a great attitude. I would not be surprised if some players turned pro in later years to come.

Two Royal Oak Schools Splash Together and Become One

Laura Sluss

This year the Boys' Swimming and Diving Team was a collaboration of students from Kimball and Dondero. Since the joining of the two schools last season, the team has not only increased in their number of athletes, but has also become much stronger. "Being two rival schools, there was a little tension, but working together, we overcame the problem," commented Joe Holcomb.

The head coach, Daren Miller, and assistant coach, Rich Hanson, along with diving coach Heather Dein, were all an active part in this team's accomplishments. "The coaches are there to provide helpful tips, but I most enjoyed their drive to encourage us to do well," praised Matt Docter.

Although the team is mainly made up of Dondero students, Kimball fans of the Boys' Swimming and Diving team had no problem coming to the meets to cheer on the five members of the 20 member team. It was really great the way the two schools came together.

Instead of the rivalry between Kimball and Dondero the entire community was able to come together and give their support to the team. "It was really helpful to hear all the fans cheering right before I would start a race, especially when we took 5th at Warren Tower Relays. It was great to know all of Royal Oak was behind us," commented Docter.

Senior Captain Joe Holcomb, Junior Matt Docter, Junior Zach Poprafsky, and Junior Kyle Rogers represented the swim team and lone freshman Josh Brennan represented the diving team. "It was hard not having many of my classmates on the team, but the combination helped out both schools in competing against bigger schools with larger teams. Although many people thought the team would feel divided, we really came together and I was able to make some great friends along the way," said Holcomb.

I t's a Balancing Act

By: Erin Smith

In order to be on the 1998 gymnastics team, one has to be very flexible and have a lot of determination. Gymnastics is one of our smallest teams, but each members determination is outstanding. The team is coached by Mr. Ewell, a remarkable coach who has been here for twenty years. "The girls are very dedicated and had a lot to look forward to even though they were such a young team," stated Mr. Ewell.

Unlike most sports, gymnastics offers a wide variety of competitive events. It is a sport where every member has to show off her individual talent to make the team win as a whole. Whether it is the balance beam, the uneven bars, or the floor, each of the girls has her own event she has learned to love.

Gymnastics is also one of the most spirited sports here at Kimball. "No matter who's up, we always cheer her on and wish her luck," stated Danielle Hobrow '01. "We're all very spirited and dedicated to the sport," claimed Ashley Moritz '02. "The upperclassmen all made me feel welcome at the beginning of the season," said Kathryn Caruso '02.

This year the girls came into the season with a fresh start. They had a lot of new members who helped to make it a new season. "We're a young team so I didn't know how we were going to do against the other schools," commented Jacki Dulong '00. The girls started off the beginning of the season with two great meets against Waterford and Lahser. The hard work paid off during these two meets because the girls came out with victories.

Even though the record for the girls wasn't the best in the league, the variety of talent was surely recognized by all. "It was an unforgettable season, especially because it was my last," claimed Lisa Morton '99. "I can't wait until next year," said Dana Licari '00. Team unity, focus and dedication all helped make the 1998 Gymnastics team a success.

"Even though we're such a young team, we have pulled together and had a successful season."

The Spirit of Passion and Comraderie

By Tom Villerot

"Baseball is thoroughly enjoyable; it's relaxing to be outside on the field," reflected Mike Malley '99. Brad Burton '98 added, "It was a complete rush when we were successful on the field!" The Varsity Basesball players unanimously agreed on the driving force behind each winning game -- a passionate love for the sport. Desmond Jones '98 said, "After playing baseball for thirteen years, my love for the game reached an all-time high this season."

Chad Roberts '99 commented on the most redeeming quality of playing baseball, "I found strength in the unity achieved through working together as a team." Kimball Varsity Baseball players were known for coming together as a powerful, unified body. Team members were willing to help each other perfect baseball skills, as well as social skills. Desmond Jones explained, "We helped each other out with fielding and hitting; we also helped each other in the classroom."

Goals were aimed high including winning the state title, but they couldn't get there without extra hard work. They practiced during the season and in the offseason. Whether in the weightroom or in the batting cage they were working. But it wasn't all work and no play. "Our team worked really hard and also had lots of fun," stated Mike Malley. "We were all friends on and off the field, it was a really great experience," Chad Roberts responded.

Varsity Baseball players epitomized the spirit of passion and comraderie. Each member exerted his full potential; his efforts derived from a strong love for the

Guys Together

Last year's Freshman and JV Baseball Teams had many unforgettable moments throughout the 1998 season. "Our 7th inning come-from-behind victory against Rochester Adams was the highlight of our season," recalled shortstop Dave Sturza '00. Damien Lewis '00 added, "Not only was it a good game, but it brought us all closer together as players."

That is what playing Kimball sports is all about, making friendships and creating memories. The Freshman Team united just as the JV Team did. "Our season was very difficult, but everyone seemed to have a lot of fun getting to know each other," stated Mike Neville '01. "The more we got to know each other, though, the better we played."

Living up To Expectations

By Maria Falcon

If you could pick three words to sum up last year's Varsity Softball Team at Kimball, they would be spirit, work and dedication. "At the beginning of the year, we didn't know what to expect," said Sara Kucyk, "but as the season went on, we knew we were going to be good." Good is an understatement when talking about the Girls' Softball Team. They went from an inexperienced, small group of girls to a team with state rankings and a District Championship. "Because of the small number of girls on the team and their lack of experience, we had to work very hard," said Samantha Sage. "Everyone had to be dedicated to softball and to the team. There was no room for slackers," added Coach Dick Nash.

All of this hard work and dedication paid off and the Knights had many great wins. "The most memorable game was the one against Birmingham Groves," stated Katie Shea. "We were down by three runs in the fourth inning and we rallied to win the game 4-3," added Audra Quinn. "Our defense broke down at the beginning, but we came together and played like we knew how to at the end." Not only did the team have many great games, the girls were also involved in many great tournaments. "In the North Star tournament, we had won every game we played, then, we had to play at 7:00 at night against Lincoln Park," said Laura Rochon. "We were tied 0-0 the whole game until they scored one run in the last inning, we then had to stop playing because of the time limit." "It was a hard loss because we were the underdogs going into a tournament where we haven't

"At the beginning, we didn't know what to expect, but as the season went on, we knew we were good."

done well in the past," said Faith Niedowicz, "but we played hard and proved to everyone that we could hang with the rest."

Softball Players

Show their Unity

Last year's Junior Varsity and Freshman Softball Teams had many ups and downs. But with every up as well as down, a lot of learning took place.

The Junior Varsity team learned how to work together towards a common goal. "At the beginning of the season, we had a lot of inexperienced players making simple mistakes; but as the season went on we not only gained experience, but gained skill," said pitcher Meagan Villerot.

Last year's Freshman team not only added experience to the players, but many new friends were made along the way. "We went from a team that was not very close to a team that was more like a family," said pitcher Lindsay Cole.

All in all, both teams learned a lot about softball this past season, but they also learned more than the rules. They learned how to make new friends and most importantly how to come together as a team.

Stepping Up to the Challenge

By: Melissa Janik

The 1998 Boy's Varsity Tennis Team overcame a tough season and wound up placing fourth in the league tournament. "Even though we didn't place at the top, I felt that we did our best and now have something positive to build on for next year," stated number two singles player, Dave Fullerton '00. Playing just ahead of Dave at number one singles was senior captain Casey Chambers. "I had a lot of fun being captain this year; I got to meet a lot of new juniors and sophomores." This was a young team, and could be considered a rebuilding season, but, with all of that experience, next year's team is sure to be even better.

As the tennis team went through this rebuilding season, the focus was on skill and development. The team knew that hard work was going to be an important element in being successful during the season. Not a tremendously superstitious group, the team chose to rely on pure skill. "I have never really had a good luck charm, so I figure why start now?!" commented Fullerton.

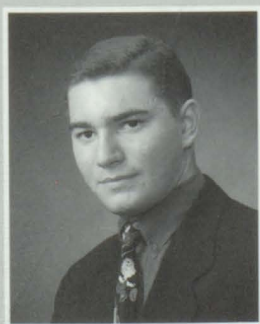

Since luck wasn't going to be a factor that would lead the team to victories, the players had to find something else that was going to work. Being aggressive was an element that helped the players to win matches. As number one doubles player, Anthony Thai stated, "We weren't afraid of the ball. Our strategy was to play aggressive in order to intimidate the other team." This approach to the game was what helped boost the team along during the season.

"Our strategy was to play aggressive in order to intimidate our opponents."

-Anthony Thai

Everyone on the team is looking forward to next season, and a lot of hard work is expected to be done. "The focus for next season should be on building team unity, getting fit, and recruiting more players," explained Thai, one of the captains. Our tennis team had a lot of fun during the season, and were eager to accept the challenge of working hard and winning. The solid foundation that was set gave an advantage to the hard working members of the team. Although the team didn't finish first in the tournaments, they overcame the many challenges that were placed in front of them; and that is where they finished first.

Kimball Girls Strive to Be the Best They Can Possibly Be

By Erin Smith

The Kimball Varsity Soccer Team is always strong and spring '98 was no exception. With a little help from Mia Hamm, the girls only had six losses and mercied their opponents in the first game of districts. "We brought a Mia Hamm poster to every game and taped it on the bench for good luck," said Bree Sleek '99.

When the members of the team were asked what their goal for the season was, they unanimously responded, "to win the league championship." With this enthusiastic attitude the Lady Knights worked hard to achieve their goal. "Sometimes practices became long and grueling but we always tried our hardest and gave all that we could give," said Dana King '00.

The girls had to run the "Big One," a three mile run from Crooks to Thirteen to Main, down Normandy and back to school. "The first time we ran was in the snow," claimed Michelle Lowe '00.

The team was lead by three captains: Molly Simons '98, Meaghan Coon '98 and Courtney Zielinski '99. "I am happy with our captains; they make us the best we could possibly be" said Hillary Urick '99. Zielinski '99 commented, "Our team was unified, we grew closer as the season progressed."

When asked about motivation, team members were more than happy to share their strategies. Stephanie Schaffran '99 emphatically commented, "I go crazy and turn into a beast." Katie Rogan '99 added, "nobody passes me by." "No matter what the circumstances were or how much pain we were in, the team always gave every bit of momentum we had," said Erin Smith '99.

Since the majority of the team were juniors, the Lady Knights looked forward to a strong soccer season in 1999. According to Katie Tourangeau '00, "this was one of the best seasons I've ever experienced."

"Team Spirit, working together, and having fun is what this team is made of," claims junior Jenny Monette. With only a few returning players and the help of new freshmen, the Junior Varsity Soccer Team faced a very tough season, but still accomplished an outstanding record. According to Janelle Bumann '99, "this was one of the best seasons we've ever had." The J.V. team finished the season with a record of 13 wins, 1 loss, and 2 ties.

Sarah Kabacinski claimed one of the main reasons for their success was because of their new head coach, Mr. Greening. Although adjusting to a new coach can sometimes be a bit difficult, the J.V. team had no problem. "Mr. Greening was one of the best coaches I've ever had," said Courtney Hancock '00.

It took a great group of girls to accomplish what J.V. achieved this year. "Hopefully we'll be just as successful next year," claims Kyle Race '01.

Girls track: Hard works pays off in meets

By Steve Smith

A level of fear and anticipation set in as the runners climbed into the starting blocks. "Runners take your marks... set..." and then the gun was heard. All of the runners had the same goal: to win. With every one trying her hardest, and with the help of coach Ewell, the Girls Varsity Track Team had a very respectable record this season. When asked to comment on the '98 season coach Ewell exclaimed, "I am very proud of everyone; all the girls gave it 110%."

When running track, as well as with any other sport, a lot of sacrifices had to be made. The girls had practice everyday, meets twice during the week and sometimes on Saturdays. Was it worth the time and energy? Marnie Currier thinks it was. "I love track, even when we are just at practice. There is nothing else that I would rather be doing," she replied. Marilyn Hartrick agreed. When asked about what she thought, Marilyn remarked, "Track makes me feel good about myself, it is rewarding and fun at the same time."

The captains did an excellent job this season. They were Erin Fisher '98, Sarah Frohardt-Lane '99, and Ann Marie Polomo '99. When asked about the captains, Marqueshia Payden replied, "They were all really nice, and really good captains. They all did a good job of getting us fired up before every meet." Niaah Ellis exclaimed, "We had great captains this year; they all helped contribute to our winning season."

All the meets were close meets, but with hard work they were able to overcome their competition. It took efforts from all aspects of track to put together a winning meet.

Strong attempts from throwing, jumping, sprinting, and distance contribute to the points needed to defeat the other teams.

Thanks to the teams efforts in practice and good performances in all events they were able to have a good year.

"I am very proud of everyone. All the girls gave it 110%."

Kimball track: it's all about the victory lap!

By Steve Smith

"I can't believe we lost to them." That was what was heard from Lahser as the Kimball Boys Track Team took their victory lap at the league meet. The Boys Varsity Track Team had one of their best seasons last year. With coach Bowker's help, they were unstoppable. All of track had some very fond memories of the season. Looking back, Andy Martin commented, "At first it wasn't that fun, but after I mastered every event I was happy beating everybody." Captain Chad Yurich favorite memory was, "beating Martin at every event."

The four by two relay team made up of, Pat Derrik, Adam Brewster, Brian King, and Chad Yurich did very well at every meet. They did especially well at the Eastern tournament, placing first among several teams. Mostly all of the guys ran their best times last season. Mike Allen '99 and Erik Fienauer '99 helped the team throughout the season. Mike Allen commented, "This was my best season yet, I had so much fun at all of our meets."

Track not only builds strong bodies, it also builds strong friendships. Many people on the team became very good friends this season. When asked about the freindships that he made, Erik replied, "I had a lot of fun with everyone on the team, we all got along really well. We always seemed to work together, not as individuals."

Adam Caruso '00 exclaimed, "being on the track team gave me a chance to be friends with people who I would never talked to otherwise."

The team closed out it's season with a great performance at the league meet. Kimball lost only to Lahser during the regular season, but pulled through during the league meet at the end of the season and earned The right to be called League Champs.

Although many key seniors are leaving 1999 captains Adam Brewster '99, Jeff Kampsen '99, and Steve Smith '99 are looking forward to a challenging and successful '99 season.

Activities, Activities, Activities The Things That Keep us Busy

"I joined the clubs at Kimball so I could collect their shirts," joked Sarah Kabacinski. Shirts aside, Kimball clubs are fun to be in and a great learning experience. Most people join clubs to, "be more involved and meet new people,"

Heather Aboud concluded.

Each club is lead by a few dedicated students. "I think that the more the officers get involved in each activity, the more it influences underclassmen to get involved," commented Trisha Fantucci.

Making memories was the best part of being involved in activities. "My favorite part of International Club was when we went to eat at Mongolian BBQ and ended up at Woody's," laughed Bre'Anne Mallon. "The best part of SEA is the camping trip," said Traci Guilmet. Fantucci reminisced about her favorite memory, "Last year at Varsity Club camp we got into groups and made up a cheer. I won't go into detail about the cheers, but it's something that I will never forget. All I have to say is Tony Pugh and Jimmy Gleason have creative minds."

The Highlight of Spirit Week

Powder Puff set spirit week off with a bang this year, placing the juniors against the seniors in a Monday night football game.

As game time drew closer fans started to arrive, especially a certain group of senior guys who painted their chests with "Senior's Rule!" The juniors kicked off, placing the ball in the awaiting seniors' hands. The seniors scored on their opening drive, and dominated the game, scoring 34 unanswered points before the juniors got on the board.

"Powder Puff was really fun, and one of the best games I had been to all year," commented senior Tony Pugh. The girls on the field had lots of fun, too. "It was great to hear the guys cheering for the girls," stated senior Audra Quinn.

No matter where you were, in the stands or on the field, the game was the highlight of spirit week. With the final score of Seniors 32, Juniors 8.

We've Got Spirit, Yes We Do!!

Spirit Week was the event where everyone got to dress up and show their unique and crazy school spirit. People who entered the doors of Kimball High School during Spirit Week could have been easily confused when they saw students dressed up in their pajamas, or grass skirts with leis around their necks.

This year's participants Kris Ritchie and Janice Quigg, as Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, won the "Cutest Costume."

pation was outstanding. Erin Smith stated that Spirit Week was the event that she often looked forward to, "Wearing my pajamas was the best. I think that every day should be Get Up and Go Day." Mike Allen, however had the most fun dressing up on Hawaiian day. "I had a blast wearing a skirt. I just wish that this wasn't my last year to show off my legs."

This year Kimball’s award winning Drama Club presented How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying. The show is set in the 50’s and tells the story of Finch, who rises from being a window washer to getting a job at the top of the business world. While trying to achieve his goal,

Kimball's Debate Team is Truly, "Something to Talk About"

What exactly is debate? Debate here at Kimball is not only a class, but a great opportunity to travel around the state and voice your opinions on controversial issues. This year's topic, "Whether we Should Change our Foreign Policy with Russia," was sure to draw some hot disputes.

James Talbot brainstorms the ideas for his upcoming debate.

However, despite all their bickering, this year's Debate Team managed to stay friends.

Walkin' in a Winter Wonderland

"Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow." The blizzard of '99 made the dreams of many Kimball skiers come true. The beginning of this ski season has changed dramatically over the past few years. This year the ski club traveled to Austria. The few that went commented that it was definitely worth the cost.

Change is not always necessarily a bad thing. This was proven by the 1998-99 Dance Company through the show, "Urban Knights." With a new advisor also came a new name, new dance styles, and a whole new show. The former Dance Club, now known as "Dance Company," was a little leery at first, but soon welcomed the changes and additions with open arms. As always, the show consisted of multiple hip hop/funk routines, but this year there were many lyrical and jazz numbers as well.

Every week a group of talented high school students give an hour of their time to tutor young people. It is not something they must do, but choose to. This unique group of people are the Tutoring Knights.

"I've been a member of Tutoring Knights since my freshman year," com-

The Times Are A Changin'!

This year one of Kimball's most well respected teachers, Mr. Schultheiss retired. Over the past 32 years Mr. Schultheiss has taught a variety of classes, ranging from Algebra, Biology, Physics, and Honors Math.

"I think of Mr. Schultheiss not only as a great teacher, but an inspiration to everyone," stated senior Joe Phillips.

When asked what the future holds for himself, Mr. Schultheiss commented; "I plan to play a lot of golf and travel with my wife, Judy who retired from Dondero last year."

Without the presence of this great man many of Kimball's students would not be what they are today. His teaching style, attitude and sense of humor have reached numerous kids, academically and out in the real world.

Also making an impact this year were new and returning teachers Ms. Boyer, Mr. Dinkelmann, Ms.

When I was Little I Wanted to be a . . . . . Seniors Tell All!

When we were young we all had an ideal career that we dreamed of pursuing. Some, like Tom Villerot, dreamed of being a professional basketball player, while others, such as Jake Dugas, had high hopes of being a police officer. Let's face it, no kin-dergartner ever dreamed of becoming a chemical engineer.

Now that we're seniors and all "grown up," our future careers are right around the corner. However, that does not mean our childhood dreams have been forgotten.

Varsity football captain Joe Doman admits, "I wanted to be a priest." He recalled pouring Cherry 7-Up into wine glasses with his longtime friend, Matt Cain, and pretending it was the wine in church. "I wanted to be a gas station attendant when I was little," replied Justin Weeks. Yousif Bitti added, "I wanted to be an astronaut."

Matt Willis, on the other hand, said, "I always imagined myself as a professional soccer player." Brad Ellison related, "I wanted to be an actor." Well I guess some people never change.

"It was a toss-up for me," said Andrea Lupi. "I either wanted to be a nun or a princess."

It was the dream in life for friends Katie Shea and Audra Quinn to be waitresses.

Senior Officers Strive to Make Last Year Unforgettable

For many, their senior year in high school is the most memorable. With Mike Brennan as President, Lennon Jones as Vice- President, Mike Malley as Secretary, and Courtney Zielinski as Treasurer, the class of '99's last year at Kimball was unforgettable.

Seniors were involved in numerous class-oriented activities. From Morley candy sales to prom, the senior officers made everything possible. "I believe that the officers of the class of '99 really out did themselves. My senior year was spectacular," commented Laura Snell.

"As a whole, our senior year was a great success. We raised a large amount of money for various charities and at the same time organized great activities for the seniors," said president Mike Brennan.

"We had many responsibilities as officers. To be honest, a lot more than I ever imagined. I loved every moment of it. Seeing the seniors have so much fun at activities like powder puff, homecoming, and senior dress up day was worth all of the months of planning and organizing," said Treasurer Courtney Zielinski.

The advisors for the officers of '99 were Ms. Doster and Ms. Browne. They provided direction and help to the officers. "The senior year is an exciting time for students and we enjoyed helping the officers make it a memorable year," recalled Ms. Doster and Ms. Browne.

"Being senior class vice president made my senior year unforgettable. I worked hard with my fellow officers to make the class of 99's senior year overflowing with pleasant memories," said Lennon Jones.

"I enjoyed making decisions for the senior class. We worked very well together and made friendships that undoubtedly will last a lifetime," expressed secretary Mike Malley.

The senior officers of the class of '99 hoped you had as much fun during your senior year as they had planning it.

"No task ahead of us, is as great as the power behind us," said treasurer Courtney Zielinski.

Two police officers were killed and a tourist was seriously injured in July when a gunman burst into the U.S. Capitol and opened fire. Russell Eugene Weston Jr., 41, began his shooting spree in mid-afternoon when the Capitol was filled with tourists and with the House still in session. Capitol Police Officer Jacob Chestnut, 58, was shot and killed at point-blank range as Weston barged through a metal detector. Fellow officer John Gibson, 42, was killed while exchanging fire with Weston. A memorial service was held in the Capitol Rotunda to honor both officers for their courageous acts. Weston, a paranoid schizophrenic with a long-standing fear of the federal government, was shot several times in the incident, but survived. He faces the federal death penalty for his crime.

The Chicago Bulls claimed their third consecutive championship by beating the Utah Jazz in the NBA Finals in June. It was Chicago's sixth league title in the 1990s and the team's second three-peat in eight years. Major off-season changes, most notably the retirements of head coach Phil Jackson and the legendary Michael Jordan, brought an inevitable end to one of professional basketball's true dynasties.

The United Autoworkers Union for General Motors Corp. went on strike in June, idling thousands of workers and crippling production in the company's North American operation. The strike, which lasted seven weeks, involved one of GM's specialized parts factories and ultimately resulted in five assembly plants being closed until a deal was struck.

The sleeper hit "There's Something About Mary" got a slow start, but eventually shot to the top to become one of the summer's most popular movies. Starring Cameron Diaz, Ben Stiller and Matt Dillon, the gross-out comedy earned an impressive $150 million in the eight weeks following its release in July.

With its futuristic design and translucent exterior, Apple's new iMac made a big splash in the computer industry when it was released in August. Both eye-catching and affordable, the iMac was an instant hit with more than 278,000 units sold during its first six weeks on the market. By year's end, the colorful new-age Macintosh had saturated the first-time buyers' market and converted a substantial number of PC users to become the fastest-selling computer in history.

"The X-Files" movie, based on the hit TV series, opened in June and became No. 1 at the box office in its first week of release. The year's highest-profile Hollywood union came in July when Barbra Streisand and James Brolin were married. After a two-year courtship and several reported proposals, the seasoned character actor finally closed the deal with his multi-talented sweetheart. Streisand's son, Jason, gave the bride away and Brolin's son, Josh, was the best man during the ceremony, which featured a 16-piece orchestra conducted by Marvin Hamlisch. The Rolling Stones performed their first-ever Russian concert in August at Moscow's Luzhniki Stadium. The legendary rock group first applied for permission to play in the Soviet Union in 1967, but was denied due to irreconcilable differences. The Moscow concert, which lasted nearly three hours, was part of the Stones' highly successful "No Security" tour.

The Detroit Red Wings rode an emotional wave to their second consecutive NHL championship, defeating the Washington Capitals in five games. The Red Wings dedicated their 1998 Stanley Cup to teammate Vladimir Konstantinov, who was injured in a near-fatal car crash days after their 1997 win. # Sex, Lies & the Presidency

After being impeached by the House of Representatives and tried in the Senate, President Clinton was acquitted on all charges for his conduct in the Monica Lewinsky sex scandal. Following the historic Senate votes, Clinton apologized to the American people for what the scandal had done to the country. The embattled president then began the tough task of putting the scandal behind him and fulfilling his political agenda in the last two years of his presidency.

Although fearful she might never be able to fully recover, Monica Lewinsky tried to begin her life anew in the aftermath of the presidential sex scandal. The former White House intern looked for closure by speaking publicly for the first time about her affair with the president in an interview with Barbara Walters on ABC. She also spent time promoting her book titled, "Monica's Story," written with Princess Diana biographer Andrew Morton.

People all over the world witnessed history in the making as senators cast their votes, resulting in President Clinton's acquittal. Split almost entirely down party lines, both articles of impeachment failed. The first article, accusing the president of perjury, failed by a 55-45 vote, with 55 "Not Guilty" votes. The vote on the second article failed by a 50-50 vote.

Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr, who spearheaded the investigation of the president from Whitewater to Monica, has since been compelled to ask the Justice Department to look into unauthorized leaks of confidential material from his office. Other questions regarding the integrity of Starr's four-year, $40 million probe have also surfaced. Meanwhile, Starr remained unyielding, and contemplated the possibility of seeking an indictment against the president.

With a quiet dignity, First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton endured the humiliation of her husband's indiscretions and through it all held her ground. Despite her personal and political ordeals, there was speculation the first lady might enter the New York senate race in 2000.

members of Pennsylvania's Amish community were thrust into the confusing world of the U.S. criminal justice system in June when they were indicted on drug-trafficking charges in federal court. In what investigators described as the first-ever drug case to involve the Amish, 24-year-old Abner Stoltzfus and Abner King Stoltzfus, 23, were arraigned on charges of obtaining methamphetamine and cocaine from a motorcycle gang called the Pagans, and selling it to Former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson won a 15-month battle to re-enter the boxing ring when the Nevada State Athletic Commission restored his license in October. His license was suspended in 1997 after he bit Evander Holyfield's ear during their world title fight. Tyson, on parole from an earlier rape conviction, made a triumphant return to the boxing ring against Francois Botha in January. A month later, he was arrested for assault and sent back to jail.

In an emotional reprise of his historic journey into space 36 years before, Glenn returned to the heavens as a test subject for NASA's research on aging. Newt Gingrich shocked the country in November when he resigned as House Speaker and announced he was leaving Congress. Considered the mastermind behind the Republicans' dramatic return to congressional power after 40 years in the minority, Gingrich was ultimately blamed for the GOP's disappointing showing in the 1998 mid-term elections. This ironic twist of fate was the culmination of more than a year of declining popularity, which saw him barely win a second term as speaker and survive an attempted coup by members of his own party and leadership.

Swissair Flight 111 from New York to Geneva crashed into the North Atlantic off the Nova Scotian coast in September, killing all 229 people on board. Search crews recovered hundreds of thousands of pieces of the airliner from the ocean floor in the months following the tragic crash. Information collected from the flight data recorder indicated that a little more than an hour after leaving Kennedy International Airport, the pilot reported a fire in the cockpit. Sixteen minutes later, the aircraft plunged into the ocean. Although the official cause of the crash was uncertain, faulty wiring in the in-flight video system was suspected.

The New York Yankees won their second championship in three years with a World Series sweep of the San Diego Padres in October. With the win, New York recorded its 24th championship, a league record, and its seventh World Series sweep. The Yankees' heroics in the fall classic capped an incredible season in which they posted a major league record 125 wins.

The U.S. Treasury Department began issuing newly redesigned $20 bills in September, completing the third phase of its anti-counterfeiting program. The new $20 bills feature a larger, slightly off-center portrait of President Jackson, color-shifting ink for the numeral in the lower right-hand corner on the front, and a front view of the White House instead of the back view used on the older notes. A redesigned $100 bill entered circulation in 1996 followed a year later by a redesigned $50 bill. Similar redesigns of the $10 and $5 bills are also planned and will be released simultaneously. The new currency will circulate along with older bills until they wear out and are pulled from circulation.

One of two high-profile hate crimes during the year involved 21-year-old Matthew Shepard, an openly gay student at the University of Wyoming. In October, Shepard was brutally beaten, roped to a fence and left to die in freezing weather. Whether you were a fan of baseball or not, it was hard not to get caught up in Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa's exhilarating home run race.

Mark McGwire of the St. Louis Cardinals brought America's field of dreams to life again, slamming 70 home runs on the season to eclipse Roger Maris' 37-year-old major league record of 61. Big Mac's assault on the record began on opening day with a grand slam. His 70th homer came some 120 games later in the Cardinals' final outting of the season. Through it all, McGwire's admirable sportsmanship was considered as impressive as his awesome heroics.

Nicknamed "Joltin' Joe" and "The Yankee Clipper," the Hall of Fame center fielder's 56-game hitting streak in 1941 remains as one of the most revered records in all of sports. A brief marriage to Marilyn Monroe in the 1950s also contributed to DiMaggio's legend.

Roy Rogers, the singing "King of Cowboys" in movies and on television, died in July of heart failure. Co-starring alongside his wife and partner, Dale Evans, and with his faithful horse, Trigger, Rogers became an American icon with his straight-shooting exploits in Hollywood westerns.

Jeffrey Ford/AP

Olympic gold medalist and world-class sprinter Florence Griffith Joyner, 38, died in September of a brain seizure. Joyner, who won three gold medals in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea, holds world records for the 100- and 200-meter sprints with times of 10.49 and 21.34. Her superhuman speed was overshadowed at times by suspicions of steroid use.

Eric Risberg/AP

Lois Bernstein/AP

Emmy award-winning puppeteer Shari Lewis, 65, died of uterine cancer in August. Lewis earned 12 Emmys for her PBS television specials, featuring the spirited, squeaky-voiced sock puppet, Lamb Chop, and furry sidekicks, Charlie Horse and Hush Puppy.

Elise Amendola/AP

Film critic Gene Siskel, 53, who along with Roger Ebert set the "thumbs-up, thumbs-down" standard in the movie industry, died in February after having surgery to remove a brain tumor. Besides his popular collaboration with Ebert, Siskel wrote movie reviews for the Chicago Tribune and also did reviews for "CBS This Morning" and WBBM-TV in Chicago.

Supporting our School Year-round

Every day Kimball students visit businesses such as Tanya's Party Store, Shell Gas Station, and 7-11. "I love going to Tanya's at 10 p.m. and having a delicious piece of stuffed crust pizza waiting for me," commented Junior Katie Tourangeau. Junior Bill Coon also loves Tanya's because "Amos and all the guys that work there are so nice and friendly." These two Juniors, as well as many other Kimball students, don't realize, though, that many businesses' community support extends beyond their delicious food and superb hospitality.

Each year members of the Lancer staff ask local businesses to purchase advertisements for our school yearbook. The Royal Oak Board of Education also lends a helping hand to Kimball and the Lancer staff. This financial support allows our yearbook to be created annually. Each business owner, as well as Kimball students and parents, took time out of their busy schedules to listen to the Lancer staff and help in any way they could. The entire student body at Kimball owes these businesses, parents and students their thanks and gratitude because without their help the yearbook would not have been possible.

Laura Harrison, owner of the Ladybug, purchased an ad this year.

Sam from Tanya's always greets customers with a wide smile.

Kimball students are always welcomed by employees at Alcove.

To All the Ladies:

Just a year left until we all go our separate ways. The memories that we have made together are wonderful and I will never forget any of you! Thank you for all the good times ~~ I know there will be many more to come! Good luck next year and forever!!

Love Always, Nichole

Congratulations Danielle on being a graduating senior! We love you! We are so proud of you! "May God be with you wherever life takes you." -Jer. 29:11-13

All our love forever,
Mom and Dad

To all the "D's." Even though not all of us are pictured we all know who we are. These past four years have been unreal. We've grown together and we've grown apart, we've aided in each others growth and helped out our boys when times were down. Let's remember these years and never forget the bond that we all share. Good luck in the future fellas.

Emily- In seventeen short years we have been through so much together. Although we'll miss each other next year, know that our bond can never be broken. You are my soulmate and my best friend. I love you.

Audrey

Best luck 2nd daughter, Jocelyn, to the future. Leader of tomorrow!!!!
Love, Sue

A friend is one who knows all about you and loves you just the same.

Royal Oak Girl Scout Troop #1124.

Congratulations Class of 1999!

Rikki, Nicole, Audrey, Laura, Sarah, and Heather... this is as good as it gets!

Boot, Nickel, Haras, and the Big "L".... aren't we a bunch of heavenly creatures!

Iceman- Hey Bud, you will always be #1 with us. You're the best. We love you so much. "You can do all things thru Christ who strengthens you."

All our love,

Mom and Dad

The end has finally come, but it is not the end for we'll never forget the times we have shared together. Good Luck.

Cassandra

Jackie, I know we have our differences, but the ways we are the same far outreach those differences. You are the best friend I have ever had and I love you so much. You have always been there for me, as I have for you. We've been friends for a long time and we will be friends forever! I love you! Janice

*Good luck in life
Tom! We know you'll go far.
Love, Mom and Dad*

Buckwheat (AKA Nicole),
Congratulations! We know
you'll do great in the future.
We love you. After graduation, remember what we said-- See
ya in Hadley!!!!
Love, Mom and Dad

*Laura,
We have watched
you grow up to be such a great young lady. You will always be our Gerber Baby!*

*Love,
Mom and Dad*

Bree, you'll always be our princess! We love you, Dad, Mom, and Jordan.

Dearest Nic,
Hope the future is
as bright as the past has been. It's been so much fun
for us sharing your life with you.

Our love always,
Grandma and
Grandpa Wessel

Audrey,

Student, teacher, singer, dancer,
actor, traveler, friend, idealist,
gentle spirit ---

It has been my privilege to watch you grow into the beautiful young woman you are.

Continue to reach for the stars!

I love you,
Mom

How rare and wonderful is that flash of a moment when we realize we have discovered a friend.

Jocelyn,
You've always
made us proud.
Good luck, we support you all the way.

Love your mother,
sister and brother

At the core of the human experience is friendship.
It is the essence of what it is to be alive--of happiness and sadness, the excitement and relaxation, of music and of silence. Friends show us who we are and who we can be, where we've been, and where we're going.

Good-bye, Courtney and Katie

Time To Move On

The end is here but a new beginning is near. As we close another chapter in our life and prepare to start a new one, we take with us the things that we have learned and the people that we have met in these halls of Kimball High School. We have come closer as a student body through the events that have taken place. The football games, the plays and the dances all carry memories that will stick with us wherever our lives take us. We came, we saw, and we conquered yet another year of highs and lows and we venture into the future with the same vigor and determination that we have gained throughout these four years of high school.
